To the Honorable Governor Spencer J. Cox and members of the Utah State Legislature:

The Utah State Tax Commission is pleased to submit this annual report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2025.

During FY 2025, the Tax Commission collected and distributed approximately $17 billion in revenue from all sources, a year-over-year increase of approximately $900 million.

Despite recent tax rate reductions, corporate and individual income tax revenues grew by 7.4 percent and 6.3 percent, respectively. These income tax collections accounted for approximately half of the total year-over-year revenue growth. Concurrently, state sales tax revenue grew at a more modest pace of 3 percent.

Rapid population growth, business expansion, and accelerating tax complexity have placed an increasing strain on the Commission's infrastructure. Over the past decade, the annual number of tax filings and registered motor vehicles has increased by more than one million each. This represents a 45 percent increase in total workload. To date, the Tax Commission has successfully managed this growth without expanding its workforce by strategically leveraging advanced technologies and developing more streamlined processes.

A primary driver of these efficiencies is the transition to electronic filing. Currently, 100 percent of all sales tax returns and 95 percent of income tax returns are filed electronically. This digital shift is essential to our operations, as it allows for processing with minimal human intervention. Similarly, the Motor Vehicle Division (DMV) has maintained efficiency by diverting in-office visits toward online and third-party registration options. However, notwithstanding technological advancement and automation, increasing collection and administrative responsibilities are straining our ability to meet the growing demand for services.

Our mission—to promote tax and motor vehicle law compliance—is central to our strategic goals. These include simplifying compliance through innovation, enhancing the customer experience, and fostering a high-quality work environment with sound agency leadership. We appreciate the opportunity to serve the Governor, the Legislature, and the citizens of Utah in achieving these objectives.

Sincerely,

John L. Valentine

COMMISSION OFFICE

The Utah State Tax Commission, created in 1931, consists of four members, not more than two of whom may belong to the same political party. The governor, with consent of the Senate, appoints members to four-year terms. Utah law requires commissioners to represent composite skills in accounting, law, auditing, property assessment, management and finance. The commissioners, in consultation with the governor and with consent of the Senate, appoint an executive director to oversee the agency's day-to-day operations.

Tax commissioners conduct quasi-judicial hearings on state tax matters. Taxpayers who disagree with tax decisions of Tax Commission employees and/or county boards of equalization may appeal to the Tax Commission. The Tax Commission has final review authority of the appeals process, but taxpayers may appeal a decision to a district court or the Utah State Supreme Court.

The Tax Commission has numerous legal powers and duties to carry out its broad mandate outlined in the state constitution. These include the authority to:

- Require information from state and local officials;
- Subpoena witnesses to testify and produce records and documents;
- Supervise and direct the work of local tax officials;
- Direct proceedings, actions and prosecutions to enforce state tax laws;
- Prescribe forms relating to the assessment and collection of state and local taxes; and
- Extend or reconvene sessions of county boards of equalization.

Utah State Tax Commissioners

Appeals

The commissioners primarily hear appeals on 37 different tax types. With the assistance of administrative law judges and the appeals support staff, the commissioners hold hearings and issue orders or final rulings. To provide general guidance for taxpayers, the commissioners redact confidential information from orders involving statutory interpretation, substantive case law and new or complex issues, and then post them on the Tax Commission website.

In FY 2024-2025, the Tax Commission received 1,972 appeals, down from 2,205 appeals in FY 2023-2024. The chart below shows a breakdown of the case types for FY 2024-2025.

Other Functions

Beyond hearing tax appeals, the commissioners issue private letter rulings and adopt administrative rules, which help clarify tax law.

The commissioners also serve on the Governor's Cabinet and chair the Farmland Assessment Advisory Committee. Their duties further include coordination with local governments and participation in national organizations.

By statute, the commissioners also manage other functions:

- The Economic and Statistical Unit provides tax-related data and analysis and produces economic reports.
- The Internal Audit Unit reviews agency functions.

KEY PERFORMANCE MEASURES

In fiscal year 2025 the Tax Commission collected and distributed $17.03 billion in state and local revenues, which was an increase of 5.4 percent. The agency's primary responsibilities include:

- Assist taxpayers with compliance and resolve account issues.
- Review tax returns and other information for accuracy and compliance.
- Process revenue and tax returns and update taxpayer information.
- Collect delinquent taxes.
- Register and issue titles for Utah motor vehicles and motor carriers.
- Regulate the automobile sales industry and enforce motor vehicle laws, including vehicle fraud and stolen vehicles.

The Tax Commission employs 729.5 full-time-equivalent employees to carry out these responsibilities.

Timely Service

A. Revenue Deposits

Importance: The timely collection and deposit of revenues in state accounts is critical for state investment purposes and to provide funds for government services.

Action: State guidelines require all deposits of funds within 72 hours of receipt. Our goal is to deposit funds within 24 hours of receipt and within 72 hours during peak return periods. In fiscal year 2025 this goal was met 100 percent of the time.

B. Income Tax Refunds

Importance: The public expects and relies on timely income tax refunds. Digital technology, including electronic filing, has helped reduce the time taxpayers must wait to receive state income tax refunds.

Action: Timeliness of refunds generally depends on how early a taxpayer files a return. We strive to process income tax refund returns within 15 days of receipt, which occurs 99 percent of the time. Processing may be delayed if a return includes errors or some other feature that requires review.

C. Telephone Assistance

Importance: In order to help people with their tax and motor vehicle transactions, we provide timely, quality responses to all telephone inquiries.

Action: Tax Commission staff assists people who contact us by telephone. Employees in the Customer Service Functional Area maintain front-line contact with the public on both tax and motor vehicle issues, while tax specialists in the Tax and Revenue Functional Area provide telephone assistance to customers with complex tax questions. The charts below show volume trends for both tax and motor vehicle calls.

D. DMV Wait Times

Importance: People needing Motor Vehicle Division (DMV) services deserve efficient assistance in a friendly manner. Long wait times are always a main concern and a target for improvement.

Action: The DMV continues to keep wait times low by promoting online services while at the same time monitoring peak periods and scheduling staff to meet customer demands.

Electronic Filing and Payment Options

A. Income Tax Returns

Importance: The Tax Commission continues to use technological advances and alternative income tax return filing methods to keep pace with a growing population and economy. More than one million income tax returns are filed annually and the Tax Commission continues to encourage electronic filing. Utah taxpayers have these three electronic options:

- Commercial software packages
- Modernized Electronic Filing (MEF) with the IRS
- Taxpayer Access Point (TAP), the Tax Commission's free online option

Action: We continue to promote the use of electronic filing options and expect the growing popularity of these options to endure. This helps offset the increase in the number of taxpayers filing returns due to Utah's population growth and other factors.

Income Tax Returns Electronic Filing CY2024

B. Motor Vehicle Transactions

Importance: The DMV titles and registers all Utah motor vehicles, off-highway vehicles and watercraft. Services are provided in DMV offices, online (i.e., REX renewals, Motor Vehicle Portal/MVP, Utah Person-to-Person/UPP, virtual appointments, etc.), by contracted third parties, and by mail.

Action: We encourage vehicle renewals online, at authorized "On the Spot" service stations, or by mail. Drivers who sign up for the automatic renewal option are given the information they need to complete required inspections and then have their registrations completed automatically. These services have allowed the DMV to keep up with Utah's growing population. The following charts show growth in different types of renewals and the increase in the total number of renewals.

DMV Renewal Transactions

DMV Renewal Trends

C. Quality Systems and Business Processes

Importance: Utah's tax and motor vehicle processes rely heavily on automated computer systems. They are used to accurately record and store information about millions of tax and motor vehicle transactions each year. On a daily basis these systems record large volumes of transactions and distribute multiple types of revenue and fees to hundreds of different state and local funds.

Action: The Tax Commission maintains effective, reliable and secure systems through regular review, maintenance and upgrades. System changes are driven by legislation, recommendations from staff, and input from external customers. The Tax Commission manages system changes through service requests, which identify all affected components, responsible parties and necessary deadlines. Software upgrades are implemented at least annually. Before going live with a change or upgrade, staff thoroughly tests any process that will be used by any of our external customers.

FUNCTIONAL AREAS

The Tax Commission is organized into four functional areas that sit atop 11 finely-tuned divisions. This organization focuses our efforts on voluntary compliance with tax and motor vehicle laws.

Tax Commission Organization

Office of the Executive Director

The Office of the Executive Director contains the Administration Operational Area. Its primary functions are:

- Reviews legislation and drafts rules.
- Oversees implementation of tax laws.
- Provides daily oversight and support for all functional areas.
- Develops and manages the agency's budgeting and accounting functions.
- Coordinates with the Dept. of Government Operations and other state agencies.
- Creates and manages all publications, forms and instructions.
- Manages the Tax Commission websites.
- Manages agency reports.
- Coordinates media relations.

Customer Service

The Customer Service functional area provides customer support through three divisions, across multiple areas, including delinquent taxes and the Motor Vehicle Division (DMV).

DMV Customer Service Division

- Provides services for all motor vehicle transactions.
- Titles and registers Utah vehicles.

FY25 by the Numbers

|---|---|
| Collected taxes and fees | $724,836,770 |
| Transactions | 6,876,943 |
| Registrations | 3,860,542 |

Special Services Division

- Provides support services for collection activities.
- Handles all inbound communication on collection issues (including bankruptcy, garnishments, tax clearance, special events, waivers, and offers-in-compromise).

Collections Division

- Collects delinquent accounts where a lien has been issued and possible legal action may occur.
- Works with customers to pay delinquent balances in a timely manner.

Property & Miscellaneous Taxes

The Property & Miscellaneous Tax functional area performs its duties through three divisions.

Centrally Assessed Division

- Performs the direct appraisal and assessment of mining, oil and gas, and utility properties, as well as certain multistate and multicounty energy and transportation properties. Centrally assessed property includes the property of electric and gas utilities, railroads, airlines, pipelines, oil and gas production, and various mines such as metal, non-metal, coal, sand and gravel, and uranium.

Miscellaneous Taxes Division

- Educates, assists and audits taxpayers who file miscellaneous taxes (including beer and liquor, brine shrimp harvesting, fuel, motor fuel, special fuel, aviation fuel, insurance premiums, self-insurers, radioactive waste and the environmental assurance fee).
- Administers the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA).
- Performs federal and state audits of mining and oil and gas severance tax and mineral production tax withholding.

Property Tax Division

- Provides oversight of county property assessments and tax systems.
- Performs assessment/sales ratio studies.
- Conducts performance reviews of county appraisal systems.
- Provides technical assistance and guidance for local assessment and tax collection, as well as farmland assessment evaluation and classification.
- Provides property tax administration and appraisal education for all state and county appraisers, as well as all county offices involved in property tax.
- Oversees the certified tax rate process.
- Provides statutory auditing services for Utah counties to audit local business personal property accounts and recommends annual updates to Personal Property Valuation Guides and Schedules.

Tax and Revenue

The responsibilities of the Tax and Revenue functional area are distributed among three divisions.

Business Taxes and Discovery Division

- Conducts taxpayer training and outreach programs.
- Reviews and examines corporate franchise/income and sales tax returns.

Financial Operations Division

- Receives, extracts and examines all incoming returns, documents and correspondence.
- Deposits all tax and fee payments.
- Captures return documents into the tax systems; corrects errors.
- Reviews and approves account applications; maintains account demographics.
- Records and classifies revenue and reconciles it to the general ledger.
- Accounts for and distributes assets held by the state for various local government entities.
- Compares current cash flows and actual results to previous years.

FY25 by the Numbers

|---|---|
| Electronic returns | 3,214,735 |
| Paper returns | 162,260 |
| DMV images | 5,970,656 |

Income and Education Division

- Assists taxpayers with tax obligations and tax questions.
- Assists CPAs and tax preparers with complex tax questions.
- Offers tax-filing webinars, FAQs and a chatbot.
- Reviews and examines individual income, partnership and withholding returns.

Enforcement

The Enforcement Functional Area provides title and dealer enforcement and customer service through two divisions. They also enforce tax law and tobacco law.

Motor Vehicle Enforcement Division (MVED)

- Promotes compliance with laws related to motor vehicle compliance, fraud and theft.
- Licenses and regulates new and used motor vehicle dealers, including salesperson licenses.
- Investigates motor vehicle related crimes, such as odometer fraud and title fraud and any motor vehicle-related fraud.

|---|---|
| Complaints and cases | 8,218 |
| Stolen vehicles recovered | 121 |
| Value of recovered vehicles | $1,245,908 |

DMV Title & Dealer Services

- Provides motor vehicle transaction customer service.
- Helps motor vehicle dealers title and register vehicles.
- Processes DMV transactions.
- Helps tow yards and law enforcement agencies return impounded vehicles to their rightful owners.
- Reviews out-of-state vehicle titles for validity, salvage concerns, and other fraudulent title trends.

Two other functions of the Enforcement functional area are the Criminal Investigative Unit (CIU) and Tobacco Tax Unit. CIU is a special functions law enforcement section that investigates delinquent tax fraud cases. The Tobacco Tax Unit enforces Utah's tobacco laws.

REVENUE

As shown below, total revenues collected by the Tax Commission increased 5.4 percent, from $16.15 billion in FY 2024 to $17.03 billion in FY 2025.

INCOME TAX

Individual Income Tax

The Legislature reduced the state individual income tax rate from 4.55 percent to 4.5 percent for tax years starting Jan. 1, 2025. Most taxpayers are able to claim one or more tax credits, including a taxpayer tax credit, retirement or Social Security benefits tax credit, a state earned income tax credit, and a child tax credit. Revenues from this tax are deposited into the Income Tax Fund.

An employer must withhold state income tax from employee earnings (unless the employee has filed a withholding exemption certificate) if the employer:

1. pays wages to any employee for work done in Utah, or
2. pays wages to Utah resident employees for work done outside Utah.

With Tax Commission approval, an employer that does business in Utah for 60 days or less in a calendar year may be exempt from Utah withholding requirements.

| 2022 | $6,771,925,739 |

Mineral Production Withholding

A mineral producer must withhold state income tax on any gross production payments to working interests, royalty interest or overriding royalty owners for mineral production or extraction in Utah. Income recipients may claim a credit on their Utah income tax returns for the amount a producer withholds.

Corporate Franchise & Income Tax

The Legislature reduced the state corporate franchise and income tax rate from 4.55 percent to 4.5 percent for tax years starting Jan. 1, 2025. The minimum tax is $100 per corporation. Revenues from this tax are deposited into the Income Tax Fund.

Utah Code, Title 59, Chapter 7

The gross receipts tax is imposed on the gross receipts of certain electrical and other corporations that are not required to pay corporate franchise, income, or another in-lieu-of-income tax unless they are exempt under §59-7-102(2).

Utah Code, Title 59, Chapter 8

The radioactive waste tax is assessed on facilities that store, process or recycle radioactive waste in Utah. The tax is a percentage of gross receipts, ranging from 0.5 to 12 percent depending on the specific type of waste received.

State Sales and Use Tax

Utah imposes a sales and use tax at 4.85 percent. Residential fuel and grocery food are taxed at 2.0 percent and 1.75 percent, respectively. Revenues from this tax that are not earmarked to other funds or purposes are deposited into the General Fund.

Utah Code Ann. §59-12-103

State Sales and Use Tax Revenues (fiscal year)

Local Sales and Use Tax

All Utah counties, cities and towns have adopted ordinances to impose a 1 percent local option sales and use tax. This tax applies to the same transactions as the state sales and use tax. Aside from a few small earmarks, revenue from this tax is returned to participating local governments using a divided distribution: 50 percent of local sales tax revenue is distributed to local governments on a prorated population basis, while the remaining 50 percent is distributed based on point-of-sale. Relatively small earmarks from this tax go to the Qualified Emergency Food Agencies Fund and the Homeless Shelter Cities Mitigation Restricted Account.

County Option Sales Tax

All counties in Utah have adopted ordinances to impose a 0.25 percent county option sales and use tax. This tax applies to the same transactions as the state sales and use tax. Revenue from this tax is returned to participating counties based on a 50 percent prorated population, 50 percent point-of-sale distribution formula. A relatively small earmark from this tax goes to the Qualified Emergency Food Agencies Fund.

Resort Communities Sales Tax

A municipality whose transient room capacity is at least 66 percent of its permanent census population may impose the resort communities sales tax up to 1.1 percent. A municipality may impose an additional 0.5 percent tax if it imposed a license fee or tax on businesses based on gross receipts on or before Jan. 1, 1996. This tax applies to the same transactions as the sales and use tax, except for food and food ingredients. Sales of motor vehicles, aircraft, watercraft, modular homes, manufactured homes and mobile homes are also exempt from this tax.

Tourism-Related Sales Taxes (TRCC)

The tourism, recreation, cultural and convention facilities tax allows counties to impose any or all of the following taxes:

- A tax of up to 7 percent on all short-term motor vehicle rentals, except for short-term rentals made for the purpose of temporarily replacing a motor vehicle that is being repaired.
- A tax of up to 7 percent on short-term rentals of off-high-way vehicles and recreational vehicles.
- A tax of up to 1 percent on all restaurant sales of alcoholic beverages, food and food ingredients, or prepared food.

A county of the first class may also impose a tax of up to 0.5 percent on charges for accommodations and services of tourist homes, hotels, motels and trailer courts that are regularly rented for less than 30 consecutive days.

Local Option Sales & Use Taxes for Transportation

A county, city or town may impose a combination of local option sales taxes to fund transportation, up to a maximum of 1.25 percent. These taxes are imposed on the transaction price of goods and services subject to the state sales and use tax, except for food and food ingredients. A combination of the following local option taxes may be imposed:

- A county, city or town may impose a public transit tax (§59-12-2213), up to 0.3 percent; or a city or town may impose a municipal highways tax (§59-12-2215), up to 0.3 percent.
- A county, city or town may impose an additional public transit tax (§59-12-2214), at 0.25 percent; or a county may impose a fixed guideway tax (§59-12-2216), up to 0.3 percent.
- A county may impose a transportation tax (§59-12-2217), up to 0.25 percent; or a county, city, or town may impose an airports, highways and public transit systems tax (§59-12-2218), at 0.25 percent.
- A county may impose a highways and public transit tax (§59-12-2219), at 0.25 percent.
- A county may impose a public transit tax (§59-12-2220), at 0.2 percent.

Revenues generated from these taxes are returned to participating localities and/or the local transit authority (if applicable).

Sales Tax Exemptions

Utah law exempts certain purchases from sales and use tax. See Appendix II on page 47 for a list of estimated sales tax revenue impacts by exemption.

PROPERTY TAX

Property taxes are levied in Utah at the local level based on valuations set by county assessors and — in the case of certain properties — by the Tax Commission.

The Tax Commission values centrally assessed property, which includes mining, oil and gas, and utility property, as well as certain transportation assets — such as railroad, airline, and pipeline property — that operate as a unit across county lines. All monies collected from property tax are distributed to school districts, local government entities and special districts.

For more information, see the Property Tax Annual Statistical Report at tax.utah.gov/propertytax/general-information/annual-report/.

You can view current data as a guest on the tax rates system, taxrates.utah.gov.

Real and Personal Property Taxes

Property tax rates are set by local entities, such as counties, cities, towns, school districts and special taxing districts. Utah also levies a statewide rate to help finance schools.

Motor Vehicle Fees

Motor vehicles — including most boats, recreational vehicles and trailers — are subject to a fee-in-lieu of the personal property tax. Passenger vehicles are subject to a fee schedule based on the age of the vehicle. Boats, trailers and recreational vehicles are subject to fees based on age, length and other factors.

Property Tax Values and Rates

With the exception of state-assessed properties, county assessors value all taxable real property and personal property which are referred to collectively as "locally assessed" property.

All taxable property in Utah is valued at 100 percent of its fair market value, based upon its location and status as of January 1 of each year.

Fair market value, less any exemptions, equals taxable value and is expressed as a percentage of fair market value. Taxable value is the value against which the tax rate is applied.

Currently, primary residential properties receive a 45 percent exemption. Primary residential property is any dwelling used as a person's primary residence, including condominiums, apartments and rental property, and includes up to one acre of land. The taxable value of all other properties, except some agricultural land, is assessed at 100 percent of fair market value.

Utah motor vehicles are charged a fee-in-lieu of property taxes based on the age of a vehicle.

Property Taxes by Class

Property tax is the number one source of revenue for most local governments.

In some of the larger cities, however, the property tax is gradually being replaced by the local sales tax as the principal revenue producer.

With the exception of property exempted by the Utah Constitution or federal laws, all tangible property is subject to property tax. After a property is valued for tax purposes, either by the Tax Commission or the local county assessor, local governments establish the tax rate to be applied to the property. Thus, property taxes imposed on specific properties are the result of the following two main elements:

1. the value that is placed on the property for taxing purposes, and
2. the combined tax rates that are charged by the local governments that levy the tax.

Centrally Assessed Property

The Tax Commission's Centrally Assessed Division is responsible for the valuation and assessment of mining, oil and gas production, pipeline, electric and gas utility, railroad, and private rail car property.

The market value of multi-state utilities is determined by unit value. This approach values all intra-state or interstate properties as a unit.

The value is allocated to the State of Utah and then to the county where a property is located.

The fair market value of mining, oil and gas properties are valued using standard cost, income and/or sale comparison appraisal methodologies.

Property Tax Relief

The State of Utah and county governments provided $75,988,016 in property tax relief to 54,485 individuals in 2024. Tax relief is administered by county governments.

County governments provide tax relief to the indigent, blind and veterans. The state funds property tax relief through the Circuit Breaker program.

See brief summaries of the property tax relief categories below. You can find details of the law in various parts of Utah Code, Title 59, Chapter 2.

Blind

For 2025, up to $11,500 taxable value of real and/or personal property owned by a blind person, their unmarried widow(er) or minor orphan(s) is exempt from property taxation.

Indigent

An indigent abatement may be granted in an amount of 50 percent of taxes levied, not to exceed $1,312 for 2025. An indigent deferral may also be granted for all or any portion of the tax; however, interest accrues.

Military Service

An exemption of up to $521,620 (2025) in taxable value on a primary residence or non-business personal property may be granted to a disabled veteran, their unmarried widow(er), or minor orphan(s). An exemption may also be granted to the widow(er) or minor orphan(s) of a veteran who was killed in action or died in the line of duty.

Tax relief is given to active duty or reserve military members who have been deployed outside of Utah for at least 200 days.

Low-income Elderly

Low-income elderly or widowed homeowners and mobile homeowners may apply through the county for circuit breaker relief of up to $1,312 for 2025. Low-income elderly or widowed renters may also be eligible and may apply to the Tax Commission for relief.

OTHER TAXES

Beer Tax

The beer tax applies to all beer that is imported or manufactured for sale, use or distribution in Utah. The beer tax in FY 2025 was $13.35 per 31-gallon barrel of beer. Revenues are deposited into the General Fund, the Alcoholic Beverage Enforcement and Treatment Restricted Account, and the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act Enforcement Fund.

Utah Code, Title 59, Chapter 15

| 2023 | $18,555,425 |
| 2022 | $18,394,381 |

Cigarette Tax

The cigarette tax is imposed on the first sale, use, storage or distribution of a cigarette in Utah. Wholesalers and distributors pay the tax by purchasing stamps from the Tax Commission; each pack of cigarettes must be stamped before sale. The cigarette tax is $1.70 per pack of 20 cigarettes and $2.125 per pack of 25 cigarettes. Cigarettes from manufacturers that are not a party to the Master Settlement Agreement between the State of Utah and the leading U.S. tobacco product manufacturers are subject to an additional $0.35 per 20-pack and $0.4375 per 25-pack. Revenues are deposited into the General Fund and the Cigarette and Tobacco Prevention Restricted Account.

Tobacco Tax

The tobacco tax is imposed on the first sale, use, storage or distribution of a tobacco product in Utah. The tobacco tax applies to all tobacco products other than cigarettes.

Tax rates vary by product type:

- Moist snuff is taxed at $1.83 per ounce.
- Little cigars are taxed at $0.085 per little cigar.
- All other tobacco products are taxed at 86 percent of the manufacturer's sales price.

Insurance Premium Tax

The insurance premium tax applies to admitted insurers on total premiums received from insurance covering property or risks located in Utah. Insurance categories subject to this tax include motor vehicle, property, casualty, life, workers' compensation and title insurance. Tax rates depend on the type of insurance policy.

The insurance premium tax rate is:

- 2.25 percent of net premiums on property, casualty, life and other risks.
- 2.26 percent (includes .01 percent to fund relative value study) of motor vehicle insurance premiums for motor vehicle liability, uninsured motorist and personal injury protection.
- 0.45 percent of title insurance premiums.
- 1.25 percent of workers' compensation insurance through Dec. 31, 2024; 1.2 percent of workers' compensation insurance effective Jan. 1, 2025.
- 2.25 percent of the first $100,000 in variable life insurance premiums, and 0.8 percent of premiums above that amount.

Revenues that are not earmarked to other funds or purposes are deposited into the General Fund. Other funds that receive revenue from the insurance premium tax include Workplace Safety, Fire Academy Support, Firemen's Pension, Employer's Reinsurance, Uninsured Employers and Relative Value Study.

Oil and Gas Severance Tax

The oil and gas severance tax applies to oil, natural gas and natural gas liquids produced in Utah. The tax rate ranges from 3 to 5 percent based on the value of the oil or gas and 4 percent for natural gas liquids. The oil and gas severance tax is not imposed on stripper, wildcat and development wells. Additionally, there is a well recompletion or workover tax credit of up to $30,000 per well during each calendar year, and a 50 percent reduction in the tax rate for incremental production achieved from an enhanced recovery project. Revenues are deposited into the General Fund, the Permanent State Trust Fund and various earmarks as directed in Utah code.

Utah Code, Title 59, Chapter 5, Part 1

Oil & Gas Severance

| FY 2025 | $83,296,715 |

| 2022 | $75,690,554 |

Mining Severance Tax

The mining severance tax applies to the extraction of metals or metalliferous minerals, including gold, silver, copper, beryllium, lead, iron, zinc, tungsten, uranium, molybdenum and other metalliferous minerals. Coal is not subject to mining severance tax. The mining severance tax is 2.6 percent of the taxable value of metals or metalliferous minerals and includes an annual exemption of $50,000 in taxable value at each mine. Revenues are deposited into the General Fund, the Permanent State Trust Fund and various earmarks as directed in Utah code.

Utah Code, Title 59, Chapter 5, Part 2

Mining Severance

| 2022 | $15,519,535 |
| 2021 | $13,373,405 |

Oil and Gas Conservation Fee

The oil and gas conservation fee is assessed on interest owners of oil and gas wells in Utah. The oil and gas conservation fee is 0.2 percent of the value of oil, gas and natural gas liquids produced and saved, sold or transported from the production site. Revenues are deposited into a restricted account within the General Fund known as the "Oil and Gas Conservation Account."

911 Emergency Service Telephone Charge

Charges imposed per month on each access line in Utah consist of the following:

- 911 emergency service charge of $0.71 through Dec. 31, 2024;
  911 emergency service charge of $0.73 effective Jan. 1, 2025
- Unified statewide 911 emergency service charge of $0.25
- Radio network charge of $0.52 through Dec. 31, 2024;
  Radio network charge of $0.27 effective Jan. 1, 2025

An additional service charge of 4.33 percent (effective Jan. 1, 2025; reduced from 4.9 percent) is imposed on prepaid wireless telecommunications service. Revenues from these charges are either distributed to public safety answering points or deposited into the Unified Statewide 911 Emergency Service Account, the Utah Statewide Radio System Restricted Account, or the Universal Public Telecommunications Service Support Fund.

Motor Fuel Tax

Motor fuel tax is imposed on all motor fuel that is sold, used or received for sale in Utah. The tax rate, which is recalculated each year, is 14.2 percent of the statewide average rack price of a gallon of motor fuel, with some exceptions. The tax rate was $0.385 per gallon in calendar year 2025; it was $0.365 per gallon in calendar year 2024. Most motor fuel tax revenues are deposited into the Transportation Fund and used for highway purposes.

Special Fuel Tax

The special fuel tax is imposed on any fuel (other than aviation and motor fuel) used to propel motor vehicles on Utah highways. It includes diesel, bio-diesel, kerosene, blended fuels, compressed natural gas (CNG), liquefied natural gas (LNG), hydrogen and other gaseous and liquid petroleum products. The tax rate is recalculated every year. The special fuel tax rate for diesel is the same as the motor fuel tax rate. The tax rate for CNG, LNG and hydrogen was $0.207 per gasoline/diesel gallon equivalent for calendar year 2025 and was $0.20 for calendar year 2024. Revenues are deposited into the Transportation Fund.

Motor Vehicle Registration Fees

Each vehicle owner must pay a registration fee at the time of first registration and then annually, unless otherwise exempted. A six-month registration option is also available for motorcycles and passenger vehicles. The fees vary depending on vehicle type, fuel type, registered weight, county and other factors. Registration fees for most vehicles are adjusted annually by the change in the consumer price index. Most registration fees are deposited into either the Transportation Investment Fund or the Transportation Fund. Some amounts are earmarked for other accounts as set forth in Utah code.

2025 Vermont Tax Expenditures Report

Introduction

The 2025 Vermont Tax Expenditures Report is an updated catalogue of all exemptions, exclusions, deductions, credits, preferential rates, and deferrals of liability applicable to the State's major tax sources as defined in 32 V.S.A. § 312. The report also provides an estimate of the fiscal effect for each tax expenditure. 2025 marks the twentieth year of tax expenditure reporting in Vermont. This report reflects recent research and recommended best practices.[1]

Tax expenditures are statutory provisions that reduce the amount of revenue that would otherwise be collected to encourage a particular activity or limit the amount of taxes collected from certain persons. Tax expenditures have essentially the same fiscal effect as direct government appropriations. Most states publish tax expenditure reports on a regular basis to increase transparency and clarify what public policy choices are being made through the tax code.

The General Assembly has codified statutory purposes for each tax expenditure and defined tax expenditures for reporting requirements. Four categories of items are not considered tax expenditures:

1. revenue outside the taxing power of the State;
2. provisions outside the normal structure of a particular tax;
3. revenue foregone as unduly burdensome to administer; and
4. those excluded for the purpose of avoiding government taxing itself.

This report encompasses tax expenditures to the taxes that represent the majority of the State's annual revenue, including:

1. major income taxes: individual and corporate;
2. major sales taxes: sales and use, meals and rooms, and purchase and use;
3. property taxes;
4. alternative business taxes: bank franchise and insurance premiums; and
5. transportation excise taxes: gasoline, diesel fuel, and motor vehicle purchase and use.

Vermont has additional tax sources that raise smaller amounts of revenue, however these sources are not included in the report.

The estimates in this report are for the cost of providing a particular tax expenditure in a fiscal year. These costs are estimated without regard to the interaction with other provisions in the tax code, implementation issues, or other considerations. Therefore, these values are not a substitute for a more detailed analysis of the revenue gain that would result from the elimination or modification of one of these expenditures in the legislative context.

Of note, the separate biennial tax expenditure review report created by Section 40 of Act 134 of 2016, which included more extensive analyses of specific tax expenditures is no longer required. These review reports included two types of reviews. Expedited reviews briefly analyzed the purpose of a tax expenditure, delineated its cost and benefits and considered whether it meets its intended policy goal. Full review(s) provided a more in-depth economic and fiscal analysis and recommendations on how to improve or modify the expenditure to achieve stated legislative goals.

The Joint Fiscal Office (JFO) completed both this report and prior review reports with data assistance and legal analysis as needed from the Vermont Department of Taxes. Unless otherwise noted, data from the Vermont Department of Taxes was used for this report.

Organization of the Report

The report is divided into sections according to tax type with a descriptive list of tax expenditures, including statutory reference, date of enactment, estimated foregone revenue, statutory purpose, and a brief description. At the beginning of each section is a summary of the expenditures and multiple year data as well as cost projections for the upcoming budget year.

Brief Definitions of the Various Tax Bases

Individual and Corporate Income Tax

Prior to tax year 2018, Vermont personal income taxes were linked to the federal tax structure and the State used federal taxable income as the starting point for calculating both personal and corporate State income taxes. Beginning in tax year 2018, the starting point for calculating personal income taxes is federal Adjusted Gross Income. Subtractions from this starting point (Vermont Standard Deduction, Personal Exemption) are Vermont-specific. Corporate income taxes remain linked to federal corporate taxable income.

The value of an income tax expenditure differs depending on where in the income tax calculation it occurs. The value depends on:

1. whether it is a deduction or exclusion from taxable income;
2. a reduction of the Vermont tax prior to applying the income adjustment;
3. income that is exempt and part of the adjustment calculation; or
4. a credit against tax, which may be refundable or nonrefundable.

Sales and Use Tax

Generally, the base of the sales and use tax is final retail sale of tangible personal property. Vermont adopted a definition of "retail sale" developed by a consortium of states as part of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement.[2] With some exceptions, this is the tax base for the sales and use tax. Estimating expenditures in sales and use taxes presents different challenges because Vermont does not require the collection of data on items exempted from sales. Therefore, the tax expenditure estimates contained in this report are based on data from a variety of sources for different years and use different methodologies. For sources that do not have annual updates, the data are adjusted for inflation.

Meals and Rooms Tax

The tax on meals and rooms was enacted in 1959.[3] The tax on alcoholic beverages was added in 1963. Unlike the sales tax chapter of Title 32, the meals and rooms tax does not contain an exemption statute. Most of the exemptions or exclusions are found in definitions of the tax base.

[2] Included in 32 V.S.A. § 9701(5)

[3] The definition of "taxable meal" was substantially rewritten in 1993.

Similar to the sales tax, there are some challenges estimating tax expenditures for the meals and rooms tax. As such, the same methodology is used for estimating these expenditures.

Property Tax

Education property taxes, while collected by the municipalities, are considered State revenue. Therefore, associated expenditures are included in this report. Vermont has two State tax rates that apply to the assessed value of both homestead and nonhomestead property, respectively. Homestead property means a principal dwelling and land; nonhomestead property is generally all other taxable real property. For the purposes of this report, a property tax expenditure is almost always a total exemption from tax or an adjustment to the value of the property that results in a lower tax. The tax expenditures in the enumerated list are organized according to type: ordinary exemptions, adjustments to property values, session law exemptions, and property taxed under alternate schemes.

Bank Franchise Tax

Financial institutions doing business in Vermont are taxed on the average monthly deposits held in Vermont by the corporation. There are two categories of tax expenditures reported: deposits in State-chartered credit unions that are not subject to the tax, and expenditures that include tax credits. Credits can be awarded to financial institutions for direct investment or, in the case of the downtown and village center tax credits, indirect bank credit certificates.

Insurance Premiums Tax

Insurance companies doing business in Vermont are taxed on the premiums and assessments written on business in the state. Certain organizations are exempt from paying the insurance premiums tax. There are also some Vermont tax credits available to insurance companies to offset tax liability.

Gasoline and Diesel Taxes

The Department of Motor Vehicles has a gross figure for the number of tax-exempt gallons of gasoline and diesel sold in Vermont. The tax expenditure estimates are derived by using data from several sources to estimate the quantity of dealer-to-dealer sales and the quantity of diesel fuel purchases by the State. local government entities and public transit agencies. These are parsed out from the total provided by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Motor Vehicle Purchase and Use Tax

The purchase and use tax is based on the value of a vehicle less the value of a vehicle traded. The Department of Motor Vehicles database includes transactions exempted in seven categories and contains information on the vehicle type, make, model, and year, but not the sales price. The expenditure estimate is derived by multiplying the number of transactions in each category by the average tax paid per taxable transaction. There is also an estimate based on a sample of transactions of the additional tax revenue if there was no trade-in allowance. The Joint Fiscal Office and the Vermont Department of Taxes have made estimates based on the best data available for each of the tax types.

List of Fiscal Year 2023 Individual Income Tax Expenditures

10 Adjustments to Taxable Income

11 Vermont Standard Deduction

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5811(21)(C)(ii)-(iii)
Enacted: 2018
Estimate: $164,760,000
Taxpayers: 358,815

Statutory Purpose: Not listed in statute

Each individual income tax return in Vermont is entitled to take a standard deduction equal to $12,700 for a married couple, $6,350 for a single filer, and $9,500 for a head of household in tax year 2023. An additional $1,000 is deduction can be taken for taxpayers over the age of 65 or blind taxpayers.

Prior to 2018, because the starting point for Vermont personal income taxes was federal taxable income, the federal standard deduction flowed through to Vermont. Previous tax expenditure reports catalogued this as a federal flow-through expenditure. After 2018, the expenditure was largely the same, however, it was a Vermont-specific deduction rather than a federal flow-through.

12 Vermont Personal Exemptions

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5811(21)(C)(i)
Enacted: 2018
Estimate: $133,750,000
Taxpayers: 328,322

Statutory Purpose: Not listed in statute

Vermont allows each individual tax return to take $4,250 per person in personal exemptions for the taxpayer, spouse, and each qualifying dependent.

Prior to 2018, because the starting point for Vermont personal income taxes was federal taxable income, the federal standard deduction flowed through to Vermont. Previous tax expenditure reports catalogued this as a federal flow-through expenditure. After 2018, the expenditure was largely the same, however, it was a Vermont-specific deduction rather than a federal flow-through.

13 Vermont Municipal Bond Income Exemption

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5811(21)(A)(i)
Enacted: 1986
Estimate: $1,620,000
Taxpayers: 5,209

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(a)

The statutory purpose of the exemption for Vermont municipal bond income in subdivision 5811(21)(A)(i) of this title is to lower the cost of borrowing in order to finance State and municipal projects.

Interest income from State and local government obligations is exempt from taxation in Vermont. However, interest income from non-Vermont state and local obligations is added to AGI when calculating the Vermont Taxable Income.

14 Capital Gains Exclusion

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5811(21)(B)(ii)
Enacted: 2002; amended 2009, 2010
Estimate: $18,300,000
Taxpayers: 43,272

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(b)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont flat capital gains exclusion in subdivision 5811(21)(B)(ii) of this title is intended to increase savings and investment by making the effective tax rate on capital gains income lower than the effective tax rate on earned income while exempting a portion of the gain that may represent inflation. The 40% business capital gains exclusion mitigates the impact of one-time realizations in a progressive tax structure.

Taxpayers may reduce taxable income by up to $5,000 in adjusted net capital gain income or 40% adjusted net capital gain income from the sale of certain business assets held for more than three years. The exclusion amount cannot exceed 40% of federal taxable income. Beginning tax year 2019, the 40% exclusion is limited to $875,000 worth of capital gains.

15 Social Security Exemption

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5811(21)(B)(iv)
Enacted: 2018
Estimate: $8,160,000*
Taxpayers: 29,827*
*Data includes the retirement exemptions in item 18 below
Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(w)
The statutory purpose of the partial exemption of federally taxable benefits under the Social Security Act in section 5830e of this title is to lessen the tax burden on Vermonters with low to moderate income who derive part of their income from Social Security benefits.

A taxpayer's Social Security benefits are permitted to be excluded from their taxable income depending upon their income. 100% of Social Security benefits are exempt for a single taxpayer with adjusted gross income (AGI) of less than $50,000 and a married couple with AGI less than $65,000. The benefit is phased out over the next $10,000 such that single taxpayers with AGI above $60,000 and married couples with AGI above $75,000 receive no exemption.[4] Prior to 2022, these income thresholds were $45,000 for single filers and $60,000 for married couples.

[4] The income thresholds for the Social Security Exemption were increased by $5,000 in Act 138 of 2022. Social Security benefits receive a full exemption for single taxpayers with AGI below $50,000 and $65,000 for married taxpayers. The phase out continues over the next $10,000 from the new thresholds. The updated threshold will take effect in tax year 2022.

16 Vermont Medical Deduction

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5811(21)(C)(iv)
Enacted: 2019
Estimate: $2,440,000
Taxpayers: 2,361

Statutory Purpose: Not listed in statute

The medical deduction allows Vermont taxpayers to deduct the amount of their itemized medical and dental expenses taken at the federal level beyond the Vermont standard deduction and personal exemptions. Entrance and monthly fees to continuing care retirement communities are not eligible for the deduction.

17 Student Loan Interest Deduction

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5811(21)(B)(vi)
Enacted: 2022
Estimate: $700,000
of Taxpayers: 5,319

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(z)
The statutory purpose of the exclusion from income of student loan interest paid in subdivision 5811(21)(B)(vi) of this title is to lessen the financial impact of higher education debt on Vermonters.

Taxpayers may deduct interest paid on qualified education loan for the costs of attendance at an eligible educational institution from their taxable income. Single taxpayers must have AGI below $120,000 and married taxpayers must have AGI below $200,000 to fully deduct student loan interest paid from their Vermont Taxable Income.

18 Civil Service Retirement (CSRS) and Military Retirement Threshold Exemption

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5830e
Enacted: 2022
Estimate: $8,160,000*
Taxpayers: 29,827*
*Data includes the social security exemption in item 15 above
Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(w)
The statutory purpose of the partial exemption of federally taxable benefits under the Social Security Act and certain retirement income in section 5830e of this title is to lessen the tax burden on Vermonters with low to moderate income who derive part of their income from Social Security benefits and certain retirement income.

A taxpayer is entitled to exemption up to $10,000 in income received from Civil Service Retirement System and Military Retirement benefits. The exemption allows single taxpayers with up $50,000 AGI and married taxpayers with up to $65,000 AGI a full exemption on this income. The benefit is phased out over the next $10,000 such that single taxpayers with AGI above $60,000 and married couples with AGI above $75,000 receive no exemption. Taxpayers must elect if they will take the Military Retirement, CSRS exemption or the exemption on Social Security benefits

1.100 Vermont Tax Credits Applied before Income Adjustment

1.101 Credit for Child and Dependent Care

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5822(d)
Enacted: 1967
Estimate: $4,840,000
Taxpayers: 11,921

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(c)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont credit for child and dependent care in subsection 5822(d) of this title is to provide financial assistance to employees who must incur dependent care expenses to stay in the workforce in the absence of prekindergarten programming.

Prior to 2022 a taxpayer was entitled to a nonrefundable tax credit equal to 24% of the federal child and dependent care credit applied against Vermont tax liability. A taxpayer could claim this credit or the low-income child and dependent care credit, but not both. Starting in 2022, a taxpayer is entitled to a refundable credit equal to 72% of the federal child and dependent care credit applied against Vermont tax liability.

1.102 Credit for Elderly or Disabled

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5822(d)

A taxpayer is entitled to a nonrefundable tax credit equal to 5% charitable contributions applied against their tax liability. The credit is applicable to the first $20,000 in contributions.

1.200 Adjustments to Vermont Income Tax

1.201 Military Pay

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5823(a)(2) and (b)(3)
Enacted: 1966
Estimate: $1,880,000
Taxpayers: 1,425

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(g)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for military pay in subdivisions 5823(a)(2) and (b)(3) of this title is to provide additional compensation for military personnel in recognition of their service to Vermont and to the country.

Exempts all military pay for full-time active duty earned outside Vermont. This also exempts the first $2,000 of military pay earned for commander certified unit training in Vermont for National Guard or United States Reserve personnel who have a federal AGI under $50,000. Exemption also applies to funds received through the federal armed forces educational loan repayment program.

1.202 Qualified Bond Interest Income Exemption

Statute: 16 V.S.A. § 2825 (VSAC); 30 V.S.A. § 8074 (VTA)
Enacted: 1965; 2007
Estimate: $50,000
Taxpayers: 210

Statutory Purpose: 16 V.S.A. § 2826; 30 V.S.A. § 8060(c)
(a) The statutory purpose of the exemption for interest income from Vermont Student Assistance Corporation (VSAC) bonds in section 2825 of this title is to lower the cost of borrowing in order to finance education loan programs.
(c) The statutory purpose of the exemption for Vermont Telecommunications Authority bonds and notes in section 8074 of this title is to lower the cost of borrowing in order to finance the expansion of broadband access across the State.

The exemption applies to interest and income from these sources when included in a taxpayer's federal AGI.

1.300 Vermont Tax Credits Applied after Income Adjustment

1.301 Charitable Housing Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5830c
Enacted: 1990
Estimate: $80,000
Taxpayers: 73

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(h)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont charitable housing credit in section 5830c of this title is to enable lower capital cost to certain affordable housing charities by restoring some of the forgone investment income through a tax credit to the investor.

Vermont taxpayers may receive nonrefundable credit equal to the difference between the net income that would have been received at the charitable threshold rate and the actual net income received by, or credited to, the taxpayer. The credit cannot exceed 3% of the average outstanding principal balance of the investment during the taxable year. Unused credits may be carried forward for three years.

1.302 Affordable Housing Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5930u
Enacted: 2000
Estimate: Not disclosed
Taxpayers: Fewer than 10

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(i)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont affordable housing credit in section 5930u of this title is to increase the capital available to certain affordable housing projects for construction or rehabilitation by attracting up-front private investment.

A nonrefundable tax credit may be taken for an affordable rental housing project or owner-occupied affordable housing units, provided the project has been authorized by the Vermont Housing Finance Agency. The amount of the credit is based on a taxpayer's eligible cash contribution and the Agency's allocation plan. Total tax credits available to the taxpayer are the amount of the first-year allocation plus the succeeding four years' deemed allocation. (These credits are taken almost exclusively against bank franchise tax and insurance premiums tax.)

1.303 Qualified Sale of Mobile Home Park Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5828
Enacted: 1998
Estimate: Not disclosed
Taxpayers: Fewer than 10

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(j)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont qualified sale of a mobile home park credit in section 5828 of this title is to encourage sales of mobile home parks to a group composed of a majority of the mobile home park leaseholders, or to a nonprofit organization that represents such a group, and, in doing so, to provide stability to the inhabitants of such mobile home parks.

The taxpayer is entitled to a nonrefundable credit worth 7% of the taxpayer's gain from the sale of a mobile home park subject to federal income tax. Unused credits may be carried forward for three years.

1.304 Higher Education Investment Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5825a
Enacted: 2003 (revised in 2007)
Estimate: $4,140,000
Taxpayers: 7,168

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(k)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont higher education investment credit in section 5825a of this title is to encourage contributions to 529 plans that would not otherwise occur and to lower the cost of higher education for Vermont students and the Vermont taxpayers who financially support them.

A taxpayer, including each spouse filing a joint return, is entitled to a nonrefundable credit of 10% for the first $2,500 contributed for each beneficiary to a Vermont higher education investment plan account. A recipient of this credit is subject to a 10% repayment for any distribution not excluded from federal AGI, up to a maximum of the total credits received.

1.305 Entrepreneurs' Seed Capital Fund Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5830b
Enacted: 2004
Estimate: Not disclosed
Taxpayers: Fewer than 10

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(l)
The statutory purpose is to provide incentives for investment in the Seed Capital Fund, ensuring it has sufficient capital to make equity investments in Vermont businesses.

A taxpayer who contributes to the Seed Capital Fund may claim a nonrefundable credit equal to the lesser of either 4% of the taxpayer's contribution or 50% of the taxpayer's tax liability for the year prior to claiming the credit, provided that the aggregate credit allowable for all taxable years does not exceed 20% of the taxpayer's contribution to the initial capitalization of the fund. Unused credits may be carried forward for four years.

1.306 Historic Rehabilitation Tax Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5930cc(a); see § 5930aa – 3930ff
Enacted: 2006
Estimate: Not disclosed
Taxpayers: Fewer than 10

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(m)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont historical rehabilitation tax credit in subsection 5930cc(a) of this title is to provide incentives to improve and rehabilitate historic properties in designated downtowns and village centers.

A taxpayer who is deemed qualified by the Vermont Downtown Development Board and completes a qualified historic rehabilitation project may claim a nonrefundable credit of 10% of those qualified rehabilitation expenditures. Unused credits may be carried forward for nine years. (A substantial number of these credits are taken against bank franchise tax.)

1.307 Façade Improvement Tax Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5930cc(b); see § 5930aa – 5930ff
Enacted: 2006
Estimate: $50,000
Taxpayers: 10

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(n)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont facade improvement tax credit in subsection 5930cc(b) and sections 5930aa–5930ff of this title is to provide incentives to improve facades and rehabilitate historic properties in designated downtowns and village centers.

Taxpayers are eligible for a nonrefundable credit equal to 25% of expenditures up to $25,000 on a qualified façade improvement project, as approved by the Vermont Downtown Development Board. Unused credits may be carried forward for nine years. (A substantial number of these credits are taken against bank franchise tax.)

1.308 Code Improvement Tax Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5930cc(c); see § 5930aa – 5930ff
Enacted: 2006
Estimate: $160,000
Taxpayers: 10

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(o)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont code improvement tax credit in subsection 5930cc(c) and sections 5930aa–5930ff of this title is to provide incentives to improve and rehabilitate historic properties in designated downtowns and village centers.

Taxpayers are eligible for a nonrefundable credit equal to 50% of costs for qualified code improvement or installation projects, up to the following limits: $12,000 for a platform lift, $50,000 for an elevator or sprinkler system, and $25,000 for combined costs of all other code improvement and installation projects, as approved by the Vermont Downtown Development Board. Unused credits may be carried forward for nine years. (A substantial number of these credits are taken against bank franchise tax.)

1.309 Research and Development Tax Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5930ii
Enacted: 2009; effective tax year 2011; modified in 2014
Estimate: $670,000
Taxpayers: 140

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(p)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont research and development tax credit in section 5930ii of this title is to encourage business investment in research and development within Vermont and to attract and retain intellectual-property-based companies.

A taxpayer is eligible for a nonrefundable credit equal to 27% of the amount of the federal tax credit for eligible research and development expenditures made within Vermont. Unused credits may be carried forward for 10 years. (Note: in tax years 2011-2013 the credit was 30%)

1.400 Refundable Credits

1.401 Low-Income Child and Dependent Care Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5828c
Enacted: 2002; Repealed in 2022
Estimate: N/A
Taxpayers: N/A

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(r)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont low-income child and dependent care tax credit in section 5828c of this title is to provide cash relief to lower-income employees who incur dependent care expenses in certified centers to enable them to remain in the workforce.

This credit was repealed in 2022. Prior to 2022 a refundable credit was available for taxpayers with federal AGI under $30,000, if filing individually, or $40,000, if filing jointly. The credit was equal to 50% of the federal child and dependent care credit for child and dependent care services procured in Vermont, so long as the facility providing these services had been certified by the Agency of Human Services.

1.402 Earned Income Tax Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5828b
Enacted: 1988
Estimate: $26,920,000
Taxpayers: 33,522

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(s)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont earned income tax credit in section 5828b of this title is to provide incentives for low-income working families and individuals and to offset the effect on these Vermonters of conventionally regressive taxes.

Prior to 2022 any taxpayer entitled to a federal earned income tax credit could claim a Vermont earned income tax credit in the amount of 36% of the federal credit, proportional to the percentage of total income that was earned or received in Vermont. Starting in 2022 any taxpayer entitled to a federal earned income tax credit may claim a Vermont earned income tax credit in the amount of 38% of the federal credit, proportional to the percentage that was earned or received in Vermont.

1.403 Child Tax Credit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5830f
Enacted: 2022
Estimate: $24,000,000
Taxpayers: 21,296

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5813(y)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont child tax credit in section 5830f of this title is to provide financial support to families with young children.

Taxpayers are entitled to a Child Tax Credit for personal income taxes equal to $1,000 per child aged five and under. The credit is fully refundable. It begins to phaseout at $125,000 AGI and is completely phased out by $175,000 for both single and married taxpayers.

1.600 Other Personal Income Tax Expenditures

1.601 Vermont Employment Growth Incentive Program

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3325-§ 3342
Enacted: 2007, 2015

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3330
The statutory purpose of the Vermont Employment Growth Incentive Program is to generate net new revenue to the State by encouraging a business to add new payroll, create jobs, and make new capital investments and sharing a portion of the revenue with the business.

The Vermont Economic Progress Council may approve an incentive paid from the incremental tax revenues generated by estimated economic activity. The Department of Taxes verifies whether approved applicants achieve payroll or investment targets in order to receive an incentive. If approved, the incentive is applied as a credit against the firm's withholding tax due. Because incentives are awarded and then paid out incrementally, for the purpose of this report incentives paid over the five-year period of 2018 to 2022 are shown below. The values of these incentives are available in the Vermont Employment Growth Incentives Program 2024 Annual Report.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|

List of Fiscal Year 2023 Meals and Rooms Tax Expenditures

40 Meals and Alcoholic Beverage Tax

41 Grocery-type items furnished for take-out (meals tax only)

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(10)(D)(i)
Enacted: 1959
Estimate: $8,700,000

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 9201(a)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for grocery-type items furnished for take-out in subdivision 9202(10)(D)(i) of this title is to limit the cost of goods that are necessary for the health and welfare of all people in Vermont.

Most food purchased from a grocery store is not subject to the meals tax. This exemption is for prepared food that is still intended for home use and includes whole pies, cakes, and loaves of bread, single-serving bakery items sold in quantities of three or more, deli and candy sales by weight, whole uncooked pizzas, and larger containers of ice cream, salad dressings, sauces, cider, or milk.

42 Served or furnished on the premises of a nonprofit

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(10)(D)(ii)(I)
Enacted: 1959
Estimate: Data unavailable

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 9201(b)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for meals served or furnished on the premises of a nonprofit organization in subdivision 9202(10)(D)(ii)(I) of this title is to allow more of the revenues generated by certain activities to be dedicated to furthering the public-service missions of the organizations.

Nonprofit organizations may sell meals without a meals tax when those meals are sold on the premises and further the purpose of the organization. The profits from meals sold under this exemption must also be used exclusively for the nonprofit organization.

43 Premises of a school

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(10)(D)(ii)(II)
Enacted: 1959
Estimate: Data Unavailable

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 9201(c)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for meals provided on school premises in subdivision 9202(10)(D)(ii)(II) of this title is to reduce the overall cost of education in Vermont.

Schools may sell meals on their own grounds without collecting the meals tax. Contractors may sell meals to school students and staff under this exemption, but restaurants and caterers otherwise subject to the tax may not deliver meals to the schools without collecting the tax.

With the passage of Act 64 (2023), school meals are provided free of charge to most K-12 students in Vermont, decreasing the scope of this tax exemption.

44 Hospitals, convalescent, and nursing homes

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(10)(D)(ii)(IV)

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(10)(D)(ii)(VII)
Enacted: 1964
Estimate: Data unavailable

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 9201(f)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for nonprofits at fairs, bazaars, picnics, and similar events in subdivision 9202(10)(D)(ii)(VII) of this title is to allow more of the revenues generated by certain activities to be dedicated to furthering the public-service missions of the organizations.

Nonprofit organizations may provide meals at public events without collecting the meals tax, but only for four calendar days during any given year.

47 Furnished to an employee of a hotel or restaurant operator as remuneration for his or her employment

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(10)(D)(ii)(VIII)
Enacted: 1963
Estimate: Data unavailable

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 9201(g)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for meals furnished to an employee of a hotel or restaurant operator as remuneration for his or her employment in subdivision 9202(10)(D)(ii)(VIII) of this title is to avoid the taxation of in-kind benefits.

Meals provided to employees as a part of their compensation are not subject to the meals tax.

48 Served on the premises of a continuing care retirement community

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(10)(D)(ii)(XI)
Enacted: 1988
Estimate: Data unavailable

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 9201(h)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for meals served on the premises of a continuing care retirement community in subdivision 9202(10)(D)(ii)(XI) is to exclude meals prepared in a person's home from taxation.

Meals provided at continuing care retirement communities are not subject to the meals tax.

4.100 Rooms Tax

4.101 Student housing

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(8)
Enacted: 1964
Estimate: Data unavailable

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 9201(i)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for student housing in subdivision 9202(8) of this title is to reduce the overall costs of education in Vermont.

The rental charges to students attending a school are not subject to the rooms tax.

4.102 Furnished to an employee of a hotel or restaurant operator as remuneration for his or her employment

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 9202(6)
Enacted: 1959

Property used for educational purposes is exempt.

57 Cemeteries

Statute: 18 V.S.A. § 5317, § 5376; 32 V.S.A. § 3802(7);
Enacted: some version of this exemption existed when Vermont became a State in 1791
Estimate: $622,000
of parcels: 492

Statutory Purpose: 18 V.S.A. § 5300 and 32 V.S.A. § 3800(e)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for cemeteries in sections 18 V.S.A. § 5317, § 5376 and 32 V.S.A. § 3802(7) is to lower the cost of establishing and maintaining cemeteries.

58 Libraries

Statute: 22 V.S.A. § 109
Enacted: prior to 1947

Estimate: $1,123,000
of parcels: 80

The statutory purpose of the exemption for housing authorities in section 4020 of this title is to promote, provide, and preserve affordable housing.

The property of a housing authority is declared public property and is exempt.

5.010 Congressionally Chartered Organizations

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 802(2)
Enacted: 1957
Estimate: $1,000,000
of parcels: 106

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(a)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for congressionally chartered organizations in subdivision 3802(2) of this title is to support certain organizations with a patriotic, charitable, historical, or educational purpose.

Congress issued federal charters from 1791 until 1992 and over 100 organizations have this status. Congress does not oversee or supervise organizations with the charter, and the designation was largely honorific. Congress suspended federal charters because of the unmerited public assumption that the charter signifies federal approval of the organization's activities. (Congressional Research Service Report, April 8, 2004) There are two main groups of congressionally chartered organizations, including veterans, fraternal or patriotic groups such as the American Red Cross, National Academy of Sciences, or Girl and Boy Scouts, and corporate entities such as the Federal Reserve Bank, Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

5.011 Public, pious, and charitable property

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § § 3802(4), 3832, 3840, 5404(a)
Enacted: Some version of § 3802(4) existed when Vermont became a State in 1791; a version of § 3832 was enacted in 1880
Estimate: $72,289,000
of parcels: 2,146

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Subdivided | Charitable: | $9,124,000; | 550 parcels |
| estimates: | College: | $19,410,000; | 141 parcels |
| | Pious: | $15,000,000; | 1,116 parcels |
| | Schools: | $8,548,000; | 187 parcels |
| | Hospitals | $20,207,000; | 152 parcels |

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(b)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for public, pious, and charitable property in sections 3832 and 3840 and subdivision 3802(4) of this title is to allow these organizations to dedicate more of their financial resources to furthering their public-service missions.

Subdivision 3802(4) exemptions are grouped together because municipalities are only required to report the statutory reference and not differentiate between the various exemption types.

5.013 Young Men's and Women's Christian Associations

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3802(6)
Enacted: 1906 (YMCA) and 1963 (YWCA)
Estimate: $467,000
of parcels: 7

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(d)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for Young Men's and Women's Christian Associations in subdivision 3802(6) of this title is to allow these organizations to dedicate more of their financial resources to furthering their public-service missions.

Young Men's and Women's Christian Association property is exempt if it is used for the purposes of the organization and the income is used entirely for such purposes.

5.014 Owned by agricultural societies

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3802(9)
Enacted: 1902
Estimate: $650,000
of parcels: 15

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(f)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for property owned by agricultural societies in subdivision 3802(9) of this title is to lower the cost of public access to agricultural events.

The property is exempt if it is used annually for agricultural fairs.

5.015 Property exclusively installed and operated for the abatement of water pollution

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3802(12)
Enacted: 1961
Estimate: $1,000
of parcels: 1

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(h)

The statutory purpose of the exemption for property exclusively installed and operated for the abatement of water pollution in subdivision 3802(12) of this title is to encourage real property improvements that abate water pollution by nonpublic entities that would not qualify for an exemption as a government entity.

This property is exempt as long as it is approved by the Secretary of the Agency of Natural Resources.

5.016 Humane societies

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3802(15)
Enacted: 1976
Estimate: $175,000
of parcels: 14

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(i)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for humane societies in subdivision 3802(15) of this title is to lower operating costs for organizations that protect animals to allow them to dedicate more of their financial resources to furthering their public-service missions.

Property owned by a charitable, nonprofit organization devoted to the welfare, protection, and humane treatment of animals is exempt.

5.017 Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) and Rural Health Clinics (RHCs)

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3802(16)
Enacted: 1999
Estimate: $698,000
of parcels: 34

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(j)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for federally qualified health centers or rural health clinics in subdivision 3802(16) of this title is to support health centers that serve an underserved area or population, offer a sliding fee scale, provide comprehensive services, and have an ongoing quality assurance program.

Property owned by a federally qualified health center or a free-standing, federally designated rural health clinic is exempt.

5.018 Ski Lifts and Snowmaking Equipment

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5401(10)(D)
Enacted: 2002 (effective for 2004 and thereafter)
Estimate: $3,475,000
of parcels: 44

Statutory Purpose: None

Fixed equipment, including ski lifts and snowmaking equipment is exempt. This estimate does not include $550,000 in foregone revenues (or Payment in Lieu of Taxes (PILOT) payments made to towns) for ski lifts and snowmaking equipment at two resorts. That is because leases with the State put title to that property in the State's name, which would mean that if this exemption were removed that equipment would still not be taxable by the State. This situation is described in the 2015 report by the Vermont State Auditor's Office, State Land Leases Boost Ski Industry, but Are Dated and Inconsistent.

5.019 Whey Processing Fixtures

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5401(10)(G)
Enacted: 2001
Estimate: $0
of parcels: None

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5400 (a)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for whey processing fixtures in subdivision 5401(10)(G) of this title is to support industries using whey processing facilities to convert waste into value-added products.

Nonresidential property does not include machinery and equipment used directly in the processing of whey.

Act 90 of 2021 Legislative Section Property Tax Expenditures

5.021 Native American Land

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3802(21)
Enacted: 2022
Estimate: $5,000
of parcels: 2

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(p)
The statutory purpose of the exemption under subdivision 3802(21) of this title for property owned by Native American tribes is to recognize those peoples as the traditional land caretakers of Vermont and to lower their costs to allow them to dedicate more of their financial resources to furthering their tribe-related activities.

This provision exempts real and personal property owned by a Native American tribe recognized in 1 V.S.A. Chapter 23 or owned by a nonprofit controlled by a tribe, as long as the property is not leased or rented for profit.

5.100 Adjustments to Property Values

5.101 $10,000 exemption of appraised value of a residence for a veteran

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3802(11) and 32 V.S.A. § 6066(i)
Enacted: prior to 1910; amended 2011
Estimate: $650,000
of parcels: 3,490

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(g)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for $10,000 of appraised value of a residence for a veteran in subdivision 3802(11) of this title is to recognize disabled veterans' service to Vermont and to the country.

The exemption is for a veteran of any war or who has received an American Expeditionary Medal. The exemption also applies to the veteran's spouse, widow, widower, or child, if one or more of them are receiving disability compensation for at least 50% disability, death compensation, dependence and indemnity compensation, or pension for disability paid through any military department or the Veteran's Administration.

5.102 Qualified Housing

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5404a(a)(6)
Enacted: 2004
Estimate: $1,296,000
of parcels: 662

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5400 (c)
The statutory purpose of the exemption for qualified housing in subdivision 5404a(a)(6) of this title is to ensure that taxes on this rent restricted housing provided to low- and moderate-income Vermonters are more equivalent to property taxed using the State homestead rate and to adjust the costs of investment in rent restricted housing to reflect more accurately the revenue potential of such property.

Residential rental units that are subject to specific rent restrictions may qualify for an exemption of 10% of the value of the parcel.

5.103 Tax Increment Financing Districts

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5404a(f)
Enacted: 1997, amended multiple times
Estimate: $6,500,000
of Districts: 8

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5400 (d)
The statutory purpose of the Tax Increment Financing (TIF) districts in subsection 5404a(f) of this title is to allow communities to encourage investment and improvements that would not otherwise occur and to use locally the additional property tax revenue attributable to those investments to pay off the debt incurred to construct the improvements.

TIF allows a municipality to retain and utilize a portion of the education property tax revenue from an approved district for improvements related to the district. The tax expenditure estimate here represents the portion municipalities retain to fund improvements in the TIF district. The percentage varies by district but is usually between 70% and 100% of new property tax increment. The remaining portion is required by law to be remitted to the Education Fund.

5.104 VEPC Approved Stabilization Agreements

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5404a
Enacted: 1997; Repealed effective January 1, 2017 (2016 Act. No 157 Sec. H.6.)
Estimate: $0
of parcels: 0

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5400 (e)
The statutory purpose of the Vermont Economic Progress Council approved stabilization agreements in section 5404a of this title is to provide exemptions on a case-by-case basis in conjunction with other economic development efforts in order to facilitate economic development that would not otherwise occur.

Municipalities that entered into property tax stabilization agreements for improvements to commercial or industrial property were allowed to apply to the Vermont Economic Progress Council for additional State education property tax stabilizations for up to 10 years.

5.105 Flood Impacted Property Rehabilitation

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3870-3871
Enacted: 2024
Estimate: $1,160,000

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(q)
The statutory purpose of the exemption under 32 V.S.A. chapter 125, subchapter 3 for new construction or rehabilitation is to lower the cost of new construction or rehabilitation of residential properties in flood-impacted communities.

Act 181 created a new three-year property tax exemption for qualifying improvements to properties near certain designated areas in Vermont. Note that the exemption only applies to increase in appraisal value caused by the rehabilitation, not the full listed value of the property. Improvements qualify for the exemption if they are made to one or more dwellings that will be used as principal residences and meet the definition of rehabilitation found in 32 V.S.A. chapter 125, subchapter 3 among other requirements.

5.200 Session Law Exemptions

5.201 Permanent Session Law Exemptions (never codified)

Statute: Various Enacted: Multiple dates
Estimate: $49,000
of parcels: 4 identified

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(m)
The statutory purpose of the exemptions in Vermont permanent session law in 2008 Acts and Resolves No. 190, 1892 Acts and Resolves No. 213 (Holton Home, Brattleboro), 1945 Acts and Resolves No. 204 (Moose Lodge, Rutland City), 1939 Acts and Resolves No. 250 (Italian American Club, Rutland City), 1921 Acts and Resolves No. 31(American Legion, Rutland City), 1921 Acts and Resolves No. 262 (Knights of Columbus, Rutland City), 1910 Acts and Resolves No. 370 (Masonic Building Association, Brattleboro), and 1900 Acts and Resolves No. 244 (Masonic Temple, Rutland City), is to provide relief to specific properties that have demonstrated an individual purpose to the General Assembly.

The Legislature has enacted a number of property-specific permanent exemptions from education property tax. The ones that can be identified have been grouped together.

5.300 Property Taxed Under Alternate Scheme

5.301 Railroad Property

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3803(1)
Enacted: 1882
Alternative Tax: 32 V.S.A. § 8211

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(k)
The statutory purpose of the railroad property alternative tax method in subdivision 3803(1) of this title is to provide an alternative to the traditional valuation method in order to achieve consistency across municipalities.

An alternative tax is assessed on the appraised value of property and corporate franchise of each railroad company. The revenue is split between the State's general fund and the town where the railroad property is located.

5.302 Telephone Property

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 3803(2)
Enacted: 1882; Repealed eff. July 1, 2025 (2024 Act. No 145 Sec. 7)
Alternative Tax: 32 V.S.A. § § 8521 and 8522

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 3800(l)
The statutory purpose of the telephone property alternative tax method referenced in subdivision 3803(2) of this title is to provide an alternative to the to the traditional valuation method in order to achieve consistency across municipalities.

A company may elect either a telephone property tax of 2.37% of net book value or an alternative tax based on gross operating revenue. This is a General Fund tax source, rather than the Education Fund where property taxes and their alternatives are typically deposited.

5.304 Wind-Powered Electric Generating Facilities

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5401(10)(J)(i)
Enacted: 2008; amended 2012
Alternative Tax: 32 V.S.A. § 5402c(a)

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5400 (g)
The statutory purpose of the wind-powered electric generating facilities alternative tax scheme in subdivision 5401(10)(J)(i) of this title is to provide an alternative to the traditional valuation method in order to achieve consistent valuation across municipalities.

The buildings and fixtures (not the land) of wind-powered electric generating facilities that are one megawatt and over are exempt from education property tax. The alternate tax is $03 per kWh of electrical energy produced. The alternative tax was amended (2012 Act No. 127 Sec. 5) to apply to facilities that generate at least one megawatt instead of the original five megawatts. Smaller facilities are exempt.

5.305 Renewable Energy Plant Generating Electricity from Solar Power

Statute: 32 V.S.A. § 5401(10)(J)(ii)

Enacted: 2012
Alternative Tax: 32 V.S.A. §8701

Statutory Purpose: 32 V.S.A. § 5400 (h)
The statutory purpose of the renewable energy plant generating electricity from solar power alternative tax structure in subdivision 5401(10)(J)(ii) is to provide an alternative to the traditional valuation method in order to achieve consistent valuation across municipalities.

The fixtures and personal property (not land) of a solar electric renewable energy plant are exempt from the education property tax. Plants larger than 10 kWh are subject to a uniform capacity tax of $4 per kWh of plant capacity. Smaller facilities were exempt from both the property tax and the generation tax. The exemption for small facilities was repealed on January 1, 2023.

Description of Gasoline and Diesel Fuel and Motor Vehicle Purchase and Use Tax Expenditures

Act 160 (2010), Sec. 1 amended 32 V.S.A. §312 to add reporting on the gasoline tax, diesel fuel tax, and motor vehicle purchase and use tax to this report.

Gasoline Tax

There are no end user exemptions to the gasoline tax.

Diesel Fuel Tax and Transportation Infrastructure Bond (TIB) Fund Diesel Fuel Assessment

23 V.S.A. §3003 imposes on the sale of diesel fuel:

(1) a tax of $0.28 per gallon;

(2) a petroleum distributor license fee of $0.01 per gallon which is deposited in the petroleum cleanup fund; and

(3) a transportation infrastructure bond (TIB) fund assessment of $0.03 per gallon. This analysis treats exemptions from the tax, fee and assessment as all being tax expenditures and herein the term "tax" is all inclusive.

As specified in 23 V.S.A. §3003(d)(1), the following uses are exempted from the diesel fuel tax, the license fee and TIB assessment:

- off road uses for agricultural purposes;
- use by a vehicle registered as a farm truck;
- off road uses by any vehicle;
- uses by State or municipal entities (including school districts, fire districts); and
- use by a non-profit public transit agency.

Diesel fuel purchases by government entities and public transit agencies are excluded from this analysis. The Department of Motor Vehicles database is limited to information on the number of taxable and tax-exempt gallons sold and does not break down the aggregate numbers by user type. Therefore, this report does not estimate the tax expenditure value of the individual exemptions but instead provides one aggregate estimate for all the exemptions in 23 V.S.A. §3003(d)(1).

The Department of Motor Vehicles database of diesel transactions was reconfigured mid-fiscal year 2020, which necessitated a change in estimate methodology with the 2023 report. The tax expenditure estimates for years prior to fiscal year 2021 are derived by using data from several sources to estimate the quantity of diesel fuel purchases by State and local government entities and public transit agencies, which are not considered to be tax expenditures. These totals were then subtracted from the Department of Motor Vehicles' gross figure for tax-exempt gallons. Estimates for fiscal year 2021 and future years are derived from querying the new Department of Motor Vehicles system to exclude tax exempt diesel used by the Agency of Transportation, nonprofit transit agencies, and other government entities (where identifiable).

Motor Vehicle Purchase and Use Tax

Motor Vehicle Purchase and Use Tax – Specific Exemptions
Exemptions from the motor vehicle purchase and use tax are specified in 32 V.S.A §8911. The exemption for State and local government entities is excluded from the analysis.

The Department of Motor Vehicles database includes transactions exempted from the motor vehicle purchase and use tax in seven categories. Information is available on the vehicle type, make, model and year, but not the sales price. The expenditure estimate is derived by multiplying the number of transactions in each category by an estimate of the average motor vehicle purchase and use tax paid per taxable transaction.

Motor Vehicle Purchase and Use Tax – Trade-In Value Exemption
32 V.S.A §8902(4) and (5) define the purchase price subject to the motor vehicle purchase and use tax as, in general terms, being equal to the gross price paid minus the value of any trade-in involved in the transaction (broadly defined to include separate sales). It has been argued that a trade-in allowance constitutes a tax expenditure. It has also been argued that a trade-in allowance taxes the true net cost of the vehicle sale transaction and is necessary to avoid double taxation. In 2005, at the request of the House Ways and Means Committee, the Joint Fiscal Office provided revenue estimates for several options involving the elimination of the trade-in allowance, in whole or in part. The figures were an estimate of the additional motor vehicle purchase and use tax revenue that would have been generated had the trade-in allowance not existed in the fiscal year involved (adjusted for estimated demand effects). The estimate for a zero trade-in allowance was updated and is included in this report. Whether this revenue constitutes a tax expenditure or rather double taxation is a separate question.

32 V.S.A. § 312. Tax expenditure report

§ 312. Tax expenditure report

(a) As used in this section, "tax expenditure" shall mean the actual or estimated loss in tax revenue resulting from any exemption, exclusion, deduction, credit, preferential rate, or deferral of liability applicable to the tax. Tax expenditures shall not include the following:

(1) revenue outside the taxing power of the State;
(2) provisions outside the normal structure of a particular tax;
(3) revenue forgone as unduly burdensome to administer; and
(4) for the purpose of avoiding government taxing itself.

(b) Tax expenditure reports. Biennially, as part of the budget process, beginning January 15, 2009, the Department of Taxes and the Joint Fiscal Office shall file with the House Committees on Ways and Means and on Appropriations and the Senate Committees on Finance and on Appropriations a report on tax expenditures in the personal and corporate income taxes, sales and use tax, and meals and rooms tax, insurance premium tax, bank franchise tax, education property tax, diesel fuel tax, gasoline tax, motor vehicle purchase and use tax. The Office of Legislative Council shall also be available to assist with this tax expenditure report. The provisions of 2 V.S.A. § 20(d) (expiration of required reports) shall not apply to the report to be made under this subsection. The report shall include, for each tax expenditure, the following information:

(1) a description of the tax expenditure;
(2) the most recent fiscal information available on the direct cost of the tax expenditure in the past two years;
(3) the date of enactment of the expenditure;
(4) a description of and estimate of the number of taxpayers directly benefiting from the expenditure provision;
(5) a description of the statutory purpose explaining the policy goal behind the expenditure as required by subsection (d) of this section and 2013 Acts and Resolves No. 73, Sec. 5; and
(6) a compilation of the items excluded under subsection (a) of this section.

(c) Repealed.

(d) Every tax expenditure, as defined in subsection (a) of this section, in the tax expenditure report required by this section shall be accompanied in statute by a statutory purpose explaining the policy goal behind the exemption, exclusion, deduction, or credit applicable to the tax. The statutory purpose shall appear as a separate subsection or subdivision in statute and shall bear the title "Statutory Purpose." Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a tax expenditure listed in the tax expenditure report that lacks a statutory purpose in statute shall not be implemented or enforced until a statutory purpose is provided. The Department of Taxes shall notify the General Assembly when it has determined that a tax expenditure listed in the tax expenditure report lacks a statutory purpose, and the Department shall specify a date, no later than one year after its determination, that it will cease implementation or enforcement of the tax expenditure.

Notes:

1. Collections are for the Fiscal Year from July 1 through June 30 based on data from the Cardinal financial system Revenue Status Report (RGL008) and the final General Fund report for the fiscal year by Department of Accounts (DOA).
2. General Fund and Non-General Fund revenue for FY 2023 were revised from the prior-year TAX Annual Report to align with the final DOA General Fund report, which includes a transfer of Non-General Fund revenue to the General Fund from the State Corporation Commission and excludes certain other Transfers (e.g., ABC profits).
3. General Fund total revenues align to year-end totals reported by the Department of Accounts (DOA) in its final General Fund report for the fiscal year.
4. Includes all taxes administered by the Department of Taxation. The detailed table on the next page notes adjustments to collections, notably for the Bank Franchise Tax.
5. Note that collections By Other Agencies is the net difference of total Commonwealth collections minus collections by the Department of Taxation. Therefore, this calculation of collections By Other Agencies is an estimate affected by adjustments, primarily for Bank Franchise Tax.

Notes:

1. Totals in Table 1.7 may not match totals in previous tables due to minor variations in rounding.
2. Tax liability is before any tax credits but after the spouse tax adjustment.

* Returns not assigned to a locality are generally nonresident returns. In these cases, the taxpayer did not report a locality in which the Virginia portion of income was earned.

Notes:

1. Taxpayers may make voluntary contributions to qualifying organizations from their tax refunds or, for some organizations, tax payments. If the contribution exceeds an expected refund, it increases the amount of the tax payment.

2. Contributions are reported by taxable year for returns that are processed during the subsequent calendar year. For example, contributions reported for Taxable Year 2024 are from all returns processed in calendar year 2025. The majority of returns processed in calendar year 2025 are for TY 2024; however, some returns from previous taxable years maybe included.

3. Effective January 1, 2014, the General Assembly enacted legislation that allowed an individual to designate their individual income tax refund, or a portion thereof, to be deposited into one or more Virginia College Savings Plan accounts.

* Contributions to political parties are limited to $25 ($50 for each spouse on a joint return), see Va. Code § 58.1-344.3 (B) (3).

These Programs or Funds were removed from the 2016 Virginia Individual Income Tax return with the exception of 'Home Energy Assistance,' which was removed from the 2017 tax return. Any amount reported for Tax years 2022, 2023, and 2024 represent contributions made on returns filed for prior years processed in 2023, 2024, and 2025 respectively.

^ These Programs or Funds were removed from the 2019 Virginia Individual Income Tax return. Any amount reported for Tax years 2022, 2023, and 2024 represent contributions made on returns filed for prior years processed in 2023, 2024, and 2025 respectively.

Notes:

* This table is not comparable to equivalent tables in annual reports prior to FY 2006. Returns are selected for inclusion in this table if the tax reporting period on the return began in 2023. Reports prior to FY 2006 selected returns based on the state fiscal year in which they were received.

1. The tax rate is 6% of the corporation's Virginia taxable income, except in the case of certain energy suppliers and telecommunication companies that are subject to a Minimum Tax.
2. Tax assessed shown is before any credits.
3. If a corporation reports a negative taxable income, its taxable income is treated as zero in this table.
4. Excludes pass-through entities such as S corporations, partnerships and limited liability companies generally file Form 502. Any income flows through to owners of each pass-through entity and they report all taxable income on their tax returns.

Number of pass-through entity returns in Taxable Year 2023 = 287,300

Notes:

* Number of income tax returns for this credit is not available for release because fewer than four returns claiming the credit were processed in FY 2025.

1. Number of returns and amounts are for returns processed during FY 2025, regardless of taxable year. For most credits, returns for multiple taxable years were processed during the fiscal year. The total for each return may include carryovers from prior years.
2. If a return was amended or audited during the fiscal year, only the additional credit amount (or reduction) is included.
3. The amount shown for the Coalfields Employment Enhancement Tax credit includes the amount refunded to taxpayers, as well as that deposited with the Coalfields Economic Development Authority.
4. A refundable tax credit is one which is not limited by the amount of the taxpayer's tax liability.
5. Sunset in 2021. However, these credits are still being claimed because certain provisions of the credits delay when they may be claimed.
6. Repealed in 2021. However, these credits are still being claimed because certain provisions of the credits delay when they may be claimed.
7. Repealed in 2017. However, these credits are still being claimed because certain provisions of the credits delay when they may be claimed.
8. Repealed in 2013. However, these credits are still being claimed because certain provisions of the credits delay when they may be claimed.
9. The negative amount for the Barge and Rail Usage Tax Credit reflects an adjustment to a previously claimed credit from an earlier tax year.

Notes:

1. The sales and use tax on aircraft and on watercraft are reported separately in Tables 5.1 and 5.2, respectively.
2. The sales and use tax on motor vehicles is administered by the Department of Motor Vehicles and is not reported here.
3. Revenues of a 1% tax of the 4.3% state tax is returned to localities for education, based on each locality's school-age population.
4. The local option tax of 1% is distributed to localities based on point of sale. Local tax collections are net of all adjustments and costs of collection.
5. Revenues of a 3/8% tax of the 4.3% state tax is allocated to the Public Education Standards of Quality/Local Real Estate Property Tax Relief Fund.
6. The state tax on unprepared food for human consumption was reduced from 3.5 % to 3.0 % on January 1, 2000; reduced to 1.5 % on July 1, 2005; and eliminated effective January 1, 2023.
7. Effective July 1, 2013, the state tax was increased from 4% to 4.3%. Of the 0.3% increase, 0.175% goes to Highway Maintenance Operating Fund, 0.05% goes to Intercity Passenger Rail and 0.075% goes to Commonwealth Mass Transit Fund.
8. A new state tax of 0.7% was imposed on localities in Northern Virginia region and Hampton Roads region effective July 1, 2013, and in the Central Virginia region effective October 1, 2020.
9. Effective July 1, 2018, a new state tax of 1.0% was imposed on sales made in the Historic Triangle Region in the City of Williamsburg and the counties of James City and York, with the exception of food purchased for human consumption.
10. Effective FY 2010, dealers with annual taxable sales above a $1 million threshold were required to make a June payment equal to 90% of their sales and use tax liability for the previous June. The threshold was raised to $10 million for the payment due June 2021. This accelerated June payment was eliminated for the payment due June 2022.
11. Prior to FY 2017, the Commonwealth Accounting and Reporting System (CARS) was the data source for net revenue collections. Effective with FY 2017, the Revenue Status Report from the Cardinal financial system is the data source for net revenue collections. The exception is Additional Tax Certain Localities, which requires a custom report.
12. Effective July 1, 2019, the sales and use tax was extended to include remote sellers without a physical presence in the state. States were given the ability to do so by the U.S. Supreme Court's "Wayfair" decision of June 21, 2018.
13. For FY 2020 and prior years, the HMO fund amounts have been adjusted to include all SUT revenue deposited in the HMO fund; for this reason, the HMOF numbers reported in prior years may differ.
14. Starting in FY 2021, state transportation SUT revenues have been consolidated in the Commonwealth Transportation Fund per
15. Certain localities have statutory authority to levy an additional sales and use tax of up to one percent. Halifax (effective July 1, 2020) and Henry (effective April 1, 2021) counties were the first to impose this tax followed by Charlotte, Gloucester, Northampton, and Patrick counties in FY 2022; Danville City in FY 2023; and Pittsylvania County in FY 2024.

Notes:

* This table includes sales tax on Remote Sellers (i.e., Tax Type 12); Previously, the table included only sales tax on traditional sellers with a physical location in Virginia, which represented nearly the entirety of sales tax collections when the table originated in the years prior to the General Assembly's expansion of sales tax to remote sellers effective in FY 2020.

1. The current industry classifications are based on the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). Prior to 2005, different business classification codes were used.

2. NAICS are self-assigned by taxpayers based on their primary business activity. The U.S. Census Bureau's 2017 NAICS classifications have been the primary codes used by taxpayers, however the 2022 NAICS classification are starting to be used.

3. NAICS 442, 448, and 452 are old codes that should disappear over time as companies begin using the new NAICS 449, 458, and 455 codes from the 2022 NAICS classifications.

4. The taxable sales figures presented are based on Virginia sales tax revenue reported on the dealers' returns. However, the period covered by the report reflects all deposits received during the timeframe noted on the report, regardless of the taxpayer's filing period. Late filing of returns, and audits may result in year-over-year increases in taxable sales that do not reflect growth during the period covered by the table. Previously published figures for CY 2020 to 2023 have been updated to exclude the full amounts of amended returns from prior years, and this adjustment has been applied consistently across all years.

5. Not all sales are subject to the Retail Sales and Use Tax. Numerous sales are excluded or exempted.

1. The figures stated above are net of refunds.

2. One-half of the (Recordation & Deeds) revenues from the additional grantor's tax imposed at a rate of 50 cents on every $500 of value are deposited into the General Fund and one-half are deposited into the treasury of the locality. Effective July 1, 2013, a regional congestion fee is imposed at the rate of $0.15 per $100 in the Northern Virginia Region. Effective July 1, 2020, the regional congestion fee was replaced with a regional WMATA capital fee of $0.10 per $100 in any county or city that is a member of the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority and a regional congestion relief fee of $0.10 per $100 in any county or city that is a member of Planning District 8.

3. The tax on suits is $5 for debts under $50,000, $15 for debts $50,000 and greater but not exceeding $100,000, and $25 for debts $100,000 and greater. Prior to July 1, 2007, Virginia had an estate tax that was equal to the federal credit for state death taxes. With the elimination of the federal credit, the Virginia estate tax was effectively repealed.

4. The watercraft sales and use tax is imposed at a rate of 2 percent of the purchase price, up to a maximum of $2,000.

5. The rolling stock tax on railroads, freight car companies, and certified motor vehicle carriers is $1 on each $100 of assessed value.

6. The administration and collection of Insurance Premiums License Tax was transferred from SCC's Bureau of Insurance to the Department of Taxation, effective for taxable years beginning on or after January, 2013. Prior to Taxable Year 2015, depending on the line(s) of insurance from which the premiums were derived, the tax rates were 2.25%, 1.00%, and 0.75% for insurance companies. After Taxable Year 2015, depending on the line(s) of insurance from which the premiums were derived, the tax rates are 2.25% and 1.00% for insurance companies. Surplus lines brokers are subject to a rate of 2.25%. The figures above represent the General Fund share after the required transfer to the Transportation Trust Fund per Chapter 896, 2007 Acts of Assembly .

Notes:

1. Communications taxes in Virginia include: 5% Communications Sales tax on telecommunications services, 75¢ State E-911 tax for landline and Voice Over Internet Protocol (VoIP) phones, a wireless E-911 surcharge of $0.82 and a prepaid wireless E-911 charge of $0.55, and $1.20 Landline telephone and cable TV franchise right of way fees.
2. This tax is collected from consumers by their service providers and remitted to the Department of Taxation on a monthly basis. In cases where a consumer purchases taxable communications services and no tax is collected from the consumer on the purchase by the provider, the consumer is responsible for paying a communications use tax.
3. The distributions for FY 2025 were based on collections for May 2024 through April 2025.

Insurance Tax Credits Claimed on Returns Processed during FY 2025

| Credit | Number of Returns | Amount |
|---|---|---|
| Historic Rehabilitation Tax Credit | 15 | $35,884,779 |
| Guaranty Fund Assessment Tax Credit | 348 | 9,378,183 |
| Refundable Retaliatory Costs Tax Credit | 6 | 1,891,674 |
| Education Improvement Scholarships Tax | 2 | 130,000 |

Notes:

1. The administration and collection of Insurance Premiums License Tax was transferred from SCC's Bureau of Insurance to the Department of Taxation effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2013.

2. For insurance companies, taxable premium income means direct premium income allocated to Virginia after taking into account any adjustments. For surplus lines brokers, taxable premium income is premium income from policies for insureds whose home state is Virginia after taking into account any additional or returned premiums.

3. Insurance companies are subject to tax on their gross premium income. Depending on the line(s) of insurance from which the premiums were derived, the tax rates for taxable year 2021 were 2.25% and 1.00%. Surplus lines brokers are required to pay the tax on each policy of insurance they produce during the preceding calendar year with an insurer that is not licensed to conduct business in Virginia. Surplus lines brokers are subject to a rate of 2.25%.

4. Tax assessed shown is before any credits claimed.

5. If a company reports negative taxable premium income, its taxable premium income is treated as zero in this table.

6. Some columns may not match totals due to rounding.

7. The amount of insurance tax credits reported is for returns processed during FY 2025, regardless of taxable year. This table only lists insurance tax credits claimed that were greater than zero.

Notes:

1. The data in this table are as reported by local Commissioners of the Revenue and Assessors to the Virginia Department of Taxation, Property Tax Unit.
2. Levies do not include penalties and interest collected.
3. Taxable fair market value is the total fair market of real estate minus the special assessment for land preservation (Code of Virginia, Section 58.1-3230).
4. The taxable fair market value is equal to the total fair market value for localities which do not have a special assessment for land preservation.

Notes:

1. The data in this table are as reported by local Commissioners of the Revenue and Assessors to the Virginia Department of Taxation, Property Tax Unit.
2. Taxable fair market value is the total fair market of real estate minus the special assessment for land preservation (Code of Virginia, Section 58.1-3230).
3. The taxable fair market value is equal to the total fair market value for localities which do not have a special assessment for land preservation.

Notes:

The data in this table are as reported by local Commissioners of the Revenue and Assessors to the Virginia Department of Taxation, Property Tax Unit. The accuracy of the data can be impacted by various data recording and reporting limitations by locality.

1. The locality's data likely represents Personal Use and Business Use Vehicles combined. The localities that confirm they are unable to break out Personal Use only include: Appomattox, Bland, Craig, Greene, Henry, and Wythe counties, and Lexington and Radford cities. Botetourt County was able to break out Personal Use vehicles, but not other Personal Use metrics.
2. The locality has missing or incomplete data for Vehicle Count; Charles City has apparently incomplete data, which is evident in the calculation of Vehicles per Capita.
3. The locality has missing data for Assessed Value, and/or Tax. Smyth County's Tax Before PPTRA appears to be incomplete given that the calculation of Net Tax After PPTRA is negative.
4. The locality appears to have reported incomplete data for Assessed Value or Tax, which is evident in the calculation of Tax Per Vehicle and/or Effective Tax Rate.
5. Vehicles per Capita is calculated based on U.S. Census population data compiled by the Weldon Cooper Center at the University of Virginia.
6. PPTRA is tax relief on personal-use vehicles provided by the Personal Property Tax Relief Act (PPTRA) passed by the General Assembly in 1998 and amended in 2005.

Notes:

1. The Department's estimate of annual revenue impact of the nonprofit entity exemption is based on the amounts of exempt purchases reported to the Department by nonprofit entities on their applications for a new or renewed exemption under Va. Code § 58.1-609.11.

2. Each Fiscal Year, the State's blended Retail Sales and Use Tax rate is used to calculate the tax expenditure resulting from purchases made by Non-profit organizations. From Fiscal Year 2007 to Fiscal year 2013, the blended Retail Sales and Use Tax rate used to calculate the non-profit tax exemption was 5%. From Fiscal Year 2014 to Fiscal year 2019, the blended Retail Sales and Use Tax rate used to calculate the non-profit tax exemption was 5.67%. The blended rate was: 5.69% in FY 2020; 5.737% in FY 2021; 5.783% in FY 2022; 5.787% in FY 2023; 5.781% in FY 2024; 5.784% in FY 2025;

SUBJECT: 2024 Tax Exemption Study

The 2024 Tax Exemption Study is submitted to you pursuant to RCW 43.06.400. This edition is the fifteenth in a series of tax exemption studies, starting with the first report in 1984.

Study covers 786 tax exemptions
There are currently 786 tax exemptions for the major Washington state and local tax sources. The estimated savings in state and local taxes for taxpayers resulting from these exemptions total $192.1 billion for the 2023-25 biennium. For each exemption, the following is provided:

- A brief description.
- The purpose of the exemption.
- Taxpayer savings.
- Potential revenue gains from a full repeal of the exemption.
- Additional information, such as the year of enactment and the primary beneficiaries.

Study provided electronically
To reduce the cost of producing this study, we are providing it to you electronically. The report is also available on our website at: dor.wa.gov/about/statistics-reports.

Chapter One - Introduction and Summary of Findings

INTRODUCTION

The Tax Exemption Study lists exemptions for the major state and local taxes in Washington and is authorized by the Revised Code of Washington (RCW) 43.06.400.

Tax exemptions

The term tax exemption includes a variety of preferences that reduce tax liability for taxpayers. Tax exemptions include:

- Exclusions.
- Deductions.
- Credits.
- Deferrals.
- Preferential tax rates.
- Exemptions.

Department of Revenue (department) staff estimated the impact of each exemption. Sales and use tax exemptions for the same product or activity are included as a single estimate. In other cases, there are multiple estimates for a single statute to illustrate the impacts better.

The summary of each exemption includes:

- A brief description.
- The purpose of the exemption.
- Taxpayer savings.
- Potential revenue gains from a full repeal of the exemption.
- Additional information.

Taxpayer savings versus potential revenue gain

| Number of Incentives | STATE Taxpayer Savings (FY 2025) | STATE Revenues Realized from Repeal (FY 2025) |
| 786 | 54,689,446,000 | 24,600,443,000 |

Savings to taxpayers do not indicate the potential revenue that governmental jurisdictions would accrue if the exemption did not exist. For example, some exemptions will not increase state revenues by the same amount as the taxpayer savings due to:

- Constitutional prohibitions against taxing certain activities.
- Possible changes in taxpayer reporting behavior.
- Actual cash receipts are lower because of compliance factors.

The Tax Exemption Study does not include:

- Locally administered taxes such as the municipal business taxes.
- Discussion regarding tax policy related to the exemption.
- Recommendations to keep or terminate existing exemptions.

Forecast

All estimates use the March 2023 Economic and Revenue Forecast Council forecast unless otherwise noted.

Revised Code of Washington (RCW) Citation

The full RCW citation is included if it was available at the time that the exemption was analyzed.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

The current study analyzes 786 tax exemptions. The state and local impacts of these tax exemptions combine for an estimated taxpayer savings of $192.1 billion for the 2023-25 biennium. Approximately 56% of the total, or $107.4 billion, are exemptions from state taxes. Exemptions from local government taxes amount to $84.7 billion.

Table 1 summarizes the number of exemptions and the distribution of state and local impacts for the various types of taxes considered in this study.

Table 1
Summary of Tax Exemption Impacts by Tax Source
Estimated Taxpayer Savings
2023-25 Biennium ($ millions)

| Tax Source | Number of Exemptions | State Tax Savings | Local Tax Savings | Total Savings for Biennium |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Property Tax | 119 | $19,654.732 | $59,062.284 | $78,717.016 |
| In Lieu Excise Taxes | 51 | 329.860 | 258.625 | $588.485 |
| Business & Occupation Tax | 205 | 24,370.901 | 4,127.380 | $28,498.281 |
| Retail Sales & Use Tax | 230 | 42,541.680 | 20,677.860 | $63,219.540 |
| Other Business Taxes | 96 | 2,451.265 | 0.000 | $2,451.265 |
| All Other Taxes | 85 | 18,094.121 | 540.908 | $18,635.029 |
| Total | 786 | $107,442.559 | $84,667.057 | $192,109.616 |

Chart 1 shows tax savings by tax source as a percent of the total. Nearly 40% of the state impact is from retail sales and use tax exemptions, while more than 69% of local tax impact is from property tax exemptions.

Taxpayer savings versus potential revenue gains from a full repeal

Savings to taxpayers do not indicate the potential revenue that governmental jurisdictions would accrue if the exemption did not exist. For this reason, each exemption provides the estimated taxpayer savings plus the potential revenue gain from a full repeal of the exemption.

- For many excise taxes, there is a one-to-one relationship between the amount the taxpayers save and the amount the government gives up in potential revenues.
- Other exemptions may cause possible changes in taxpayer reporting behavior, which could restrict the potential revenues realized.
- Several exemptions exist because of constitutional reasons and are not a reliable source of potential new governmental revenue.
- Depending on the year a property tax exemption is repealed, it may increase state revenues or shift property taxes back to currently exempt taxpayers.

Table 2a shows the taxpayer savings for the 2023-25 biennium and the amount of potential revenue gains with a full repeal of the exemptions as of July 1, 2024. The potential gains reflect no collections in fiscal year 2024 and 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025, the second year of the biennium.

Taxpayer savings versus forecasted revenue collections

Table 3 and Chart 2 compare the estimated taxpayer savings from exemptions for selected state taxes with the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council forecasted revenues for those same tax sources.

The total taxpayer savings for these state taxes is $88.1 billion for the 2023-25 biennium, which is $31.1 billion more than the forecasted revenues of $57 billion.

Categorical Analysis

Tax exemptions are established for a variety of reasons. In an attempt to present more meaningful data for the various types of exemptions, eight categories were developed. Each exemption is assigned to the category that most closely represents its general purpose or type of beneficiary (recognizing that many exemptions serve multiple purposes).

A brief description of the exemption categories appears below:

| Category | Number of Exemptions | Brief Description of Category |
|---|---|---|
| Agriculture | 63 | There are a variety of property, B&O, sales, and other tax exemptions for agricultural businesses. |
| Business | 278 | These exemptions generally benefit business entities. |
| Government | 82 | Governmental jurisdictions include the federal government, the state of Washington, local governments, and foreign countries. |
| Individuals | 93 | These exemptions generally benefit people as opposed to businesses or other entities. |
| Interstate Commerce | 22 | The U.S. Constitution prohibits direct taxation of interstate commerce. The Legislature has enacted exemptions to ensure Washington does not violate this requirement. |
| Nonprofit | 95 | There are a variety of property, B&O, and sales tax exemptions allowed for nonprofit organizations. |
| Tax Base | 87 | This category includes activities the Legislature purposefully excluded in the original tax base. For example, there is an exemption to assure employees are not subject to B&O tax on their salaries and wages. |
| Other | 66 | Some exemptions do not fit easily into one category. These are included in the "Other" category. As an example, the exemption for intangibles benefits the agricultural industry, businesses, and individuals. |

Table 4 summarizes the results of the categorical analysis. Tax base, individuals, and business represent the top three categories with 34.6%, 19.4%, and 15.1%, respectively.

Tax exemptions enacted by year

Until 1935, no more than a half dozen new exemptions appeared in any single year. With the adoption of the Revenue Act of 1935 came many new exemptions; 43 of which are still in statute today. These were associated with:

- Retail sales and use taxes.
- B&O tax.
- Various other new state excise taxes.

Table 5 shows the number of current tax exemption statutes over time, starting in Washington's territorial days.

48.32.130 - Insurance guarantee association

Description

The Washington Insurance Guarantee Association (Association) is exempt from all fees and taxes levied by the state or its political subdivisions, except taxes levied on real or personal property.

The Association protects policyholders from insolvent insurers. Insurance companies pay an assessment to the Association to provide funding for payments to any policyholders whose insurance company is unable to provide compensation under the terms of their policies.

Purpose

To protect insurance policyholders and reflect the fact that the receipt of assessments from insurance companies by the Association does not represent engaging in business.

82.04.120(2)(a) - Hay cubing

Description

Manufacturing excludes cubing hay or alfalfa (compacting hay into small cubes for shipping, mainly to foreign markets) for B&O tax purposes. As a result, farmers who compact their own hay or alfalfa into cubes for sale at wholesale, are not subject to B&O tax.

Persons who cube hay or alfalfa for others are subject to the service or wholesaling B&O tax depending on where the activity takes place. Activity taking place on the grower's land is a service, while activity performed elsewhere is a wholesale transaction.

82.04.240(2) - Semiconductor materials manufacturing after $1 billion investment

Description

Businesses manufacturing semiconductor materials are subject to the B&O tax at a rate of 0.275%, instead of the general manufacturing rate of 0.484%.

The lower tax rate is contingent upon the commencement of a commercial operation of a new semiconductor microchip fabrication facility with an investment in new buildings and equipment amounting to at least $1 billion prior to January 1, 2024. # 82.04.260(12) - Timber and wood products extracting or manufacturing

Description

Persons extracting or manufacturing timber and selling timber and wood products at wholesale receive a preferential B&O tax rate of 0.2904% (0.3424%, if including 0.052% surcharge). Previously, these activities were subject to a B&O tax rate of 0.484%.

This special rate also applies to the manufacturing of mass timber products.

Persons selling standing timber, if severed within 30 months of the sale agreement, receive a Real Estate Excise Tax (REET) exemption under this preference and pay B&O tax at 0.2904% (0.3424%, if including 0.052% surcharge). Without this preference, these activities would be subject to REET instead of B&O tax.

Both the preferential tax rate and surcharge expire July 1, 2045.

Purpose

To encourage businesses in the timber industry to continue operating in Washington.

82.04.280 - Rental of real estate

Description

Income from the long-term rental of real estate is not subject to B&O tax. Long-term means a continuous period of one month or more.

In 1959, the legislature extended the B&O tax to income from the rental of real estate. The following year the State Supreme Court ruled the tax to be unconstitutional in Apartment Operators Association of Seattle v. Schumacher, 56 Wn. 2d 46 (1960). The Washington Supreme Court later questioned the validity of Schumacher, but never specifically overturned the holding. While Chapter 82 RCW does not explicitly provide an exclusion for the rental of real estate it also does not include the activity in the list of those subject to tax.

Purpose

The Supreme Court held that a B&O tax on rental income constitutes a tax on property. The State Constitution requires that property taxes be levied uniformly and B&O tax, in addition to property taxes, would result in non-uniform taxation.

Taxpayer savings

($ in millions):

| | FY 2024 | FY 2025 | FY 2026 | FY 2027 |

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 |

Repeal of exemption

Taxing real estate rental income would directly challenge Washington Supreme Court precedent (Shumacher) and likely lead to another court challenge. Based on subsequent decisions by the court, the court may overturn Schumacher leading to an increase in revenue, but it is just as likely for the court to uphold Schumacher leading to no increase in revenue.

82.04.280 - Rental of real estate

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- Growth rate mirrors the annual growth for the housing market indicator rate reflected in the March 2023 S&P Global Market Intelligence forecast.
- This estimate uses an effective service and other activities B&O tax rate of 1.6975% to estimate revenues.
- Only 25% of the income from lessors of residential real estate would be subject to this tax, as most would be excluded due to the small amount of revenue received or because the rentals were short-term and already subject to the tax.
- There is significant litigation risk associated with this proposal. This estimate uses the following compliance factors to estimate collections:
  - 13% revenue collections in fiscal year 2025.
  - 26% revenue collections in fiscal year 2026.
  - 39% revenue collections in fiscal year 2027.

82.04.280(1)(f) - Radio and TV broadcasting

Description

Radio and television broadcasters may deduct gross receipts from national, network, and regional advertising from the measure of B&O tax. Broadcasters calculate the national, network, and regional advertising deduction using either:

- A standard deduction rate published by the department.
- By itemization using actual receipts.

Radio and television broadcasters receive a preferential B&O tax rate of 0.484% on the gross receipts from advertising rather than the service and other activities B&O tax rate of 1.5% or 1.75%.

Purpose

Broadcasts which cross the state's boundaries and advertising income derived from outside the state may constitute interstate commerce.

82.04.287 - Alternative jet fuel

Description

Persons who manufacture, wholesale, and retail alternative jet fuel pay a preferential B&O tax rate of 0.275% rather than the manufacturer and wholesale B&O tax rate of 0.484% and the retailing B&O rate of 0.471%.

Alternative jet fuel means fuel blended and used with conventional petroleum jet fuels without the need to modify aircraft engines. It also has a lower carbon intensity than the annual carbon intensity standard, and it does not include conventional jet fuel.

The preferential rates become effective the first day of the quarter immediately following the month when the Department of Ecology notifies the department when one or more facilities are operating in Washington with a cumulative production capacity of at least 20 million gallons of alternative jet fuel each year.

A person taking the preferential rates must file an annual tax performance report with the department.

The preferential rates expire nine calendar years after the close of the calendar year in which the tax rates take effect.

Purpose

To encourage the production of alternative jet fuels in Washington.

82.04.290(1) - International investment management services

Description

Businesses providing qualifying international investment management services (IIMS) receive a preferential B&O tax rate of 0.275% rather than the service and other activities B&O tax rate of 1.5% or 1.75%.

A business is engaged in qualifying IIMS if it meets all the following qualifications:

- Primary business activity is providing investment management services.
- At least 10% of its gross income is from providing IIMS to a qualifying collective investment fund.
- More than 25% of the business's employees are located in Washington.
- The business is a member of an affiliated group with all the following:
  - 10 or more offices located in at least eight foreign countries.
  - At least 500 full-time employees worldwide.
  - Worldwide gross revenue of more than $400 million during the current or preceding calendar year.
  - Average assets under management of more than $200 billion during the current or preceding calendar year.

82.04.2909 - Aluminum manufacturing and wholesaling

Description

Income from businesses using an aluminum smelter to manufacture and wholesale aluminum receive a preferential B&O tax rate of 0.2904%. Income from manufacturing and wholesaling non-aluminum products is subject to the manufacturing and wholesaling B&O tax rate of 0.484%.

Purpose

Provides tax relief to the aluminum industry by providing a reduced B&O rate to manufacturers, processors for hire, and wholesalers.

82.04.298(2) - Grocery distribution co-ops

Description

Qualified grocery cooperatives can take a deduction from the gross proceeds of sales of groceries for resale to their members that is equal to the portion of the gross proceeds of sales for resale that represents the actual cost of the merchandise sold to members. However, commission income is subject to tax under the service classification.

Purpose

82.04.299(2)(a)(i) - Hospitals exempt from workforce education surcharges

Description

Select advanced computing businesses pay the workforce education investment surcharge of 1.22% on service and other activities B&O income. Hospitals (as defined in RCW 70.41.020) are exempt from the surcharge.

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 |

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and in fiscal year 2025 impacts three quarters of workforce education investment advanced computing surcharge (ACS) tax collections.
- Growth rate mirrors the service B&O taxable activity growth rate reflected in the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council's March 2023 forecast.
- A hospital whose affiliated group has over $25 billion in revenues will have at least one affiliate engaging in advanced computing services.
- The ACS is filed quarterly on one return on behalf of all entities in an affiliated group.
- The ACS tax paid is capped at $9 million per calendar year for an affiliated group. Because this repeal is effective on July 1, 2024, taxpayers who normally meet the cap by the third or fourth quarter of a calendar year will owe tax for those quarters in the first impacted year. Therefore, tax collections in the first impacted year are higher than the subsequent years.
- This estimate does not identify or consider affiliates of the taxpayers affected by this repeal when determining whether an affiliated group engaged in advanced computing has met the $9 million cap. If a taxpayer has affiliated businesses in their advanced computing group that are not hospitals, this may affect the revenue gain from this repeal.

82.04.299(2)(a)(ii) - Provider clinics exempt from workforce education surcharges

Description

Select advanced computing businesses pay the workforce education investment surcharge of 1.22% on service and other activities B&O income. Provider clinics offering primary care, multispecialty, surgical, or behavioral health services are exempt from the surcharge. Affiliates of the provider clinic are also exempt from the surcharge if the affiliate meets one of the following:

- Offers health care services or provides administrative support for the provider clinic.
- Is an independent practice association.
- Is an accountable care organization.

82.04.330 - Agricultural producers

Description

Farmers who make wholesale sales of agricultural products; or grow, raise, or produce agricultural products owned by others are exempt from B&O tax. "Farmer" means any person engaged in the business of growing, raising, or producing, upon the person's own lands or upon the lands in which the person has a present right of possession, any agricultural product to be sold, and the growing, raising, or producing honeybee products for sale, or providing bee pollination services, by an eligible apiarist. "Farmer" does not include a person growing, raising, or producing such products for the person's own consumption; a person selling any animal or substance obtained therefrom in connection with the person's business of operating a stockyard or a slaughter or packing house; or a person in respect to the business of taking, cultivating, or raising timber.

Eligible apiarists are also exempt from B&O tax on sales of bee pollination services to a farmer. "Eligible apiarist" means a person who owns or keeps one or more bee colonies and who grows, raises, or produces honeybee products for sale at wholesale and is registered with Washington Department of Agriculture.

This B&O tax exemption does not apply to retailers of agricultural products at retail or manufacturers of articles or substances.

Purpose

To aid an industry that was severely depressed in 1935 when the exemption was enacted. The exemption recognizes the low profit margins and high transportation costs faced by most farmers.

82.04.340 - Boxing and wrestling matches

Description

Income from businesses conducting boxing, sparring, or wrestling matches that require to be licensed through the Department of Licensing are exempt from B&O tax.

Purpose

The purpose of the exemption was to avoid double taxation, as these businesses were subject to a gross receipts tax on ticket sales. In 2009, this tax was changed to a fee. The fee is 6% of gross admissions receipts and $1 per ticket sold. These funds are deposited into the business and professions account to cover the costs of licensing and regulating these professions.

82.04.360 - Income of employees

Description

Employees and servants are exempt from the B&O tax for their income.

The exemption does not extend to corporate board directors, or to licensed cosmetologists, barbers, estheticians, and manicurists who pay a fee to use part of a salon, but do not receive compensation from the owner. They must pay B&O tax.

Purpose

Provides a B&O tax exemption for those not engaged in business as independent contractors. Washington's Constitution does not allow a personal income tax. B&O tax applied to employee income may be considered a personal income tax.

Taxpayer savings

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 |

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts nine months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- Annual growth mirrors the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council forecast for wages.
- Employers must withhold wages and remit the tax to the department; the department receives quarterly payments, first due in October 2024.
- The B&O tax rate for service and other activities is:
  - 1.5% for taxpayers with less than $1 million in service/other taxable during the prior year, and
  - 1.75% for taxpayers a greater amount of service/other taxable during the prior year.
- The small business tax credit applies, using the Service and Other Activities classifications.
- Compliance:
  - 90% revenue collections in Fiscal Year 2025, and
  - 95% revenue collections in Fiscal Year 2026 and thereafter.

82.04.390 - Real estate sales

Description

Proceeds from selling real estate are exempt from B&O tax. However, commissions, fees, interest, and similar financial charges from selling real estate are subject to B&O taxes.

Purpose

Since the inception of B&O tax, sales of real estate have been exempt. Although the purpose is unclear, it could be because either:

- The B&O tax was intended to tax only sales of tangible personal property and certain services.
- Exempting such sales would benefit the real estate industry, as such sales would be subject to real estate excise tax but not B&O tax (note that sales of tangible personal property are subject to both sales tax and retailing B&O tax).

Taxpayer savings

($ in millions):

| | FY 2024 | FY 2025 | FY 2026 | FY 2027 |

| Local Taxes | $1,907.400 | $2,218.500 | $2,426.800 | $2,692.600 |

Repeal of exemption

Taxing real estate sales would directly challenge Washington Supreme Court precedent (Schumacher) and likely lead to another court challenge. Based on subsequent decisions by the court, the court may overturn Schumacher, leading to an increase in revenue, but it is just as likely for the court to uphold Schumacher, leading to no increase in revenue.

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- Growth rate mirrors the growth of real estate excise tax (REET) has reflected in the March 2023 Economic and Revenue Forecast Council forecast.
- Local revenue estimates use the statewide average local sales and use tax rate of 2.92%.
- The department receives REET data electronically from 36 counties. For the three counties without electronic reporting, this estimate assumes sales similar to the urban or rural counties.
- Real estate sales can be subject to B&O tax , state and local sales taxes, and REET.

82.04.392 - Trust account amounts received by mortgage brokers

Description

Amounts received by mortgage brokers from borrowers for payment of third-party services are trust funds held in trust accounts until disbursement (RCW 19.146.050). The amounts received by mortgage brokers from trust accounts for payment of third-party services are exempt from B&O tax.

82.04.399 - Academic transcripts

Description

Educational institutions are exempt from B&O tax on income from sales of academic transcripts.

Purpose

Educational institutions which are considered departments and institutions of the state of Washington (like the University of Washington) are not subject to B&O tax and would not be subject to the tax on sales of transcripts regardless of this exemption. Private institutions, however, would be subject to B&O tax on such sales. This exemption provides that all educational institutions, public or private, are exempt from B&O tax on amounts received from sales of transcripts, and thus levels the playing field for public and private educational institutions with respect to these sales.

- Growth rate for use tax mirrors the sales and use taxes growth rate reflected in the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council's March 2023 forecast.
- The B&O growth rate for state-chartered credit unions is the compound annual growth rate over the last five years.
- Large and medium sized state-chartered credit unions will convert to a federally-chartered credit union. Smaller credit unions will remain state-chartered. A "small" credit union has less than 10,000 members.
- As a federal entity, a federally-chartered credit union is exempt from sales and use taxes. Credit unions converting to federally-chartered will no longer report sales and use taxes.

82.04.422(2) - Accommodation sales of automobiles

Description

New car dealers are exempt from the wholesaling B&O tax for wholesale sales of new vehicles to other new car dealers of the same make of vehicle.

Purpose

Recognizes these sales are for the convenience of dealers to enable them to meet customer demand and do not represent profit for the seller.

82.04.425 - Accommodation sales

Description

Wholesale sales between businesses regularly selling the same type of property are exempt from B&O tax where the sale is at a cost to a buyer with an existing order for the product from a customer or occurs within 14 days as a reimbursement in-kind for a previous accommodation sale.

Additionally, sales by a wholly owned subsidiary to its parent company are exempt from B&O tax when the parent sells the goods in a transaction that qualifies for the sales tax exemption for sales to U.S. government and pays the B&O tax.

Purpose

Exempts wholesale sales made between businesses solely for the purpose of adjusting inventories to satisfy customer demand.

82.04.4274 - Nonprofit property management

Description

Nonprofit property management companies may deduct income received for paying on-site employees from a:

- Property owner.
- Housing authority.
- Limited liability company or limited partnership where the only managing member or general partner is a housing authority.

Purpose

To treat the income as pass-through. The management company supervises the on-site personnel, but the wages are ultimately the obligation of the owner.

82.04.4311 - Medicare payments to public and nonprofit hospitals

Description

Public and nonprofit hospitals and community health centers receive a B&O tax deduction for health care services received from the federal Medicare program, state health programs under Chapter 74.09 RCW, or the state's basic health program under Chapter 70.47. The deduction applies whether the revenues are received directly from these programs or through managed health care organizations. The deduction is limited to payments from these governmental programs and does not extend to patient copayments or deductibles.

Purpose

To recognize that the provision of health services to people who receive federal or state subsidized health benefits by reason of age, disability, or income level is a necessary and vital governmental function.

82.04.43395(1) - Accountable communities of health

Description

Accountable Communities of Health (ACHs) may take a B&O tax deduction for Medicaid delivery system reform incentive payments and transformation project funding distributed by the Health Care Authority (HCA) through Medicaid demonstration project number 11-W-00304/0. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) approved the project in accordance with Sec. 1115(a) of the Social Security Act.

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act allows for CMS to approve demonstration projects giving states flexibility to design and improve their Medicaid programs. These projects intend to demonstrate and evaluate state-specific experimental policy approaches to determine whether there are alternative means to better serve Medicaid populations. Projects must be budget neutral to the Federal Government.

For the purposes of this deduction, an ACH is a regional nonprofit designated by the HCA to work together with the health care delivery system, health plans, public health, social services, community-based organizations, the justice system, schools, tribal partners, and local government leaders to improve the health equity of their communities as part of this specific demonstration project.

Purpose

To promote a more consistent tax structure, and adhere to CMS tax uniformity regulations, by allowing ACHs and qualifying hospitals to take a deduction similar to that taken by other nonprofit and public-private health care organizations.

82.04.43396 - Scan down allowances

Description

Sellers may take a B&O tax deduction for income received from scan-down allowances.

"Scan-down allowance" means a payment or credit offered to a seller by a manufacturer or wholesaler of products, where all the following are true:

- The amount of the payment or credit is based on the quantity of the product to be sold at retail by the seller within a specified period.
- The seller knew the terms of the offer before making the sales.
- The seller is not required to provide any services or engage in any business activities directly or indirectly benefiting the manufacturer or wholesaler.

"Product" is defined as:

- Food and food ingredients, whether or not exempt from sales tax.
- Pet food and specialty pet food.

Purpose

To resolve an issue regarding the application of B&O tax law. This also lowers taxes for grocers, grocer manufacturers, and grocer wholesalers.

82.04.436 - Manufacturing alternative jet fuel

Description

A B&O tax credit is available to those manufacturing alternative jet fuel. The credit equals $1 per gallon of alternative jet fuel having at least 50% less carbon dioxide (CO2) equivalent emissions than conventional jet fuel and is sold by either:

- A business manufacturing alternative jet fuel located in a qualifying county with a population less than 650,000 at the time of an application to the department.
- A business's designated fuel blender located in Washington.

The credit amount must increase by 2 cents for each additional 1% reduction in CO2 equivalent emissions beyond 50%, not to exceed $2 per gallon. The credit is calculated only on the portion of jet fuel that is considered alternative jet fuel and does not include conventional jet fuel when such fuels are blended or otherwise used in a jet fuel mixture.

The credit may be earned from the first day of the quarter immediately following the month when the Department of Ecology notifies the department when one or more facilities are operating in Washington with a cumulative production capacity of at least 20 million gallons of alternative jet fuel each year. No credit may be earned beginning nine calendar years after the close of the calendar year in which the contingency occurs.

Manufacturers claiming this credit must reduce the wholesale price of alternative jet fuel by the amount of the claimed credit.

The credit earned during one calendar year may be carried over and claimed against taxes incurred only for the next subsequent calendar year. The department cannot grant refunds.

Purpose

To encourage the production of alternative jet fuels in Washington.

82.04.4361 - Using alternative jet fuel

Description

A B&O tax credit is available to those using alternative jet fuel. The rules to apply for credits against B&O and PU taxes are the same; however, credits cannot be claimed against both public utility tax and B&O tax for the same fuel purchased.

The credit equals $1 per gallon of alternative jet fuel having at least 50% less CO2 equivalent emissions than conventional jet fuel that a business purchased in the prior calendar year for use in flights departing in Washington.

The credit amount must increase by 2 cents for each additional 1% reduction in CO2 equivalent emissions beyond 50%, not to exceed $2 per gallon. The credit is calculated only on the portion of jet fuel considered alternative jet fuel and does not include conventional jet fuel when such fuels are blended or otherwise used in a jet fuel mixture.

82.04.440(2,3) - Multiple activities tax credit - instate

Description

Businesses engaging in multiple taxable activities in Washington with respect to a product may take a credit so tax is effectively paid for only one of the activities. For example, a business that manufactures and/or extracts and sells a product receives a credit for taxes paid on manufacturing and/or extracting activities.

Purpose

82.04.447 - Natural gas sold to direct service industry (DSI)

Description

Direct Service Industry (DSI) customers (persons who purchase electric power directly from the Bonneville Power Administration) may take a B&O tax credit for the amount of public utility tax due on purchases of natural or manufactured gas used to generate electric power consumed by the DSI customer at its own gas turbine electrical generation facility. The DSI customer may use the tax credit for 60 months following the first qualifying gas purchase and the DSI customer must maintain its existing level of employment to take the credit.

Purpose

To encourage DSI customers to continue manufacturing in Washington by constructing their own natural gas-powered turbines after their BPA power contracts expire.

82.04.448 - Semiconductor materials manufacturing after $1 billion investment - new jobs credit

Description

Businesses may take a B&O tax credit of $3,000 for each new manufacturing job created in new structures that manufacture semiconductor materials up to eight consecutive years if the position is kept on a consecutive annual basis. If the employee works for less than six months during a calendar year, then the credit is reduced to half or $1,500.

The credit is contingent on commencement of commercial operations by a new semiconductor materials fabrication facility with an investment in new buildings and equipment amounting to at least $1 billion. This credit expires January 1, 2024, unless the contingency is met.

Purpose

To retain and attract semiconductor businesses in Washington.

82.04.4481 - Aluminum smelter credit for property taxes paid

Description

Aluminum smelter businesses are eligible for a B&O credit equal to all qualifying property taxes paid during the calendar year. To qualify, the property must meet the following:

- Owned by a direct service industrial customer.
- Reasonably necessary for an aluminum smelter's purposes.

The B&O tax credit may be:

- Carried over and applied against B&O taxes incurred in the subsequent calendar year only.
- Taken for property taxes paid after July 1, 2004, through calendar year 2026.

The B&O tax credit is non-refundable and must be applied to B&O tax due before new credits are applied. A business claiming this B&O tax credit must file an annual tax performance report with the department.

82.04.4482 - Aluminum smelter purchases of electricity or natural gas

Description

Businesses selling electricity, natural gas, or manufactured gas are exempt from B&O tax on sales made to an aluminum smelter when the contract requires the seller to pass the tax savings on to the buyer in the form of reduced power prices. The seller takes the exemption in the form of a tax credit.

This tax incentive applies principally to sellers of brokered natural gas because most sellers of power are subject to public utility tax and not B&O.

82.04.4488 - Conversion to worker-owned cooperative, employee ownership trust, or employee stock ownership plan

Description

Beginning July 1, 2024, qualifying businesses that convert to employee ownership structures may apply for a B&O tax credit. The total amount of credits authorized may not exceed an annual statewide limit of $2 million.

For each business converting to an employee stock ownership plan, the credit equals up to 50% of the conversion costs, not to exceed $100,000.

For each business converting to a worker-owned cooperative or employee ownership trust, the credit equals up to 50% of conversion costs, not to exceed $25,000.

Each business may carry over unused credit to subsequent tax periods, as long it does so within 12 months of conversion.

The credit expires on July 1, 2030.

82.04.4496(1) - Alternative fuel commercial vehicle tax credit

Description

A credit is allowed against either B&O or PU tax for the purchase or lease of new or qualifying used commercial vehicles powered by a clean alternative fuel, or the conversion of vehicles to be powered by a clean alternative fuel.

The credit is equal to 75% of the incremental cost amount, which is the difference in price between the qualified vehicle's purchase price and a comparable conventionally-fueled vehicle, or the maximum credit amount for that vehicle, whichever is smaller. For leased vehicles, the credit is equal to 50% of the incremental cost amount multiplied by a lease reduction factor. For converted vehicles, the credit is $25,000 or 50% of the conversion costs, whichever is smaller. The maximum credit amount per vehicle is $25,000, $50,000, or $100,000, depending on the gross weight of the vehicle.

"Qualifying used commercial vehicle" means a vehicle with an odometer reading of less than 450,000 miles; that is less than 10 years past the original manufacturing date; is modified after the initial purchase with a U. S. environmental protection agency certified conversion that would allow the propulsion units to be principally powered by a clean alternative fuel; and is being sold for the first time after modification. Only vehicles used for commercial services or to transport commodities, merchandise, produce, refuse, freight, animals, or passengers and display a Washington license plate qualify for the credit. All commercial vehicles that provide transportation to passengers must be operated by an auto transportation company. The definition of auto transportation company is amended to include private, nonprofit transportation providers, charter party carriers, and paratransit service providers who primarily provide special needs transportation to individuals with disabilities and the elderly.

A credit is allowed for up to 50% of the cost to purchase alternative fuel vehicle infrastructure which includes tangible personal property that will become a component and installation and construction of alternative fuel vehicle infrastructure. Credit for infrastructure is limited to $2 million annually.
On September 1st of each year, any unused credits from any category, must be made available to applicants applying for credits under any other category, subject to the maximum annual credit of $6 million. The maximum total credit taken since July 15, 2015, cannot exceed $32.5 million.

82.04.540(2) - Professional employer organization wages

Description

A professional employer organization (PEO) may deduct the actual cost of wages and salaries, benefits, workers' compensation, payroll taxes, withholding, and similar items paid to or on behalf of certain employees who are co-employed by the PEO and a client of the PEO.

Purpose

To exclude pass-through payroll expenses from B&O tax.

82.04.545 - Electricity or gas sold to silicon smelters

Description

Persons subject to B&O tax are eligible to take a credit against the tax on the gross income from sales of electricity, natural gas or manufactured gas made to a silicon smelter. The credit is equal to the gross income from the sale multiplied by the corresponding tax rate in effect at the time of the sale. The person taking the credit must specify in the contract of sale of electricity or gas to the silicon smelter that the price charged will be reduced by the credit amount. Resale or remarketing of the electricity or gas originally obtained by contract for the smelting process is not eligible for the credit. The department must provide a separate tax reporting line for the B&O tax credit.

This tax preference expires on July 1, 2027. If smelters do not meet the employment requirements, the tax preference will expire on January 1, 2024.

Purpose

To promote the manufacturing of silicon for use in production of photovoltaic cells for solar energy systems.

82.04.610 - Interstate commerce - import and export shipments

Description

The sale of tangible personal property in export commerce is exempt from B&O tax.

Tangible personal property is in export commerce when the seller delivers the property to the:

- Buyer in a foreign country.
- Carrier consigned to transport the property to a foreign country.
- Buyer at shipside or aboard the buyer's vehicle of transportation and it is clear the export process has started.
- Buyer who is in Washington if the property can be transported to a foreign destination under its own power, the seller files an export declaration and the buyer immediately transports the product to a foreign country (excludes motor vehicles).

The sale of tangible personal property in import commerce is not exempt from B&O tax, except for the following wholesale sales:

- Sales of unroasted coffee beans.
- Sales between a parent company and its wholly owned subsidiary.

Purpose

Codifies the department's tax policies regarding imports and exports (WAC 458-20-193C). This statute provides clarity concerning the taxation of property in the process of international shipment.

82.04.610 - Interstate commerce - import and export shipments

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- Due to the volatility found from year to year, this estimate assumes 3% growth into the future.
- Wholesalers in selected NAICS codes that have a greater chance of exporting were selected as a proxy for this analysis.
- Selected NAICS includes wholesalers of lumber products and fish or seafood.
- Census data was used to estimate the exempted importing activity.
- This estimate assumes taxpayers that can, will move their delivery destination to keep their products in the federal stream of commerce and therefore a low level of compliance is assumed.
- Compliance for export shipment income:

82.04.627 - Commercial airplane parts

Description

The sale of parts to the manufacturer of a commercial airplane is deemed to take place at the site of final testing or inspection under federal aviation regulation part 21 subpart F or G. Parts sold by Washington sellers for delivery to out-of-state locales are exempt from the state B&O tax if these criteria are met.

The sale of following parts and products are not eligible for an exemption from B&O tax under this section:

- Standard parts manufactured in compliance with a government or established industry specification.
- Products produced under a technical standard order authorization or letter of technical standard order design approval pursuant to federal aviation regulation part 21, subpart O.

82.04.628 - Commercial fertilizer, agricultural crop protection products, and seed

Description

An eligible distributor may claim a B&O tax exemption for the gross proceeds of wholesale sales of the following products to an eligible retailer.

An "eligible distributor" means a wholesaler who purchases commercial fertilizer, agricultural crop protection products, and seed from the manufacturer and resells those products only to eligible retailers who:
- Are not affiliated persons.
- Have an ownership interest in an entity that has 50% or more ownership interest in the wholesaler.

“Affiliated persons” means persons who have any ownership interest, whether direct or indirect, in each other, or where any ownership interest, whether direct or indirect, in each of the persons by another person or by a group of other persons that are affiliated with respect to each other.

“Eligible retailer” means a person engaged in the business of making retail sales of commercial fertilizer, agricultural crop protection products, and seed that also holds at least a 5% ownership interest in an entity that holds 50% or more ownership interest in an eligible distributor.

Other distributors are not eligible for this exemption. This exemption does not have an expiration.

82.04.759 - Newspapers - eligible digital content

Description

A B&O exemption is available for amounts received from any of the following activities:

- Printing and/or publishing newspapers.
- Publishing of “eligible digital content” by printers and/or publishers who reported under the printing and publishing tax classification in 2008.

"Newspaper" means:

- A publication issued regularly at stated intervals at least twice a month and printed on newsprint in tabloid or broadsheet format folded loosely together without stapling, glue, or any other binding of any kind, including any supplement of a printed newspaper.
- An electronic version of a printed newspaper that:
  - Shares content with the printed newspaper.
  - Is prominently identified by the same name as the printed newspaper or otherwise conspicuously indicates that it is a complement to the printed newspaper.

"Eligible digital content" is a publication:

- Published at regularly stated intervals of at least once a month.
- Featuring written content, the largest category of which, as determined by word count, contains material that identifies the author or the original source of the material.
- Made available to readers exclusively in an electronic format.

82.04.775 - Carbon credits

Description

State law imposes a low-carbon fuel standard to reduce levels of air pollutants and greenhouse gas emissions. The Department of Ecology manages the clean fuel standards (Clean Fuels Program) to reduce the carbon intensity of transportation fuels in Washington. The Clean Fuels Program allows for the generation and trading of credits, each representing one metric ton of carbon dioxide emissions.

Income businesses receive from the generation, purchase, sale, transfer, or retirement of carbon credits under the Clean Fuels Program is exempt from B&O tax.

82.62.030; 82.62.045 - Rural county and Community Empowerment Zone (CEZ) new jobs

Description

A B&O tax credit is available for each new employment position created by a business located in a rural county engaged in the following activities:

- Manufacturing.
- Computer-related programming and services performed by a manufacturer.
- Research and development.
- Commercial testing laboratories.

A rural county has an average population density of fewer than 100 persons per square mile or is smaller than 225 square miles.

The credit is equal to:

- $2,000 for each new qualified employment position with wages and benefits below $40,000.
- $4,000 for each new qualified employment position with wages and benefits above $40,000.

The total statewide credit cap is $7.5 million per fiscal year.

Purpose

Encourages businesses to expand in rural counties.

82.70.020 - Commute trip reduction credit

Description

Employers who provide financial incentives for their own or other employees to participate in commute trip reduction programs may take a credit against B&O or PU tax. The credit for an employer is:

- Equal to one-half of the employer's expenditure.
- Limited to $60 per employee per year.
- Limited to $100,000 each fiscal year.

The program has an annual cap of $2.75 million for both B&O and PU tax credits, and currently expires July 1, 2024. No person may claim tax credits after June 30, 2024.

82.12.024 - Deferral for direct service industries (DSIs)

Description

This statute allows a deferral of the tax on brokered natural and manufactured gas for direct service industrial customers (DSIs) that construct a new gas turbine power plant. DSIs are large industrial manufacturers that purchase power directly from the Bonneville Power Administration (BPA). This deferral does not require the amount of this tax to be repaid if the DSI continues generating electricity from the gas turbine for a minimum of five calendar years and the DSI's average employment levels have not dropped below the six-year average level.

Purpose

To encourage DSIs to build their own gas-powered electric generating facilities to avoid having to curtail production in the event of electricity supply issues stemming from the BPA.

Chapter 5
Cigarette, Tobacco, and Vapor Products Tax

43.06.510; 43.06.515 - Vapor products covered by tribal contracts

Description

The vapor product tax and state and local sales and use taxes do not apply to Indian tribes with vapor product tax contracts with the state of Washington. This is because each contract adopted must have a tribal vapor product tax equal to the state vapor product tax and state and local sales and use taxes.

Purpose

To prevent redundant taxation of vapor products in Indian country.

82.24.260(1)(b); 82.24.290 - Cigarettes for military personnel

Description

The cigarette tax does not apply to cigarettes sold to the U.S. Veterans' Administration, to branches of the U.S. armed forces at exchanges, commissaries, or ships' stores; or to authorized purchasers from these federal instrumentalities. Also, a federal instrumentality selling unstamped cigarettes to authorized military personnel is exempt from cigarette tax.

Purpose

Federal legislation, the Buck Act (4 U.S.C.§ 107), implicitly prohibits states from imposing a cigarette tax upon military members and their dependents.

82.24.260(1)(c) - Cigarette allotment for Tribes

Description

Certain quantities of untaxed cigarettes are allowed tax-free for consumption by tribal members on the reservations in Washington. The number of untaxed cigarettes is based on the number of enrolled tribal members living on the reservation and the national average per capita consumption rate.

Note: The use of cigarette allotments has largely been replaced by contracts between Washington and many Indian tribes regarding the regulation and taxation of cigarettes in Indian country.

An Indian tribal organization selling unstamped cigarettes to enrolled members of that same tribe is exempt from cigarette tax.

Purpose

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that states do not have the authority to impose a cigarette tax on enrolled tribal members living on their reservations.

82.24.295(1) - Cigarettes covered by tribal contracts

Description

The cigarette tax does not apply to the sale, use, consumption, handling, possession, or distribution of cigarettes by an Indian retailer if its tribe has a cigarette tax contract with the state of Washington.

Purpose

To provide consistency in the regulation and taxation of cigarettes in Indian country. Also, it promotes economic development, provides needed revenues for tribal governments, and enhances enforcement of the state's cigarette tax, ultimately saving the state money and reducing conflict.

82.25.025 - Constitutional or Federal prohibition on vapor products

Description

Vapor products tax does not apply to any vapor products which, under the U.S. Constitution and laws, may not be made the subject of taxation by the state of Washington.

The vapor products tax is based on the volume of the solution, as listed by the manufacturer. The tax rates are as follows:

- Any accessible container of solution, regardless of nicotine content, that is greater than five milliliters (mL) is taxed at 9 cents per mL.
- All other vapor products are taxed at 27 cents per mL.

"Vapor product" is any non-combustible product containing a solution or other consumable substance, regardless of whether it contains nicotine, which employs a mechanical heating element, battery, or electronic circuit regardless of shape or size that can be used to produce vapor from the solution or other substance, including an electronic cigarette, electronic cigar, electronic cigarillo, electronic pipe, or similar product or device. The term also includes any cartridge or other container of liquid nicotine, solution, or other consumable substance, regardless of whether it contains nicotine, that is intended to be used with or in a device that can be used to deliver aerosolized or vaporized nicotine to a person inhaling from the device and is sold for such purpose.

"Accessible container" is a container that is intended to be opened. The term does not mean a closed cartridge or closed container that is not intended to be opened, such as a disposable e-cigarette.

Purpose

To recognize that applying vapor products tax to such sales is prohibited.

82.26.040 - Constitutional or Federal prohibition on tobacco products

Description

The tobacco products tax does not apply to any tobacco products (cigars, pipe tobacco, etc.), which the U.S. Constitution or federal law provides the state may not tax. The Buck Act (4 U.S.C. § 107) prohibits state taxation of tobacco products sold to branches of the U.S. armed forces at exchanges, commissaries, or ship's stores or sales to authorized purchasers at these facilities. Also exempt are sales to and by the U.S. Veterans Administration. Washington has codified its acceptance of the provisions of the Buck Act.

82.26.110 - Tobacco products sold out of state or to Indian Tribes

Description

In-state wholesalers of tobacco products can obtain a tax credit for sales to tribal and federal organizations.

Purpose

Historically, the department has not required wholesalers to collect and remit other tobacco products tax on sales to tribal and federal organizations. Still, the treatment of these sales was not straightforward. This statute codified existing practice in response to statutory changes and previously settled lawsuits.

Chapter 6
Enhanced Food Fish Tax

82.27.010(1) - Tuna, mackerel, and jack

Description

Tuna, mackerel, and jack fish are exempt from the enhanced food fish tax.

Estate Tax

83.100.020(1) - Estate tax threshold

Description

Through calendar year 2013, $2 million is excluded from the value of an estate in determining the amount of estate tax, if any. Legislation passed in 2013 that annually adjusts the exclusion amount. The adjustment is determined using the Seattle-Tacoma-Bremerton metropolitan area consumer price index. The exclusion amount for estates of decedents dying in calendar year 2022 is $2,193,000.

83.100.048 - Family-Owned Business Interest

Description

Qualified family-owned business interests may be deducted from the taxable estate if certain conditions are met, including:

- The value of the qualified family-owned business interests exceeds 50% of the Washington taxable estate determined without regard to the deduction for the applicable exclusion amount.
- The decedent must have been a citizen of the U.S. and a qualified family-owned business acquired by any qualified hair.
- The value of the qualified family-owned business interests is not more than $6 million.
- During the eight years ending on the date of the decedent's death, there have been five or more years of material participation related to the operation of the business.

The deduction is limited to $2.5 million and applies only to decedents dying on or after January 1, 2014.

Purpose

82.38.080 - Other special fuel tax exemptions

Description

The sales of special fuel (i.e., fuel other than gasoline) to publicly or privately owned urban transportation systems are generally exempt from the special fuel tax.

Additionally, sales of fuel for the following uses are exempt from the special fuel tax:

- Street and highway construction and maintenance in state, county, or municipality-owned and operated motor vehicles.
- Publicly owned firefighting equipment.
- Vehicles not designed or used primarily for transporting people or property.
- Certain motor vehicle power take-off equipment.
- U.S. government-owned motor vehicles.
- Heating purposes.
- Moving between two pieces of private property a motor vehicle on a public highway.
- Transportation services for persons with special needs by a private nonprofit transportation provider.
- Equipment such as mixing units or refrigeration units powered by motors separate from vehicle fuel tanks.
- Operation of a motor vehicle as a part of a logging operation upon a federal highway within a federal area if the vehicle's use of the highway is subject to a fee related to federal roads or highways.
- Waste vegetable oil used to manufacture biodiesel.

The removal or entry of special fuel is exempt from special fuel tax if the fuel is dyed special fuel; if the persons involved are licensed; or if it is shipped to a point outside Washington.

Purpose

To recognize that some fuels suitable for propelling motor vehicles are also put to other uses and to support governmental entities and public transportation.

82.38.180(1)(d,e); 82.38.180(2)(d) - Lost or destroyed fuel

Description

The motor vehicle and special fuel taxes may be refunded for taxes paid on fuel lost or destroyed through fire, lightning, flood, windstorm, or explosion. A tax refund is also available for losses of 500 gallons or more through leakage or other casualty except evaporation, shrinkage, or other unknown causes.

A refund may be requested for special fuel taxes paid on fuel inadvertently mixed with dyed special fuel.

Purpose

To impose fuel tax only on fuel used on Washington's public highways.

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- Annual refinery utilization and capacity for Washington is approximately 25% of the total capacity in the Pacific Region, and it will represent the taxable petroleum product volume.
- Non-volumetric products are 5% of volumetric revenue.
- Electric vehicle registration growth would proportionately decrease the gasoline volume consumption.
- The likelihood of successive taxation exposure is expressed in terms of multiplier(s) to the currently reported taxable amount, and it is based on the supply chain where businesses are involved.
- Refineries and other manufacturers, at the beginning of the supply chain, would be subject to a maximum successive taxation, with a multiplier of 1.5.
- Brokers and intermediaries, at the middle of the supply chain, would be subject to moderate successive taxation, with a multiplier of 1.
- At the end of the supply chain, most retailers would be subject to minimal successive taxation, with a multiplier of 0.3.

82.21.040(3) - Minimal amount of hazardous substance

Description

Possession of a minimal amount of a hazardous substance (as determined by the Department of Ecology) by a retailer to make sales to consumers is exempt from the hazardous substance tax. This exemption does not apply to pesticides or petroleum products.

Purpose

To avoid the administrative burden of collecting taxes on many taxpayers for minimal amounts. The administrative burden would be on the collecting agency and businesses that would have to report small amounts of tax.

82.21.050(1) - Fuel exported in fuel tanks

Description

Hazardous substance tax previously paid on fuel carried from this state in the fuel tank of any airplane, ship, truck, or other vehicle is eligible for a credit against the hazardous substance tax.

Purpose

The credit avoids taxing fuel used outside of Washington. The purpose of the hazardous substance tax is to use its receipts to clean up hazardous substance sites within Washington, and fuel consumed primarily outside the state is unlikely to contribute to such sites.

48.14.0201(6)(d) - Participant contributions

Description

Participant contributions by employers participating in a self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangement (MEWA) preempted from state taxation via the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA), as amended, 29 U.S.C. Sec 1001, would be exempt from Washington's insurance premiums tax. However, the U.S. Department of Labor has determined since 2005, via Advisory Opinion 2005-18A, that ERISA does not preempt Washington from assessing its premium tax on MEWAs.

This exemption was intended to apply if either the U.S. Department of Labor issued an advisory opinion or a federal court issued a declaratory ruling, finding that ERISA preempted specific categories of MEWAs from the state's premium tax solely due to the entity being a MEWA.

Purpose

To exempt participant contributions to MEWAs from premium tax if the U.S. Department of Labor or a federal court finds that ERISA preempts states from subjecting specific categories of MEWAs to state taxation.

48.14.022 - Health insurance by Washington State Pool

Description

Carriers that receive premiums and prepayments from plan enrollees for health coverage provided under the Washington State Health Insurance Pool under Chapter 48.41 RCW are exempt from insurance premiums tax on those amounts. In addition, carriers, healthcare service contractors, and HMOs may deduct assessments paid to the Washington State Health Insurance Pool from their taxable premiums. Any unused portion of the deduction can be carried forward and used in successive years until the deduction is exhausted.

Purpose

To reduce the cost of providing health insurance to persons otherwise unable to obtain coverage because they may be considered high risk.

82.29A.130(5) - Public employee housing

Description

All leasehold interests used as the employee's residence, when the terms require public employees of their employment to live in a publicly owned property (e.g. at state parks), are exempt from leasehold excise tax.

Purpose

This exemption supports the legislative policy to not tax the government. Also, the tax would in essence reduce employee compensation or increase government costs.

82.29A.130(6-7) - Indian trust lands

Description

All leasehold interests in Indian lands by any Indian or Indian tribe for property held in trust by the U.S. are exempt from the leasehold excise tax. Leases by non-Indians are exempt when the contract rent paid is greater than or equal to 90% of fair market rental value.

Purpose

Federal law prohibits the taxation of trust lands of enrolled Indians.

82.29A.130(14) - Professional baseball stadium

Description

All leasehold interests in the public or entertainment areas of a professional baseball stadium located in a county with a population of over one million (e.g. King County) are exempt from the leasehold tax. The baseball stadium must have natural turf, a retractable roof or canopy, a seating capacity of at least 40,000, and constructed after January 1, 1995, to be eligible for the exemption. The exemption does not extend to nonpublic areas of the stadium such as locker rooms and private offices used exclusively by the lessee.

Purpose

To encourage constructing and operating a baseball stadium, e.g., T-Mobile Park in King County.

82.29A.130(23) - Public or entertainment areas of an arena

Description

All leasehold interests in the public or entertainment areas of an arena located in a city with a population over 100,000 and located on city-owned land are exempt from the leasehold tax. The arena must have a seating capacity of at least 4,000 and the funds used for constructing improvements to the arena were 100% the responsibility of private entities and not reimbursed by the public owner. The exemption also extends to office areas of the arena used predominantly by the lessee.

82.29A.132 - Second Narrows bridge

Description

All leasehold interests in the state route 16 corridor transportation systems and facilities constructed and operated are exempt from leasehold excise tax. This includes the second bridge over Puget Sound at the Tacoma Narrows and its approaches.

Purpose

This exemption was predicated upon the assumption that upon completion of the bridge, the state would lease the bridge to the private entity that constructed the facility to operate and maintain it for the term of the lease. This statute exempted such a lease from leasehold excise tax. However, the ownership arrangements have since changed and no lease of the facility is contemplated.

Chapter 14
Oil Spill Tax

82.23B.030 - Secondary transportation

Description

Successive receipt or transportation of crude oil or petroleum products is exempt from the oil spill tax after the initial receipt of the same products at a marine or bulk terminal from a vessel or barge, rail tank car, or pipeline.

Purpose

This exemption restricts the tax to the initial off-loading of crude oil or petroleum products in Washington.

Taxpayer savings

($ in millions):

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 |

Repeal of exemption

Repealing this exemption would not increase revenues due to the likelihood the successive receipt or transportation scenario would not occur.

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 |

Assumptions

For this exemption to be applicable, oil would have to be off-loaded in Washington from a vessel, rail tank car, or pipeline, then reloaded onto another vessel, rail tank car, or pipeline, before being off-loaded a second time in the state. It is assumed this scenario does not happen.

67.16.105(2) - Differential parimutuel tax rates

Description

The pari-mutuel tax on gross receipts of betting machines at licensed horse races features two tax rates depending on the total wagering receipts at the particular track for the previous year:

- If receipts were greater than $50 million, the tax rate is 1.3%.
- If receipts were $50 million or less, the tax rate is 1.803%.

Purpose

The higher 1.803% pari-mutuel rate category for smaller racetracks is attributable to a proposed new track in 2002. The anticipated revenues at the existing 1.3% rate did not generate sufficient funds to cover the state's cost of supervision, therefore, the higher tax rate was added to the statute. This track was never constructed, and currently, the only racetrack in operation pays the original 1.3% rate.

Chapter 16
Petroleum Products Tax

82.23A.010(1) - Crude oil excluded

Description

The definition of petroleum products includes a variety of products derived from refining crude oil but excludes crude oil itself and liquefiable gases. This definition expires on July 1, 2030.

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- The average price of crude oil is equivalent to the forecast for the refiners' acquisition price for crude oil reflected in the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council's March 2023 forecast.
- The price change of crude oil over time is a proxy for the price change of various other petroleum-based products.
- The petroleum products tax will be suspended in July 2025. It is expected to be reactivated in April 2026, and remain on through fiscal year 2027 before being suspended at the beginning of fiscal year 2028 for the next two quarters.

82.23A.030(7) - Packaged petroleum products

Description

Petroleum products packaged for sale to ultimate consumers are exempt from the petroleum products tax. This exemption expires on July 1, 2030.

Purpose

The tax aims to generate funds to provide adequate insurance and funding for programs to clean up discharges from leaking underground petroleum storage tanks. Presumably, packaged products do not have the potential to cause pollution.

82.23A.040(1) - Petroleum exported in fuel tanks

Description

A credit may be claimed against the petroleum products tax for fuel exported from the state in the fuel tank of any vehicle, including airplanes, ships, or trucks. This credit expires on July 1, 2030.

Purpose

To tax the first use of the products in Washington which have the potential to cause environmental damage. This credit presumes the environmental risk reduces significantly after depositing the fuel in the vehicle fuel tank.

82.23A.040(2) - Taxes paid in other states

Description

Taxpayers may claim a credit against the petroleum products tax for any similar tax paid upon the same product in other states. To qualify for the credit, such tax (1) must be imposed upon the wholesale value of the petroleum products and not constitute an income or value-added tax, and (2) must be a tax specifically directed at petroleum products rather than a general tax. This credit expires on July 1, 2030.

Chapter 17
Property Tax

Property Tax Exemptions – General Information

Property taxation

Washington taxes all property unless the law specifically exempts the property. County treasurers collect property taxes for all taxing districts on a calendar year basis. Property taxes include:

- State property taxes, which help fund public schools.
- Local property taxes, which fund services and programs provided by counties, cities, and various districts, such as fire, school, and library.

The assessed value of real and personal property is public information. Estimates relying only on public information will show an impact even if fewer than three taxpayers are using an exemption. However, the department cannot release confidential income data and personal property asset lists. Estimates using confidential income data or asset lists with fewer than three taxpayers are confidential and will have a "CTI" for the impact.

Maximum tax rates

The law sets maximum tax rates for state and local property taxes, but usually, the taxing district's budget creates limitations on total property taxes. For this reason, Washington's property tax system is a budget-based property tax system for both state and local property taxes. Under a budget-based system, a property tax exemption shifts the tax to other property owners.

County assessors spread property taxes across the taxable property in the district based on the total value of taxable property in the district. This establishes the taxing district's property tax rate. However, taxing districts overlap, so the law also limits an area's total property tax rate. The assessor decreases rates in a specific order based on the total rate for a given area.

Tax shifts

Exempting property from taxes results in a tax shift because the total property value in a district decreases by the value of the exempted property. This causes the property tax rate to increase when the assessor spreads the taxes across the remaining taxable property in a district. While the exempt taxpayer now pays no property taxes, the taxes shift to other taxpayers who pay more due to the increase in the rate. However, when the rate increases, it can hit the district's maximum allowable rate or the area's maximum allowable property tax rate. This results in a tax loss to the taxing districts because the rate cannot increase beyond the rate limitations.

When the Legislature repeals a property tax exemption, the total taxable property value increases, causing the property tax rate to decrease. This shifts taxes back to the exempt property owner, causing other taxpayers to pay less. If rate limitations reduced the rate prior to the removal of the exemption, repealing the property tax exemption may increase taxing district revenues.

Taxpayer Savings

Taxpayer savings, as shown in this report, represent the amount a taxpayer receiving an exemption saves by being exempt from the tax. Under a budget-based system, these taxes shift to other taxpayers; therefore, the taxpayer savings do not equal the revenue gain from a repeal of the exemption.

Assumptions

The property tax exemptions analyzed in this report use the following assumptions unless otherwise noted:

- The Economic and Revenue Forecast Council forecasts state property taxes to remain below the maximum tax rate. So, a repeal of a property tax exemption shifts state property taxes to exempt property owners and results in no potential revenue gain.

- Analyses of local property taxes show that with a repeal of a property tax exemption, 90% of local taxes would shift to exempt property owners, and 10% of local taxes would increase revenues for local taxing districts.

- Unless otherwise stated, the total value exempted grows at the same rate as the statewide market value as forecasted by the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council in the March 2023 forecast.

- Based on five years of state property tax collections, 52.36% occur in April, and 47.64% occur in October. When converting from calendar year to fiscal year, estimates assume taxpayer savings and potential revenue gains follow this trend.

- For local potential revenue gains, the Legislature repeals the property tax exemption beginning with property taxes due for calendar year 2025, so the estimated local potential revenue gains for fiscal year 2025 include only the increase in April 2025 collections.

35.21.755 - Public corporations

Description

Public corporations, commissions, and authorities must pay an in-lieu excise tax equal to what the property tax would be if a private owner owned the property.

Certain properties are exempt from this in-lieu tax including property:

- Located in a special review district established prior to January 1, 1976.
- Listed on a federal or state register of historical sites.
- Used primarily for low-income housing, as a convention center, performing arts center, public assembly hall, public meeting place, public esplanade, street, public way, public open space, park, public utility corridor, or public view corridor.
- Considered blighted property acquired by a public corporation for remediation purposes.
- Used for transit purposes by a regional transit authority.

Certain historical properties are exempt from leasehold excise taxes.

Purpose

Supports social benefits provided by community resources and encourages owners to retain historical property.

84.14.020 - Multi-unit urban housing

Description

Real property associated with the construction, conversion or rehabilitation of qualified, multi-unit residential structures located in targeted residential areas contained within an urban center or urban growth area are exempt from property tax for up to 8, 12, or 20 years, depending on qualifications. Cities with a population of 5,000 or more are eligible to establish the target areas; smaller cities may participate if they are the largest city or town located in a county that is required to plan under the Growth Management Act. Or, until December 31, 2026, in any city where certain minimum building density requirements are met.

For properties that received and satisfied the conditions of an 8- or 12-year exemption may qualify for an extension for an additional 12 years, following the initial exemption period.

The value of the land and any improvements constructed prior to the submission of the exemption application are not exempt.

At the conclusion of the exemption period, the value of the new housing construction, conversion, or rehabilitation improvements must be considered as new construction as though the property was not exempt under this chapter.

Purpose

Encourages the development of multiple-unit housing including creating additional affordable housing, encouraging urban development and density, increasing market rate workforce housing, developing permanently affordable housing opportunities, promoting economic investment and recovery, and creating family-wage jobs.

Taxpayer savings

| Local Taxes | $99.865 | $105.454 | $111.367 | $117.623 |

Repeal of exemption

Under a budget-based system, repealing a property tax exemption would normally not increase revenue. The repeal would just shift the property tax to the currently exempt taxpayers. However, portions of the currently exempt value were never added to the property tax roll. If this exemption was repealed, the value not yet added to the property tax roll would be added as new construction thereby increasing revenue. Any exempt value already added to the property tax roll would result in a shift of property taxes to the property owners currently receiving this exemption.

- Repealing this exemption shifts an estimated $36.6 million in state property taxes to exempt property owners and shifts an estimated $105.3 million in local property taxes in fiscal year 2026.
- Assessors would add a portion of the currently exempt property to the tax roll as new construction, adding to the levy capacity for both state and local property tax levies. The amount of value added to the tax roll is unknown and therefore the revenue gains are indeterminate and excluded from these estimates.

Description

Real property associated with the construction, conversion or rehabilitation of qualified, multi-unit residential structures may be exempt from property tax for 20 years. For the property to qualify for the exemption, at least 25% of the units must be sold to a qualified nonprofit or local government partner that will assure permanent affordable homeownership. The remaining 75% of units may be rented or sold at market rates. # 84.25.040 - Targeted urban industrial or manufacturing new construction

Description

The new construction value of qualifying industrial or manufacturing facilities is exempt from certain levies. This exemption does not apply to the state property tax levy. It only applies to county property taxes with the approval of the governing body of that county. The exemption is valid for 10 years and no new application may be made after December 31, 2030.

At the conclusion of the exemption period, the new industrial/manufacturing facilities cost must be considered as new construction for the purposes of levy calculations.

84.33.140 - Forest land, statutory values

Description

This law provides a statutory formula to calculate the taxable value for forest lands as bare timber land without considering the highest and best use of the land or the standing timber.

Purpose

Encourages the retention of private land in timber production and provides uniformity in the valuation of forest land.

Taxpayer savings

| Local Taxes | $34.509 | $35.952 | $37.461 | $39.029 |

Repeal of exemption

Repealing a property tax exemption would not increase state revenues. The repeal shifts the state property tax to the currently exempt taxpayers and reduces the tax burden of other taxpayers. The repeal may decrease the local rate. Local taxing districts at their statutory maximum may experience a revenue increase.

84.33.140(13,14) - Forest land compensating tax

Description

When removing forest land from the designated forest land program, landowners must pay a compensating tax due to the lower land valuations associated with this program. This statute waives the compensating tax for removing forest land in the following situations:

- Transferring the land to a government entity in exchange for other forest land in Washington.
- Taking the land through eminent domain or threat of eminent domain.
- Donating the title, development rights, or right to harvest to a government agency or organization.
- Selling or transferring the land to a government entity or nonprofit nature conservancy for conservation purposes, such as state natural area preserve purposes.
- Transferring the land to the parks and recreation commission.
- Official action by a Washington state agency or the county or city in which the land is located that disallows the present use of the land,
- Creating or transferring a forestry riparian easement.
- Creating or transferring a conservation easement of private forest lands within a migration zone or containing critical habitat for threatened or endangered species.
- Transferring the land within two years of the death of the owner of at least 50% interest in the land and if the land was classified continuously since 1993.
- Discovering that the land designation is in error through no fault of the owner.

This statute also waives the compensating tax for removing forest land from the designated forest land program in a county with a population of more than 600,000 or in a county with a population of at least 245,000 that borders Puget Sound if the land transfers to a government entity or nonprofit historic preservation or nature conservancy organization. The organization must use the land to protect or enhance public resources, or preserve, maintain, improve, restore, limit the future use of, or otherwise conserve for public use or enjoyment.

Purpose

Encourages land transfers for conservation purposes and avoids penalizing owners for events that occur outside of their control under certain circumstances.

84.33.140(15) - Designated forest land removal due to natural disaster

Description

The compensating tax authorized in this section may not be imposed on land removed from designation as forestland solely as a result of a natural disaster such as a flood, windstorm, earthquake, wildfire, or other such calamity rather than by virtue of the act of the landowner changing the use of the property.

Purpose

Provides economic relief to property owners when their real property has been removed from designation as forestland due to a natural disaster.

84.33.210(1) - Forest land special assessments

Description

Special benefit assessments do not apply to designated forest lands. This exemption applies to assessments by local improvement districts that may include forest land, as well as special benefit assessments for projects such as sewer systems, domestic water supply and road improvements. Neither local jurisdictions nor improvement districts are obligated to provide these services to the exempt forest land. However, the landowner may waive the exemption, pay the assessment, and receive the services.

Purpose

To exclude designated forest land from special benefit assessments. To reduce the obligation of local jurisdictions and improvement districts to provide services to exempt forest land.

84.34.060 - Open space land, current use

Description

Open space land and timber land in the current use program are valued based only on the use of the property and does not include potential uses of the property. Open space land in the current use program is valued using either a public benefit rating system (PBRS) no lower than the lowest per acre value of farm and agricultural land in the county if a PBRS does not exist. Timber land in the current use program is valued in the same way as designated forest land, using land grades and operability classes.

Purpose

Encourages the owners of open space and timber lands to keep the property in its natural state by valuing the land as it is currently being used rather than its highest and best use.

84.34.065 - Farm lands, current use

Description

Productive capacity determines the taxable value of farm and agricultural land in the current use program. Productive capacity is defined as the net cash rental capitalized at a rate of interest charged on a farm mortgage plus a component for property taxes. While market value based on highest and best use determines the taxable value of most other property, farm and agricultural land has a reduced taxable value in Washington.

The current use value of the land where the farm owner or employees reside is based on the prior year's average value of farm and agricultural land in the current use program for the county plus the value of land improvements that serve the residence.

Purpose

Encourages owners of farm and agricultural land to continue using the land for agricultural purposes.

84.34.108(6) - Open space land classification removal - additional tax, interest, and penalty

Description

Landowners pay additional tax when removing land from the current use program to reimburse the county for past taxes lost due to the low land value associated with the program. This statute waives the additional tax for removing land from current use in the following situations:

- Transferring to a government entity in exchange for other land in Washington.
- Taking the land through eminent domain.
- Natural disaster- flood, windstorm, earthquake, wildfire, or other such calamity- changing the use of the property.
- Official action by a Washington agency or the county or city in which the land is located that disallows the present use of the land.
- Transferring to a church.
- Transferring to a government agency or organization in order to conserve the land for future use.
- Removing land classified as farm and agricultural land that houses farm employees or the principal residence of the farmer.
- Removing land if a new statute qualifies it for exemption.
- Creating or transferring a forestry riparian easement.
- Creating or transferring a conservation easement of private forest lands within a migration zone or containing critical habitat for threatened or endangered species.
- Selling the land within two years of the death of the owner if the land was classified as timber land continuously since 1993.
- Discovering that the land designation is in error through no fault of the owner.

Purpose

Avoids penalizing landowners in the current use program for a change in use under certain circumstances, with the exception of an error through no fault of the owner, change in uses compatible with the purpose of the current use program, or where the property becomes fully exempt upon transfer to a church or upon qualifying under a new exemption.

84.36.010(1) - Second Narrows bridge

Description

A property tax exemption is provided for state route 16 corridor transportation systems and facilities constructed.

Purpose

This exemption is intended to exempt any private property used in conjunction with construction and operation of the second Narrows bridge in Pierce County which will span Puget Sound. When adopted, the exemption was predicated upon the assumption that the bridge would be built with private funding until construction was complete and subsequently deeded to the state. This exemption was therefore intended to lower the overall cost of the project to enhance the likelihood of private investors funding the cost of construction.

84.36.010(1) - County government

Description

Real and personal property owned by county government is exempt from property taxation.

Purpose

Property of a county government is exempt under the Washington Constitution. This reflects a long-standing legislative policy not to tax publicly owned property.

Taxpayer savings

($ in millions):

| | FY 2024 | FY 2025 | FY 2026 | FY 2027 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| State Taxes | $198.147 | $200.210 | $202.300 | $204.431 |
| Local Taxes | $586.097 | $610.606 | $636.245 | $662.878 |

Repeal of exemption

Repealing a property tax exemption would not increase state revenues. A repeal shifts the state property tax to the currently exempt taxpayers and reduces the tax burden of other taxpayers. It may decrease the local rate and possibly result in local taxing districts at their statutory maximum rate experiencing a revenue increase. A repeal of this exemption would require an amendment to Article VII of the Washington State Constitution.

Potential revenue gains from full repeal

($ in millions):

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $17.784 | $34.596 | $35.820 |

Assumptions

- The total estimated exempt value is $91.8 billion.
- This repeal takes effect beginning with property taxes due for calendar year 2025.
- Repealing this exemption results in a state levy shift of an estimated $209.2 million and a local levy shift of an estimated $601.7 million in fiscal year 2026.
- If this exemption is repealed the state constitution will also be amended.
- The value of county government facilities per general employee is the same as the state's facility value per general employee.
- Dirt roads make up a large share of county road miles, so the value of county roads per mile is half the value of state-owned roads per mile.
- Of county and municipal timber and forest land, 95% is owned by the county and 5% by cities and towns.

84.36.010(1) - Federal government

Description

Real and personal property owned by the federal government is exempt from property taxation.

Purpose

Property of the federal government is exempt under the Washington Constitution, except to the extent that Congress specifically allows such taxation, which it has rarely done. The federal government does make certain payments in lieu of property taxes, e.g., for federal forest lands.

84.36.010(1) - Tribal property - Essential government services

Description

Property belonging to any federally recognized Indian tribe is exempt from property tax if the property is used exclusively for essential government services including economic development services.

Purpose

This statute is directed toward tribal owned property which is located off the tribe's reservation. The purpose is to treat all tribes alike and to treat all property used for government services in the same manner. The governmental facilities of most tribes are sited on tribal lands which are exempt from property tax, just as the land owned by local governments is exempt. However, at least one tribe has little land held in trust and must therefore purchase non-tribal land for governmental facilities. Also, as "economic development" is recognized as an essential government service for purposes of qualifying tribally owned property for property tax exempt status and it is defined as including commercial activities, tribes that operate facilities located off the reservation must negotiate and make a payment in lieu of leasehold excise tax (PILT) and other operators of these properties are subject to leasehold excise tax (LET).

84.36.015 - Low value parcels

Description

Each parcel of real property and each personal property account that individually has an assessed value of less than $500 is exempt from property tax.

Purpose

Avoids the administrative expense of listing, valuing, and collecting property tax on very small accounts.

Taxpayer savings

($ in millions):

| | FY 2024 | FY 2025 | FY 2026 | FY 2027 |

84.36.035 - Nonprofit blood and tissue banks

Description

Real and personal property owned or leased by nonprofit organizations and used for blood banks, tissue banks, or blood and tissue banks is exempt from property tax.

Purpose

Supporting the social benefits these organizations provide.

Taxpayer savings

84.36.037 - Nonprofit public assembly halls and meeting places

Description

Property tax does not apply to real or personal property owned by a nonprofit public assembly hall or meeting place. The property must be used exclusively for public gatherings and must be available to everyone. A public assembly hall may be exempt up to one acre. Property that is mostly unimproved and used for annual community celebrations may be eligible for an exemption up to 29 acres.
The property may be used for prescribed and limited instances of pecuniary or non-exempt purposes, including use as a farmers market for up to 53 days per year. Organizations providing dance lessons, art classes, or music lessons may also use the property if the property is in a county with a population of less than 20,000. Rents from non-exempt activities must be applied to capital improvements or maintenance and operation expenses or applied to exempt purposes of the nonprofit when used as a farmers market.

84.36.041 - Nonprofit homes for the aging

Description

Real and personal property owned or leased by a nonprofit home for the aging is exempt if one of the following met:

- Residents occupy at least 50% of the dwellings.
- The federal department of housing and urban development program subsidizes the home.
- The home for the aging is financed in part by tax exempt bonds.

Property taxes do not apply if home financing is 75% tax exempt bonds and the financing requires a certain percentage of dwellings for low-income residents. The exemption lasts as long as the bonds or the requirement for low-income resident dwellings, whichever is shorter. A partial exemption applies if the home fails to qualify in its entirety. A partial exemption applies for areas jointly used by a home for the aging and a nonprofit organization that is also exempt from property taxes.

84.36.043 - Nonprofit homeless shelters

Description

Property taxes do not apply to real and personal property used by a nonprofit organization providing emergency or transitional housing for low-income homeless persons or victims of domestic violence who are homeless for personal safety reasons. An approved registered recovery residence does not require a limited length-of-stay policy. In addition, the home must:

- Register as a recovery residence with the Washington Health Care Authority.
- Involve peers in the governance of the recovery residence.
- Integrate recovery support into the daily activities.
- Maintain an environment that is home-like, promotes healthy recovery, and is free from alcohol and illicit drugs.
- Not charge more for the housing than the actual cost of operating and maintaining the housing.
- Ensure the property tax exemption benefits the nonprofit organization when the nonprofit organization is leasing the property.

84.36.070 - Intangibles

Description

Intangible personal property receives an exemption from property tax. The definition of intangible personal property includes:

- All money and credits, such as mortgages, cash, deposits, loans, and securities.
- Private personal service contracts and athletic franchises or agreements.
- Other intangible personal property including but not limited to trademarks, trade names, trade secrets, patents, copyrights, franchise agreements, customer lists, licenses and permits.

The law specifically excludes characteristics and attributes of real property (e.g., zoning, location, view, geographic features, etc.) from the definition of intangible personal property.

Purpose

Avoids the double taxation of tangible assets underlying certain intangible assets. The exemption also recognizes the administrative difficulty of locating and valuing such mobile assets.

- This repeal takes effect beginning with property taxes due for calendar year 2025.
- Growth rate mirrors the property tax growth rate reflected in the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council's March 2023 forecast.
- Repealing this exemption results in a state levy shift of an estimated $5.5 million and a local levy shift of an estimated $15.8 million in fiscal year 2026.
- The estimated value of vessels is based on vessels paying the watercraft excise tax. This excludes human powered crafts and boats under 16 feet in length. The value of human powered crafts and boats under 16 feet likely represents a small percent of the total value of vessels in the state. It is also unlikely county assessors would discover and list many of these vessels. Thus, the value of vessels paying the watercraft excise tax best represents the total value of exempted vessels.
- Repealing this exemption would results in taxpayers owing both watercraft excise tax and property tax.

- The total estimated exempt value is $184.0 million.
- This repeal takes effect beginning with property taxes due for calendar year 2025.
- Repealing this exemption shifts an estimated $112,000 in state property taxes to exempt property owners and shifts an estimated $323,000 in local property taxes in fiscal year 2026.
- County assessors do not list all sole proprietor personal property accounts of businesses owning less than $15,000. Since owners of personal property self-report, county assessors would have to discover and audit non-reporting businesses that own less than $15,000. This is a costly exercise since assessors are not required to list these accounts, and these accounts have no taxable value. Accounts currently on the rolls would become taxable the following year if this exemption is repealed. Other, currently non-reporting accounts would have a low compliance rate in the first few years after the repeal.
- The average value of personal property owned by non-reporting sole proprietors is $1,500.

84.36.210 - Public right-of-way easements

Description

Easement rights obtained by government entities over private property are exempt from property taxation. Additionally, property over which the easement permits use is exempt from general tax foreclosure, and property taxes on the sale of delinquent property. Easement refers to the legal right to cross or otherwise use land for a specific purpose. To receive the exemption, the taxpayer must have written documentation of the easement on file with the county auditor's office. However, that some jurisdictions do negotiate payments in lieu of property taxes with local taxing jurisdictions.

Purpose

Since publicly owned property is exempt from taxation, it follows that the value of easements obtained by government agencies for public purposes on privately owned land should be similarly exempt.

84.36.381 - Senior and disabled homeowners exemption

Description

An exemption from property tax applies to retired senior citizens (aged 61 or more), disabled homeowners, and veterans entitled to and receiving compensation from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs.

The income thresholds necessary to qualify in the exemption program are as follows:

- Income threshold 1 is the greater of $30,000, or 50% of the median household income for the county.
- Income threshold 2 is the greater of $35,000, or 60% of the median household income for the county.
- Income threshold 3 is the greater of $40,000, or 70% of the median household income for the county.

The valuation of qualified homeowners remains unchanged as of January 1, 1995, or January 1 of the first assessment year, the homeowner qualifies for the property tax exemption. To qualify for the valuation freeze, homeowners must have household income equal to or less than Income threshold level 1.

Income thresholds are based on a percentage of the county's median household income and adjusted every three years.

Any surviving spouse, surviving domestic partner, heir, or devisee of a person who was receiving an exemption at the time of the person's death will qualify if the surviving spouse, surviving domestic partner, heir, or devisee is 57 years of age or older and otherwise meets the requirements.

Purpose

Provide property tax relief to low-income, retired, or disabled homeowners.

84.36.480 - Nonprofit fair associations

Description

Property taxes do not apply to real and personal property owned by a nonprofit fair association eligible to receive support from the fair fund that sponsors or conducts a county fair.

The exemption also applies to nonprofit fair associations organized under the nonprofit miscellaneous and mutual corporations act, if the nonprofit purchased or acquired the majority of the property from a county or city between 1995 and 1998.

The exemption applies to properties valued at no more than $15 million. Loaning or renting the property to private concessionaires in conjunction with a fair does not nullify the exemption if the rental charges are reasonable and used for operating and maintaining the property. If any portion of the property is rented for more than 50 days during a calendar year, the rental income becomes subject to leasehold excise tax beginning January 1, 2019.

Purpose

To support county agricultural fairs.

84.36.560 - Nonprofit low-income rental housing

Description

Property tax does not apply to real and personal property owned or used by a "nonprofit entity" that provides rental housing for qualifying households, or mobile home spaces rented to qualifying households within a mobile home park, or mobile home park cooperative.

The exemption's must benefit the nonprofit entity, and at least 75% of the dwelling units must be occupied by households with incomes at or below 60% of the median income, adjusted for household size, for the county where the property is located.

If the dwelling units are occupied by less than 75% of qualifying households, the nonprofit entity may receive a partial exemption.

The housing must be insured, financed, or assisted in whole, or in part, by one or more of the following sources:

- A federal or state housing program administered by the Department of Commerce.
- A federal housing program administered by a city or county government.
- A local affordable housing property tax levy.
- Certain authorized affordable housing and homeless housing and assistance surcharges.
- Financing by the Washington State Housing Finance Commission.

Purpose

Encouraging the construction and use of housing for low-income households.

84.36.655 - Aircraft facilities, port property

Description

Facilities used to manufacture superefficient airplanes which are located on property owned by a port district are exempt from property tax. The exemption covers buildings, machinery, equipment, and other personal property owned by a lessee of port district property. The exemption expires July 1, 2040.

The exemption is not available if the manufacturer takes the B&O tax credit for property and leasehold taxes paid on property used to manufacture commercial airplanes.

Purpose

Encourages establishment of a superefficient airplane manufacturing facility in Washington. This exemption requires that such a facility would be located on port district property. As such, it addresses the personal property component of the facility as the real property is likely to be publicly owned.

84.36.680 - Renewable energy systems

Description

Qualified personal property used exclusively for the generation or storage of renewable energy is eligible for an exemption from property taxes levied for any state purpose. The exemption is available for 10 or 15 years following the date on which the facility where the property is located first becomes operational. Qualified personal property is personal property used exclusively for the generation or storage of renewable energy in a facility, the construction of which began on or after July 1, 2023. Renewable energy is energy produced by a solar or wind facility with nameplate capacity sufficient to generate at least 10 megawatts of alternating current power.

To receive this exemption the property owner must pay a renewable energy excise tax.

Purpose

To encourage renewable energy facilities to locate in Washington while supporting local governments, schools, and communities.

Taxpayer savings

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | ($0.098) | ($0.471) |

Repeal of exemption

Under a budget-based system, repealing a property tax exemption would normally not increase revenue. The repeal would just shift the property tax to the currently exempt taxpayers. However, portions of the currently exempt value were never added to the property tax roll. If this exemption was repealed, the value that was not yet added to the property tax roll would be added as new construction thereby increasing revenue. Any exempt value that was already added to the property tax roll would result in a shift of property taxes to the property owners currently receiving this exemption.

Potential revenue gains from full repeal

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | ($0.098) | ($0.471) |

- This repeal takes effect beginning with property taxes due for calendar year 2025.
- Repealing this exemption shifts an estimated $310,000 in state property taxes to exempt property owners in fiscal year 2026.
- Approximately 150 megawatts, nameplate capacity, of renewable energy will be added each year of this estimate.
- Added capacity will be an equal spilt between wind and solar.

- Approximately 200 megawatt hours of renewable energy storage will be added each year of this estimate.
- The average cost of qualifying personal property for a solar facility is approximately $1 million per megawatt of nameplate capacity in 2025 and will decrease approximately 2% per year each year of this estimate period.
- The average cost of qualifying personal property for a wind facility is approximately $1.3 million per megawatt of nameplate capacity in 2025 and will decrease approximately 2% per year each year of this estimate period.
- The average cost of qualifying personal property for a renewable energy storage facility is approximately $360,000 per megawatt hour of nameplate capacity in 2025 and will decrease approximately 2% per year each year of this estimate period.
- Because of construction time, the first facility begins production in calendar year 2026.
- Half the taxpayers will select the 10-year exemption and half will select the 15-year exemption.
- Approximately two-thirds of the exempt property would have been added to the tax roll prior to receiving the property tax exemption and approximately one-third of the exempt property would not have been added to the tax roll prior to receiving the property tax exemption. Therefore a repeal of this exemption will result in both a shift and gain in state revenue.
- Repealing this exemption shifts an estimated $310 thousand in state property taxes to exempt property owners.
- If this property tax exemption is repealed the excise tax owed in lieu property tax, will no longer be owed. Resulting in a loss of revenue to local governments and schools.

84.37.030 - Low-income homeowners tax deferral

Description

A homeowner may defer 50% of special assessments and real property taxes if the homeowner:

- Owns the house for more than five years and lived in the house as of January 1 of the year taxes are due.
- Has a combined disposable income of $57,000 or less in the calendar year prior to filing.
- Total amount deferred cannot exceed 40% of the amount of the claimant's equity value in the residence.
- Already paid half of the taxes due for the year.
- Has enough fire and casualty insurance to protect the interests of the state.

The homeowner can't defer special assessments or property taxes under the conditions and qualifications for claiming the deferral and can only defer up to 40% of his or her equity in the property. The state reimburses local taxing districts for the local property taxes deferred under this program.

Purpose

84.38.030 - Senior and disabled homeowners tax deferral

Description

A homeowner may defer 80% of special assessments and real property taxes if the homeowner:

- Meets all requirements for an exemption for the residence under the senior exemption program.
- Is 60 or older by December 31 of the deferral claim year, or is retired due to physical disability.
- Has a combined disposable income of 75% or less of the county median household income.
- Has enough fire and casualty insurance to protect the interests of the state.
- Owned, at the time of filing, the residence upon which the special assessment and/or real property taxes are imposed.
- If claiming a special assessment deferral, opted for installment payments if available.
- Any surviving spouse, surviving domestic partner, heir, or devisee of a person who was receiving a deferral at the time of the person's death qualifies if the surviving spouse or surviving domestic partner is fifty-seven years of age or older and otherwise meets these requirements.

84.39.010 - Veteran widows and widowers

Description

Widows or widowers of a veteran qualify for a property tax exemption, in the form of a grant, if they:

- Meet all requirements under the senior citizens exemption program, other than the income limits.
- Are 62 or older by December 31 of the exemption claim year or retired due to physical disability and the veteran:
  - Died from a service-related disability.
  - Was 100% disabled by the U.S. Veterans Administration for at least the last 10 years prior to the veteran's death.
  - Was a prisoner of war and rated 100% disabled for at least one year prior to the veteran's death, or died while on active duty or in active military status.

In addition, the widow or widower of a veteran must not have remarried or have a combined disposable income of more than $40,000.

The grant equals the amount of regular and special property tax levies imposed on the difference between the value of the residence that is eligible under the senior citizens exemption program and the following:

- If disposable income is less than $30,000, the first $100,000 of residential value.
- If disposable income is between $30,000 and $35,000, the first $75,000 of residential value.
- If disposable income is between $35,000 and $40,000, the first $50,000 of residential value.

Purpose

Providing property tax relief to survivors of deceased veterans.

84.40.030(3) - Growing crops

Description

The value of agricultural land on January 1 does not include growing crops for property tax purposes. This exemption does not apply to cannabis.

Purpose

The harvesting of most crops prior to January 1 prevents them from being subject to property tax. This exemption provides equal treatment for the few crops that may still be growing in the ground, principally winter wheat and fall barley.

Taxpayer savings

| Local Taxes | $0.732 | $0.752 | $0.748 | $0.756 |

Repeal of exemption

Repealing a property tax exemption would not increase state revenues. A repeal shifts the state property tax to the currently exempt taxpayers and reduces the tax burden of other taxpayers. It may decrease the local rate and possibly result in local taxing districts at their statutory maximum rate experiencing a revenue increase.

Assumptions

- The total estimated exempt value is $113 million.
- This repeal takes effect beginning with property taxes due for calendar year 2025.
- Farmers incur 40% of costs - excluding seed costs - by January 1 for crops in the ground on January 1. The value of these crops equals the market value of the finished crop less the estimated remaining cost.
- Repealing this exemption shifts an estimated $250,000 in state property taxes to exempt property owners and shifts an estimated $710,000 in local property taxes in fiscal year 2026.

84.40.037 - Prewritten computer software

Description

Computer software, except embedded software, is subject to property tax on 100% of the purchase price in the first year following purchase and on 50% of the cost in the second year. Thereafter, it is exempt from property tax.

Purpose

Recognizes the rapid obsolescence of software and the difficulty of establishing accurate depreciation schedules for the myriad of software programs. Also, it helps provide uniformity of taxation throughout the state.

84.56.020(19) - Waiver of interest and penalties for qualified taxpayers subject to foreclosure

Description

A county treasurer must provide a one-time only waiver on all outstanding interest and penalties on delinquent taxes on a property subject to foreclosure action, no earlier than 60 days prior to being three years delinquent if:

- The taxpayer meets the minimum income threshold requirement for the senior citizen and disabled persons exemption program.
- The taxpayer occupies the property as their principal place of residence.

84.56.025 - Delinquency penalty and interest waivers

Description

County treasurers must waive interest and penalties on delinquent property taxes when one of the following occurs:

- Notice was not sent to the taxpayer due to an error by the county. Interest and penalties are reinstated if the taxpayer fails to pay delinquent taxes within 30 days of receiving proper notice.
- The taxpayer fails to make one payment on their personal residence due to hardship caused by the death of their spouse.
- The taxpayer fails to make one payment on their parent's or stepparent's personal residence due to hardship caused by the death of their parent or stepparent.

County treasurers may, at their discretion, waive interest and penalties on delinquent property taxes when the taxpayer pays an erroneous amount due to an error made by the taxpayer.

84.56.335 - Mobile Homes Possessed by Landlords

Description

Property tax does not apply to a manufactured home or park model trailer worth less than $8,000 if the landlord of the manufactured home park takes ownership and submits a signed affidavit to the assessor indicating an intent to resell or rent the home and either:

- The manufactured home or park model trailer has been abandoned.
- A final judgment regarding the manufactured home or park model trailer for restitution of the premises is executes in favor of the landlord and the title transfers to the landlord.

All future taxes are the responsibility of the owner of the manufactured, mobile home or park model trailer.

Purpose

Allows manufactured home park owners to renovate and rent or sell abandoned homes without the responsibility of back property taxes, interest, and penalties owed by the previous owner.

82.16.0421 - Electricity sold to electrolyte processors

Description

Utility companies providing electricity to producers of chlor-alkali or sodium chlorate do not pay public utility tax on the electricity used to produce those compounds. The exemption expires on June 30, 2029, and does not apply to sales of electricity made after December 31, 2028.

Purpose

Supports the chemical industry which supplies the pulp and paper industry with sodium chlorate used for bleaching pulp in white paper products. Electricity is a prime raw material component in the processing of the product.

82.16.045; 82.34.060(2) - Pollution control facilities

Description

Construction of required pollution control facilities associated with approved applications received between July 30, 1967, and November 30, 1981, was exempt from sales and use taxes. If sales and use taxes were previously paid, the amount paid may be taken as a credit against B&O, public utility, or use taxes.

The total annual credit claimed is limited to 2% of the cost of the qualifying facility. The total cumulative credits allowed may not exceed 50% of the cost of the qualifying facility.

Purpose

To encourage pollution control and to compensate existing companies for the costs they incur to meet upgraded pollution standards.

82.16.046 - Second Narrows Bridge

Description

A public utility tax exemption is allowed on income derived from operation of state route 16 corridor transportation systems and facilities constructed and operated. This statute addresses the second bridge over Puget Sound at the Tacoma Narrows and exempts any tolls received by the operator of the bridge from public utility tax.

Purpose

Lower the overall cost of operating the second Narrows bridge.

Repeal of exemption

Repealing this exemption would not increase revenues. The state receives the tolls, not the business contracted to collect the tolls. Income derived from the operation of state route 16 does not fall under the public utility tax classifications.

Normally, the contractor is subject to B&O tax under the service classification on amounts paid by the state to perform this service. Thus, there is no impact on public utility tax.

82.16.0495 - Electricity sold to direct service industry (DSI)

Description

Sales of electricity from a gas turbine electrical generation facility to a direct service industrial (DSI) customer are eligible for a public utility tax credit if the facility makes such sales for at least 10 consecutive years and reduces the price of the electricity by an amount equal to the credit. The tax credit lasts for 60 months following the first qualifying sale of electricity. The DSI customer must maintain existing employment levels for at least five years to qualify. A DSI customer is an industrial customer that purchases power from the Bonneville Power Administration (BPA) for its own consumption.

Purpose

To encourage DSI customers to continue manufacturing in Washington after their power supply contracts with the BPA expire by switching to power from newly constructed power facilities.

82.16.0496(1)(a)(i) - Alternative fuel commercial vehicle tax credit

Description

A credit is allowed against either B&O or PU taxes for the purchase or lease of new or qualifying used commercial vehicles powered by a clean alternative fuel, or the conversion of vehicles to be powered by a clean alternative fuel.

The credit is equal to 75% of the incremental cost amount, which is the difference in price between the qualified vehicle's purchase price and a comparable conventionally-fueled vehicle, or the maximum credit amount for that vehicle, whichever is smaller. For leased vehicles, the credit is equal to 50% of the incremental cost amount multiplied by a lease reduction factor. For converted vehicles, the credit is $25,000 or 50% of the conversion costs, whichever is smaller. The maximum credit amount per vehicle is $25,000, $50,000, or $100,000, depending on the gross weight of the vehicle.

"Qualifying used commercial vehicle" means a vehicle with an odometer reading of less than 450,000 miles; that is less than 10 years past the original manufacturing date; is modified after the initial purchase with a U. S. environmental protection agency certified conversion that would allow the propulsion units to be principally powered by a clean alternative fuel; and is being sold for the first time after modification. Only vehicles used for commercial services or to transport commodities, merchandise, produce, refuse, freight, animals, or passengers and display a Washington license plate qualify for the credit. All commercial vehicles that provide transportation to passengers must be operated by an auto transportation company. The definition of auto transportation company is amended to include private, nonprofit transportation providers, charter party carriers, and paratransit service providers who primarily provide special needs transportation to individuals with disabilities and the elderly.

A credit is allowed for up to 50% of the cost to purchase alternative fuel vehicle infrastructure which includes tangible personal property that will become a component and installation and construction of alternative fuel vehicle infrastructure. Credit for infrastructure is limited to $2 million annually.

On September 1st of each year, any unused credits from any category, must be made available to applicants applying for credits under any other category, subject to the maximum annual credit of $6 million. The maximum total credit taken since July 15, 2015, cannot exceed $32.5 million.

Purpose

To incentivize purchasing alternative fuel commercial vehicles and infrastructure.

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 | $0.000 |

Assumptions

Although taxpayers using accrual-based accounting report this deduction and therefore, experience savings, the state would not achieve revenue gains if legislation repealed the deduction. This is because taxpayers using cash basis accounting do not use the deduction; they report the actual amount received at the time of sale. Therefore, taxpayers using accrual-based accounting would switch to cash basis accounting if legislation repealed the deduction.

82.16.055 - Cogeneration facilities and renewable resources

Description

Businesses producing energy may deduct amounts from PU tax equal to the cost of production if the energy is for consumption within Washington and produced by either:

- Cogeneration, which means the sequential generation of electrical or mechanical power and useful heat from the same primary energy source or fuel.
- Renewable energy resources.

This preference is only applicable to facilities where construction or installation was begun after June 12, 1980, and before January 1, 1990.

The department must determine which projects and amounts are eligible for the PU tax deductions after consultation with the utilities and transportation commission or governing bodies of locally regulated utilities.

82.16.130 - Renewable energy system cost recovery

Description

A light and power business may take a credit against public utility tax for amounts paid to customers as investment cost recovery incentives for qualifying renewable energy systems.

Credit claimed for amounts paid to customers may not exceed the greater of either of the following in a fiscal year:

- $250,000.
- 1.5% of the business's taxable Washington power sales generated in calendar year 2014.

The right to earn tax credits expires June 30, 2029. Credits may not be claimed after June 30, 2030.

Approved projects receive annual incentive payments for 8 years based on specific incentive rates or until cumulative payments reach 50% of total system price, whichever occurs first. Depending on the project, the annual incentive payment is limited to up to $35,000 per participant. Total incentive payments statewide may not exceed $110 million.

82.16.184 - Community solar incentive payments

Description

Beginning July 1, 2022, a light and power business is allowed a credit against PU tax equal to incentive payments made under the Community Solar Expansion Program.

Credit claimed for incentive payments made to a community solar project may not exceed the greater of either of the following in a fiscal year:

- $250,000.
- 1.5% of the business's taxable Washington power sales generated in calendar year 2014.

Participating community solar projects must seek approval from the Washington State University Extension Energy Program (WSU). The right to apply for precertification ends June 30, 2033. No certification may be issued after June 30, 2035.

Total statewide incentive payments may not exceed $100 million and are subject to the following biennial limits:

- For fiscal year 2023, $300,000.
- For each biennium beginning on or after July 1, 2023, $25 million.

The right to earn credits expires June 30, 2036. Credits cannot be claimed after June 30, 2037.

Purpose

To support production of community solar projects.

82.16.184 - Community solar incentive payments

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts the full year of collections in fiscal year 2025 due to credit based on approved projects.
- Based on historical data, five community solar program (CSP) systems between 70 and 199 kW and 4 CSP systems less than 70 kW will be certified in each fiscal year beginning in 2023 through 2033.
- Administrative costs for large CSPs are estimated at $20,000 and $10,000 for small CSPs.
- Energy storage systems will be included with the installation of each CSP system. The energy storage systems cost about 20% of the total price of the CSP system.

82.16.185 - State energy performance standard early adoption incentive program

Description

A qualifying light and power or gas distribution business (qualifying utility) is allowed a PU tax credit for both the following:

- Incentives paid to eligible owners of covered commercial buildings and multifamily residential buildings for early adoption of new energy efficiency standards.
- A portion of the qualifying utility's administrative costs.

The credit used is not to exceed the amount of PU tax due and is not refundable. The credit must be applied in the calendar year in which it is earned or within the following two calendar years.

Building owners must apply with the Department of Commerce. Once approved, building owners can receive incentive payments from participating qualifying utilities.

Purpose

Increase energy efficiency and the use of renewable fuels that reduce the amount of greenhouse gas emissions in Washington.

82.16.187 - Using alternative jet fuel

Description

Effective July 1, 2024, a PU tax credit is available to those using alternative jet fuel. The rules to apply for credits against B&O and PU taxes are the same; however, credits cannot be claimed against both PU tax and B&O tax for the same fuel purchased.

The credit equals $1 per gallon of alternative jet fuel that has at least 50% less CO2 equivalent emissions than conventional jet fuel that a business purchased in the prior calendar year for use in flights departing in Washington.

The credit amount must increase by 2 cents for each additional 1% reduction in CO2 equivalent emissions beyond 50%, not to exceed $2 per gallon.

The credit is calculated only on the portion of jet fuel considered alternative jet fuel and does not include conventional jet fuel when such fuels are blended or otherwise used in a jet fuel mixture.

The credit may be earned from the first day of the quarter immediately following the quarter when the Department of Ecology notifies the department that one or more facilities with cumulative production capacity of at least 20 million gallons of alternative jet fuel each year are operating in Washington. No credit may be earned beginning nine calendar years after the close of the calendar year in which the contingency occurs.

To claim this credit, the taxpayer must file all returns, forms, and other required information electronically with the department and complete an application for the credit. The taxpayer claiming the credit provided in this section must file a complete annual tax performance report with the department.

The department must notify those applying for the credit within 60 days of acceptance of their documentation.

This credit earned during one calendar year may be carried over and claimed against taxes incurred only for the next subsequent calendar year. The department cannot grant refunds.

Purpose

To encourage the production of alternative jet fuels in Washington.

82.16.315 - Electricity or gas sold to silicon smelters

Description

Persons who sell electricity, natural gas or manufactured gas to a silicon smelter are eligible to take a credit against public utility tax. The credit is equal to the gross income from the sale multiplied by the corresponding tax rate in effect at the time of the sale. The contract for sale of electricity or gas to the silicon smelter must specify that the price charged will be reduced by the credit amount. Resale or remarketing of the electricity or gas originally obtained by contract for the smelting process is not eligible for the credit.

This tax preference expires on July 1, 2027. If smelters do not meet the employment requirements, the tax preference will expire on January 1, 2024.

Purpose

To promote the manufacturing of silicon for use in production of photovoltaic cells for solar energy systems.

82.70.020 - Commute trip reduction credit

Description

Employers who provide financial incentives for their own or other employees to participate in commute trip reduction programs may take a credit against B&O or PU tax. The credit for an employer is:

- Equal to one-half of the employer's expenditure.
- Limited to $60 per employee per year.
- Limited to $100,000 each year.

The program has an annual cap of $2.75 million for both B&O and PU tax credits and currently expires January 1, 2024. No person may claim tax credits after June 30, 2024.

82.45.010(3)(n) - Governmental transfers

Description

Real property sold by the federal, state, or local government is not subject to state or local real estate excise tax.

Purpose

Governments are exempt from most taxes because this just transfers funds between jurisdictions. REET taxes arm's-length purchases of real estate in situations where the purchase price reflects the market price

Taxpayer savings

82.45.010(3)(p) - No change in beneficial owner

Description

Transfers of real property that are a mere change in form of ownership are exempt from the state and local real estate excise tax. Such transfers include those of a business wholly owned by the person making the transfer and his or her family members, provided there is no change in beneficial ownership as a result of the transfer.

Purpose

To allow the tax-free transfer of property to a business entity in circumstances where the transferor or transferors are closely related and receive ownership interests in the entity in the same proportion as their ownership in the real property.

82.45.190 - Second Narrows Bridge

Description

Provides a real estate excise tax exemption for the transfer of state route 16 corridor transportation systems and facilities constructed under a public-private transportation initiative.

Purpose

As originally planned, this exemption enabled the transfer of the newly constructed second bridge at the Tacoma Narrows to the private operator of the bridge without incurring real estate excise tax. More broadly, this exemption applies to any sale of transportation systems and facilities along the state route 16 corridor, including capital improvements and additions to the corridor's infrastructure, roads, bridges, equipment, park and ride lots, transit stations, transportation management systems, and other related transportation investments.

36.100.090 - Baseball stadium deferral

Description

The original construction of a public baseball stadium, owned by a public facilities district, qualifies for a sales and use taxes deferral if it:

- Has a retractable roof or canopy.
- Has natural turf.

The construction of Safeco Field (now T-Mobile Park) was completed in January 2000, and the repayments of deferred sales and use taxes were completed in 2014.

Purpose

To encourage the construction of a professional baseball stadium in King County.

Taxpayer savings

36.102.070 - Football stadium deferral

Description

Public stadium authorities are eligible to defer sales and use taxes on the construction of:

- Professional football and soccer stadiums.
- Adjacent exhibition centers.

Deferred sales tax is repayable over 10 years, starting five years after the stadium becomes operational. Qwest Field (Now Lumen Field) and its exhibition center, which qualified for the deferral, were completed in 2002. Repayment began in 2007 and was completed in 2016.

Purpose

Encourage the construction of a professional football and soccer stadium and adjacent exhibition center in Washington.

47.56.878 - State route 167 and Interstate 405 corridor deferral

Description

A person involved in the construction of a state route (SR) 167 and Interstate 405 corridor project, as defined in the statute, may apply for deferral of state and local sales and use taxes owed by that person with respect to the site preparation for, the construction of, the acquisition of any related machinery and equipment that will become a part of, and the rental of equipment for use in, the projects. The department shall issue a sales and use taxes deferral certificate to qualifying applicants for state and local sales and use taxes.

The deferred taxes will be repaid beginning in the tenth year after the date the Department of Transportation notifies the department that all projects are operationally complete.

Purpose

To provide relief for construction projects aimed at improving the connection of Interstate 405 and SR 167 to address current and future traffic demand.

82.04.050 - Personal and professional services

Description

The retail sales tax originally applied only to the sale of tangible personal property and thus, by definition, excluded services from the tax base. Since 1935, some services were added to the tax base, including services to tangible personal property (e.g., repair services) in 1939; construction in 1941; rental of tangible personal property in 1959; certain amusement and recreation activities in 1961 and 2015; and landscape maintenance, physical fitness and certain miscellaneous personal services in 1993 and 2015. Although, technically, the remaining personal and professional services are not "exempt" because they were never in the tax base, there has been some interest in the amount of revenue represented by these activities. Therefore, they are included in this report.

Purpose

The primary reasons services were excluded from retail sales tax may have included these:

- To maintain simplicity by taxing only one property class, i.e., tangible goods.
- To conform to the practice of other states at the time.
- To minimize tax administration costs by not requiring service providers to collect the tax.
- A recognition that services did not represent a substantial share of the state economy in the 1930s.

82.04.050 - Personal and professional services

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- Growth rate mirrors the sales and use taxes growth rate reflected in the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council's March 2023 forecast.
- Local revenue estimates use the statewide average local sales and use taxes rate of 2.92%.
- Under the service category "Banking - deposit account service packages and loan services," mortgage interest will be subject to sales tax.
- Currently, some satellite and cable services are already subject to sales tax. This includes services such as pay-per-view for satellite providers. Most of the potential revenue from imposing sales tax on satellite and cable would be from subscription fees for channel access.
- Due to federal laws, a local sales tax cannot be imposed on satellite television subscriptions. As a result, this estimate does not include estimates for local sales tax on satellite television subscriptions.
- Lower compliance factors applied for some industries.

82.04.050(2)(d) - Janitorial services

Description

Retail sales tax does not apply to sales of janitorial services. The statute excludes janitorial services from the definition of retail sales, making them non-retail services. Thus, a business providing janitorial services is subject to the service and other B&O tax classification of 1.5%. The customer is not subject to retail sales tax.

Janitorial services are defined as cleaning and caretaking of buildings and structures. This includes washing windows and walls, cleaning and waxing floors, and cleaning the building's rugs, drapes, and upholstery.

Purpose

To recognize that cleaning buildings does not meet the current definition of retail sale since the activity is oriented toward merely preserving structures in their present condition rather than changing the structure.

82.04.050(3)(d)(i) - Horticultural services for farmers

Description

The definition of retail sales excludes charges for horticultural services to farmers. Sales tax is not collected on services related to the cultivating vegetables, fruits, grains, field crops, ornamental horticulture, nursery products, soil preparation, crop cultivation, and harvesting services.

Purpose

To support the farmers and the agricultural industry and clarify the taxability of these activities in light of the extension of sales tax to landscaping services in 1993.

82.04.050(3)(d)(ii) - Tree trimming under power lines

Description

The definition of retail sales excludes charges for pruning, trimming, repairing, removing, and clearing trees and brush near electric transmission or distribution lines or equipment. To qualify, the work performed must be by or under the direction of an electric utility.

Purpose

To clarify the taxability of these activities in light of the extension of sales tax to landscaping services in 1993, these services are not akin to landscaping but are done out of necessity to keep power lines clear of interference from trees and brush.

82.04.050(10) - Labor and services used to construct and repair public roads

Description

The definition of retail sales excludes charges for labor and services performed on public roads and transportation facilities owned by local jurisdictions or the federal government.

A contractor for the federal government or a local jurisdiction must pay sales and use taxes on materials incorporated into the project. The exclusion does not extend to roads owned by the state. Sales and use taxes are due on 100% of road construction on state roads.

Purpose

The state cannot directly tax the federal government, but it can tax contractors who work for the federal government on the value of the materials they incorporate into the project. The impact of the sales and use taxes on materials is indirectly passed on to the federal government. The exemption for labor and services for local road construction helps reduce local jurisdictions' costs.

| Local Taxes | $30.100 | $30.300 | $31.100 | $31.600 |

Repeal of exemption

Repealing this exemption would increase revenues. Most of the impact is from local government, which would be taxed on the total contract amount.

| Local Taxes | $0.000 | $2.500 | $15.500 | $23.700 |

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts five months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- The change in tax treatment would not apply to contracts executed before January 1, 2024, except for change orders that increase the project's cost.
- As per discussions with the Department of Transportation, assume the following:
  - 20% of road construction contract dollars in existence in fiscal year 2025 will be newly created on or after January 1, 2024.
  - 50% of road construction contract dollars in existence in fiscal year 2026 will be newly created on or after January 1, 2025.
  - 75% of road construction contract dollars in existence in fiscal year 2027 will be newly created on or after January 1, 2026.
  - 100% of road construction contract dollars in existence in all fiscal years thereafter will be newly created on or after January 1, 2028.

82.04.050(10) - Labor and services used to construct and repair public roads

- This estimate only includes potential revenue from local public road construction.
- It is unknown if the state could collect sales and use taxes on federal road construction. Therefore, this estimate does not include potential revenue from construction on federal roads.
- Local revenue estimates use the statewide average local sales and use taxes rate of 2.92%.

Description

The definition of retail sales excludes sales of feed and seed used in the commercial production of any agricultural commodity. The same statute exempts feed and seed sold to landowners participating in specified federal conservation and habitat protection programs or a cooperative habitat agreement with the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife.

Purpose

To support the agricultural industry. Also, feed and seed are similar to component parts (and therefore are purchased for resale) because they are absorbed into or become an integral part of an agricultural product.

82.04.050(12) - Labor and services used to construct and repair federal government structures

Description

Charges made for labor and services in connection with building, repairing or improving new or existing structures for the federal government or a local housing authority is not subject to sales and use taxes. Also excluded are charges for moving earth and clearing land for these jurisdictions. The contractor must pay sales and use taxes on materials incorporated into these projects.

Purpose

The state cannot directly tax the federal government, but it can tax contractors who do work for the federal government on the value of the materials they incorporate into the project. # 82.04.192(3)(b)(i) - Digital automated service - primarily human effort

Description

Digital automated services are classified as retail sales and are subject to retailing B&O tax. However, digital goods that primarily represent the application of human effort and the human effort originated after the customer requested the service, such as a digitally delivered engineering report prepared primarily through the application of an engineer's effort, are excluded from this definition of digital goods and are instead subject to the service and other activities B&O tax.

This exclusion does not apply to amounts received by photographers for taking photographs transferred digitally to the customer if the customer is the end user. These payments are considered to be for the sale of digital goods and are subject to sales taxes and retailing B&O tax.

Purpose

To protect the sales and use taxes base, establish certainty in the tax code, maintain conformity with the streamlined sales and use taxes agreement, and encourage economic development.

82.04.192(3)(b)(ii) - Digital automated service - loaning or transferring money, or transferring financial instruments

Description

Digital automated services are retail sales. However, the definition of digital automated services excludes the loaning or transferring of money or the purchase, sale, or transfer of financial instruments, including cash, accounts receivable and payable, loans and notes receivable and payable, debt securities, equity securities, as well as derivative contracts such as forward contracts, swap contracts, and options. As a result, income from these activities is not subject to sales tax.

Sales tax may apply if the service is bundled with a taxable service or product offered exclusively in connection with a taxable digital product.

Assumptions

- This repeal takes effect July 1, 2024, and impacts 11 months of collections in fiscal year 2025.
- Growth rate mirrors the services B&O taxable activity growth rates reflected in the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council's March 2023, forecast.
- Local sales tax estimates use the statewide average local sales and use taxes rate of 2.92%.
- Estimate reflects the gain from repealing the sales tax exemption less the B&O change from taxpayers paying 0.471% retailing tax rate rather than the 1.75% service and other activities tax rate.
- This estimate reflects the service and other activities B&O tax amounts reported by taxpayers assigned NAICS 541214 (Payroll Services). It is possible this amount includes services which qualify for this exemption as well as unrelated amounts. It is also likely payroll processing services are performed by businesses not assigned to this NAICS code, they were not captured in this estimate.

82.04.192(3)(b)(xv) - Digital automated service - data processing

- Data for taxpayers performing check processing, image processing, survey processing, form processing, and claim processing was not able to be identified by using NAICS codes as many of these services are bundled with other activities. Taxable amounts for these services were not included in this estimate and these taxpayers were not included in the taxpayer count.

82.08.010(1)(a) - Trade-ins

Description

The definition of selling price excludes the value of trade-ins. This means sales tax is collected on the price after the value of the trade-in is deducted. To qualify, the used items must be accepted by the vendor and be of "like-kind." For example, a person purchasing a new French horn may trade in a used trombone since both are musical instruments.

Purpose

To encourage purchases of new items, especially motor vehicles.

82.08.010(1)(b) - Cash discounts

Description

The selling or sales price of a retail sale does not include cash, term, or coupon discounts taken by a purchaser and not reimbursed to the seller by a third party. These discounts are deductible from the selling or sales price when determining the amount of sales tax to collect.

Purpose

82.08.0206 - Working families' tax credit

Description

The “Working Families' Tax Credit” (WFTC) is a credit in the form of a refund of sales and use taxes provided to eligible low-income individuals. This credit is based in part on the federal Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC).

To be eligible for the credit, individuals must qualify for the ETIC or would otherwise qualify for the EITC except that they used an Individual Tax Identification Number instead of a Social Security Number on their federal income tax return.

The maximum credit amount varies depending on an individual’s income and number of qualifying children. The maximum credits are:

- $300 for eligible persons with no qualifying children.
- $600 for eligible persons with one qualifying child.
- $900 for eligible persons with two qualifying children.
- $1,200 for eligible persons with three or more qualifying children.

The minimum payment is $50, regardless of the number of qualifying children.

The credit amounts will be adjusted for inflation every year, beginning January 1, 2024, based on changes in the average consumer price index for the Seattle, Washington area for urban wage earners and clerical workers, all items, compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor.

For payments based on tax year 2022, the credit amounts are reduced, rounded to the nearest dollar as follows:

- For eligible persons with no qualifying children, beginning at $2,500 of income below the federal phase-out income for the prior year, by 12.0% per additional dollar of income until the minimum credit amount is reached.
- For eligible persons with one qualifying child, beginning at $5,000 of income below the federal phase-out income for the prior federal tax year, by 12.0% per additional dollar of income until the minimum credit amount is reached.
- For eligible persons with two qualifying children, beginning at $5,000 of income below the federal phase-out income for the prior federal tax year, by 18.0% per additional dollar of income until the minimum credit amount is reached.
- For eligible persons with three or more qualifying children, beginning at $5,000 of income below the federal phase-out income for the prior federal tax year, by 24.0% per additional dollar of income until the minimum credit amount is reached.
- The percentage reduction rates will be adjusted annually to align the WFTC maximum qualifying income with the maximum federal adjusted gross income limit for the EITC.

Purpose

To reduce the tax burden on low-income households.

82.08.0209 - Qualifying Grants – National emergency or state of emergency

Description

Certain financial assistance in the form of a grant or relief from debt provided under a government program to address the impacts of a national emergency declared by the president of the United States or state of emergency declared by the state governor is exempt from sales tax.

Purpose

To help mitigate the economic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic. Provides guidance on the taxability of any qualifying government grant or loan forgiveness program associated with a future national or state of emergency.

82.08.0251 - Casual sales

Description

For persons not otherwise engaged in business activities, the law does not require to collect sales taxes when they sell items or services meeting the definition of a retail sale to consumers. However, the buyer is not exempt from the use tax on the value of these purchases.

Purpose

To limit sales tax collections and reporting to business entities. Also, the exemption recognizes the practical problems associated with locating and registering casual sellers.

82.08.02525; 82.12.02525 - Public records copies

Description

Charges received by state or local government agencies as reimbursement for the cost of providing copies of public records are exempt from sales and use taxes.

The exemption applies to documents provided under the Public Records Act when the state or local government agency charges no fee for the record itself, other than the amount necessary to cover the actual costs of providing the document. A maximum fee of $0.15 per page applies if the agency has not determined the actual cost.

Purpose

82.08.0253; 82.12.0345; 82.08.0253(1)(b) - Newspapers

Description

The sales of newspapers sold by subscription and at newsstands are exempt from sales and use taxes.

The department's administrative rule defines a newspaper as a publication issued at regular intervals of less than two weeks, printed on newsprint in tabloid or broadsheet format, and without substantial binding.

Purpose

In 1935, taxing newspapers was viewed as inhibiting the "freedom of the press." In addition, the exemption relieved newspaper carriers (mostly youth) from being responsible for collecting and reporting the tax; however, the billing function has now largely been centralized by the publisher.

82.08.0256; 82.12.0257 - Public utility operating property

Description

The sale of operating property used in conducting a utility operation to the state or a local government entity is exempt from sales and use taxes. The exemption includes properties such as water systems and electrical substations of a public utility.

Exemption requirements include:

- The utility property must be operating as utility property before the sale, and the new owner must continue to operate the property as a utility.
- The purchaser of the operating utility property must be a state agency or political subdivision.

Purpose

This exemption addresses intergovernmental transfers of utility operations resulting from annexations or incorporations. These transfers do not result in financial gain but merely reflect a transfer of assets among jurisdictions.

82.08.02565; 82.12.02565 - Manufacturing and R&D machinery and equipment

Description

Manufacturers and processors for hire are eligible for a sales and use tax exemption on purchases of manufacturing machinery and equipment (M&E) used directly in a manufacturing operation, research and development operation, or testing operation. Charges for installing, repairing, cleaning, altering, or improving the machinery and equipment are also exempt.

Property with a useful life of less than one year, hand tools, and consumable supplies do not receive an exemption. Manufacturing, research and development (R&D), and testing operations for cannabis or cannabis related products are also not eligible for the exemption.

"Manufacturing operation" means the manufacturing of articles, substances, or commodities for sale as tangible personal property.

“Research and development” means activities performed to discover technological information, and technical and nonroutine activities concerned with translating technological information into new or improved products, processes, techniques, formulas, inventions, or software. The term includes exploration of a new use for an existing drug, device, or biological product if the new use requires separate licensing by the Federal Food and Drug Administration. The term does not include adaptation or duplication of existing products where the products are not substantially improved by the application of the technology, nor does the term include surveys and studies, social science and humanities research, market research or testing, quality control, sale promotion and service, computer software developed for internal use, and research in areas such as improved style, taste, and seasonal design.

"Research and development operation" means engaging in R&D by a manufacturer (or processor for hire for a manufacturer), who has a manufacturing operation that produces tangible personal property for sale even if the manufacturing operation could be for separate products or performed away from the R&D site.

Taxpayers are not required to manufacture items for sale to qualify for the M&E exemption in the context of a research and development operation.

Purpose

To encourage manufacturing activity to take place in Washington and create family wage jobs.

82.08.02565(1)(c)(ii); 82.12.02565 - M&E on sales of manufactured or compressed natural gas

Description

A gas distribution business that manufactures compressed or liquefied natural gas for use as transportation fuel must pay sales and use taxes on machinery and equipment purchases for use in the manufacturing process. Beginning July 1, 2017, the gas distribution business may apply for a remittance for the sales and use taxes paid on such equipment. The gas distribution business can only apply for a remittance once a quarter and the department cannot accept remittances after June 30, 2028.

82.08.025661; 82.12.025661 - Aerospace FAR Repair Stations

Description

FAR Part 145 certificated repair stations engaged in the repair of airplanes receive sales and use tax exemptions on:

- Charges for the construction of new buildings.
- Charges for tangible personal property that is incorporated as an ingredient or component of such buildings.
- Charges for labor and services rendered in respect to installing building fixtures that do not qualify for the machinery and equipment exemption.

A repair facility's construction is operationally complete when the facility can host the repair and maintenance of airplanes.

To perform work on aircraft in the United States an entity must be licensed by part 145 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR Part 145). Repair stations meeting the criteria are often called FAR Part 145 repair stations.

To be eligible for the exemptions, the eligible maintenance and repair facility must be located at a commercial services airport owned by a county with a population less than one million, or a commercial services airport jointly owned by a city and a county.

The exemption is in the form of a remittance from the department for taxes paid. The entity may request the remittance of the local sales and use tax after July 1, 2016. The sales tax exemption expires on January 1, 2031.

To qualify for the state portion of the sales and use tax exemption, the applicant must report to the Employment Security Department at least 100 average employment positions, with an average annualized wage of $80,000 for a period of four consecutive calendar quarters, beginning with the first calendar quarter after the date the facility is a issued an occupancy permit by the local permit issuing authority.

Purpose

82.08.026; 82.12.023; 82.14.030(1) - Natural and manufactured gas

Description

Natural and manufactured gas delivered through a pipeline that is subject to the special use tax on brokered gas under is exempt from sales and use taxes.

Purpose

Washington businesses that distribute natural gas are subject to public utility tax. Large industrial customers may purchase gas directly from out-of-state suppliers through brokers that are not subject to public utility tax. Starting in 1989 these large industrial customers started paying a use tax equivalent to the public utility tax. This exemption assures that these purchases are subject to the special use tax, rather than sales and use taxes.

82.08.0261(2,3) - Sale of liquefied natural gas to a business operating as a private or common carrier by water in interstate or foreign commerce

Description

Businesses operating as a private or common carrier engaged in interstate or foreign commerce by water may receive a sales tax exemption purchasing liquid natural gas (LNG).

Use taxes are due on:
- LNG consumed in Washington.
- 10% of LNG transported outside of Washington.

These exemptions expire July 1, 2028.

Purpose

Provide a lower tax rate on liquefied natural gas that is not consumed in Washington.

82.08.0263; 82.12.0254(2,3) - Interstate commerce vehicles

Description

The sale or use of motor vehicles and trailers used for transporting persons or property for hire in interstate and foreign commerce are exempt from sales and use taxes. The purchaser or user must hold a permit issued by the federal Department of Transportation.

Use tax does not apply to a vehicle used by a nonresident when the vehicle is used:
- Exclusively to transport property or persons across state boundaries.
- Less than 15 consecutive days.

82.08.0264 - Vehicles sold to nonresidents

Description

Motor vehicles, trailers, and campers sold to nonresidents for use outside the state are exempt from sales tax. Delivery may take place in Washington, provided the vehicle is:

- Taken directly out-of-state.
- Immediately licensed in the purchaser's state of residence and not used in Washington for more than three months.

Purpose

To eliminate a potential disadvantage for in-state vehicle dealers who compete against dealers in other states. Other purchases by nonresidents are subject to sales tax if delivery occurs within Washington, unless the provisions of RCW 82.08.0273 (residents of states with no or low sales taxes) apply.

82.08.0266; 82.08.02665 - Boats sold to nonresidents

Description

The sale of watercraft to nonresidents, for use outside of Washington, is exempt from sales and use taxes, even when delivered in Washington, if the craft meets one of the following:

- Is registered with the U.S. Coast Guard.
- Is registered by the state of principal use according to the Federal Boating Act of 1958.

The qualifying craft must not be used within Washington for more than 45 days.

Purpose

Allowing the buyer to take delivery in Washington without incurring sales and use taxes helps to encourage purchases by nonresidents and foreigners.

82.08.0273 - Sales to nonresidents from no or low sales tax states

Description

Nonresidents are exempt from Washington sales tax on tangible personal property purchased for use outside of Washington. The exemption is in the form of a refund for state sales tax (6.5%) only. Qualifying nonresidents must meet either the following criteria:

- They reside in a state, possession, or Canadian province which levies a sales tax of less than 3.0%.
- Their state of residence allows a similar exemption for Washington residents. Currently, no state qualifies under this provision of reciprocity.

In addition:

- A nonresident may apply for a state sales tax refund once in a calendar year for all purchases made during the prior calendar year.
- Applications would be accepted by the department only for refunds of $25 or more.
- Sales receipts, addresses of the places of purchase, and other documentation as required by the department, will need to be submitted with the application.

Purpose

To enable Washington sellers, especially along the Oregon border, to compete with merchants in other states that do not levy a sales tax or levy a sales tax with a low rate.

82.08.02745; 82.12.02685 - Farm-worker housing

Description

Purchases of goods and services used in constructing, repairing, or improving new or existing structures used as agricultural employee housing are exempt from sales and use taxes. Agricultural employers, governmental entities, nonprofit organizations, or for-profit housing providers may own housing facilities. Agricultural employee housing does not include housing regularly provided on a commercial basis to the general public. The farmworker housing exemption applies to projects when at least 50% of the housing units in the development are used for farmworker housing.

This exemption expires on January 1, 2032.

Purpose

To encourage the construction of housing facilities for agricultural employees.

82.08.0279 - Nonresidents' rental vehicles

Description

Renting or leasing motor vehicles and trailers to nonresidents for exclusive use in interstate commerce is exempt from sales tax. Nonresidents with places of business both inside and outside of Washington qualify for the exemption if the vehicle is registered and most frequently dispatched, garaged and serviced at a location outside of Washington. The exemption includes vehicles or trailers registered in a different state and have incidental use to transport persons or property between Washington locations.

Purpose

To relieve lessors of responsibility for collecting sales tax on the in-state use of rental cars, motor vehicles and trailers by a nonresident motor carrier engaged in interstate commerce and to encourage such businesses to rent or lease in Washington.

Description

Sales and use of returnable food or beverage containers are exempt from sales and use taxes. This includes items such as soft drinks, milk, and beer.

Purpose

Retailer purchases of nonreturnable food and beverage containers are exempt from sales and use taxes because the containers are sold to consumers. This exemption provides comparable treatment for returnable containers that would not otherwise qualify for the resale exemption, since the containers are not technically "sold" to the food or beverage purchaser.

82.08.0287; 82.12.0282 - Ride-sharing vehicles

Description

Sales or use of passenger motor vehicles used primarily for ridesharing or transportation of persons with special needs are exempt from sales and use taxes. The vehicles must be used as ride-sharing vehicles for 36 consecutive months beginning from the date of purchase or first use.

To qualify under ride sharing, the vehicle must be carrying three or more passengers and be operated in a county that has adopted and implemented a commute trip reduction plan, or in other counties where the vehicle is registered with or operated by a public transportation agency. Additionally, one of the following must apply:

- Vehicle is operated by a public transportation agency for the general public.
- Vehicle is used by a major employer as an element of its commute trip reduction program.
- Vehicle is owned and operated by individual employees and is registered with either the employer or a public transportation agency.

Notwithstanding the ridership requirements above, unless the vehicle is operated by a public transportation agency, the vehicle must be used for ride sharing in the transport of at least five passengers.

Purpose

To encourage ridesharing for fuel conservation purposes, to help reduce traffic congestion, and to assist in addressing the requirements of the Commute Trip Reduction Act, the Growth Management Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act, and the Clean Air Act.

82.08.0288; 82.12.0283 - Leased irrigation equipment

Description

Leases of irrigation equipment are exempt from sales and use taxes, if:

- The lessor purchased the equipment to irrigate land they control.
- The lessor paid sales or use tax on the equipment.
- The equipment is attached to the land.
- The equipment is an incidental part of the land lease.
- The equipment is not used in the production of cannabis.

Purpose

Normally, persons who lease tangible personal property pay sales tax to the lessor. However, in this instance, the owner of the land previously paid the sales tax on the equipment. For sales tax to apply at the lessee level, the original acquisition of the equipment by the lessor would be an exempt sale for resale.

82.08.0294; 82.12.0294 - Aquaculture feed

Description

Aquaculture is the process of growing, farming, or cultivating aquatic products in marine or fresh waters. Feed purchased for fish or other aquatic products for sale, raised entirely within confined rearing areas where the person has the present right of possession are exempt from sales and use taxes.

Purpose

To provide equivalent treatment with those who purchase feed for other agricultural livestock. Fish farmers purchasing feed are not subject to sales and use taxes. This recognizes aquaculture and agriculture activities as equivalent in status and treatment.

82.08.0317 - Vehicle sales to tribal members

Description

Motor vehicles purchased by a tribe or an enrolled member of a federally recognized tribe are exempt from sales tax.

In order to qualify, the buyer must provide to the seller on of the following:

- The buyer's tribal membership or citizenship card.
- The buyer's certificate of tribal enrollment.
- A letter signed by a tribal official confirming the buyer's tribal membership status.

In addition, the seller must deliver the motor vehicle to the buyer. The seller must document the delivery by completing a declaration form, attesting to the delivery location and the enrollment status of the tribal member. The seller and buyer must sign the form.

Delivery requirements do not apply if the sale is made to the tribe or tribal member in their Indian country.

"Indian country" has the same meaning as provided in 1821 U.S.C. Sec. 1151.

"Tribe" means a federally recognized tribe.

"Tribal member" means an enrolled member of a federally recognized tribe.

Purpose

To clarify the documentation and delivery requirements necessary to support tax exempt sales of motor vehicles to tribes or tribal members in their Indian country.

82.08.700; 82.12.700 - Boats sold to nonresidents - in-state use permit

Description

A sales and use taxes exemption is provided for sales to a nonresident individual of vessels at least 30 feet in length from a Washington dealer if the purchaser of the vessel purchases and displays a valid use permit. The purchaser must provide proof of their current nonresident status at the time of purchase. Additionally, the purchaser must make an irrevocable election to take the exemption authorized. The use permit issued under this statute is valid for 12 consecutive months from the date of issuance and is not renewable.

Purpose

To increase the time a vessel owned by a nonresident can remain in Washington waters, which encourages purchases of new vessels from Washington dealers and increases tourism in Washington.

82.08.816(1)(a-d); 82.12.816(1)(a-c) - Electric vehicle battery charging stations

Description

The law provides an exemption of sales and use taxes on sales of batteries, fuel cells and infrastructure for electric or hydrogen vehicles. The exemption is available on the sale of, or charge made for:

- Batteries and fuel cells for electric and hydrogen vehicles.
- Labor and services rendered in respect to installing, repairing, altering, or improving electric vehicle batteries or fuel cells for hydrogen vehicles.
- Labor and services rendered in respect to installing, constructing, repairing, or improving electric and hydrogen vehicle infrastructure.
- Tangible personal property that will become a component of electric or hydrogen vehicle infrastructure during the course of installing, constructing, repairing, or improving electric or hydrogen vehicle infrastructure.

This exemption also includes hydrogen fueling stations, green electrolytic hydrogen production facilities, and renewable hydrogen production facilities.

These exemptions expire July 1, 2025.

Purpose

82.08.816(1)(e), 82.12.816(1)(d) - Zero emissions buses

Description

Zero emission buses are exempt from sales and use taxes. Zero emission bus means a bus that emits no exhaust gas from the onboard source of power, other than water vapor.

This exemption expires July 1, 2025.

Purpose

To encourage the sale of zero emission buses.

Taxpayer savings

82.08.820; 82.12.820 - Warehouses and grain elevators more than 200,000 square feet

Description

Certain warehouses and grain elevators are eligible for an exemption in the form of a remittance of the state sales and use taxes paid on purchases of machinery and on materials and labor for construction of these facilities. The remittance does not include local sales and use taxes.

Warehouses more than 200,000 square feet in size receive an exemption equal to:

- 100% of the state sales and use taxes paid on construction.
- 50% of the state sales and use taxes paid on equipment, including materials handling and racking equipment, as well as labor and services rendered in respect to installing, repairing, cleaning, altering, or improving such equipment.

Grain elevators receive an exemption of state sales and use taxes paid based on capacity of the facility:

- 50% exemption with bushel capacity of one million, but less than two million.
- 100% exemption with bushel capacity of two million or more.

Purpose

To encourage construction of warehouses and grain elevators in Washington and to increase the competitiveness of the warehouse and distribution industry in Washington.

82.08.834; 82.12.834 - Regional Transit Authority Sales and Leasebacks

Description

Lease payments or options to purchase at the conclusion of a lease in conjunction with a sale and leaseback arrangement involving a regional transportation authority (RTA) are exempt from retail sales and use taxes. Qualification requires that the seller/lessee previously paid any tax otherwise due on the original acquisition of the tangible personal property.

Purpose

A sale and leaseback arrangement is a financing mechanism used by the RTA to acquire trains, buses, and transportation facilities. This exemption provides tax relief to the RTA.

82.08.900(1)(b); 82.12.900(2) - Anaerobic digesters for dairies

Description

Persons establishing or operating anaerobic digesters are exempt from sales and use taxes on certain purchases, including labor charges. The exemption covers installation, construction, repairs, cleaning, altering or improvements to an anaerobic digester and the equipment necessary to process the biogas into marketable coproducts.

A person claiming this exemption must keep records necessary for the department to verify eligibility and provide an exemption certificate to the seller.

Purpose

To support anaerobic digesters in order to stimulate investment in biogas capture and conditioning, compression, nutrient recovery, and use of renewable natural gas for heating, electricity generation, and transportation fuel.

82.08.950; 82.12.950 - Electricity and steam

Description

This statute specifically exempts electricity and steam from sales and use taxes.

Note: This exemption does not change the taxability of electricity and steam. The definition of tangible personal property subject to Washington sales and use taxes exclude the sale of electricity and steam. The exemption was necessary to bring Washington sales tax law into conformity with the Streamline Sales and Use Tax Agreement.

Purpose

For consistency with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement.
